Alberta University of the Arts Academic Calendar

TERRITORIAL STATEMENT

Alberta University of the Arts rests on the traditional Treaty 7 territories of the Blackfoot people and in the spirit of efforts to promote reconciliation, we acknowledge the traditional territories and oral practices of the Blackfoot Confederacy (Siksika, Pikani and Kainai), the Tsuut’ina (Sarcee), the Stoney Nakoda First Nations (Bears Paw, Chiniki and Wesley), the Métis Nation (Region 3) and all those who make their homes in the Treaty 7 region of Southern Alberta.

ABOUT THIS CALENDAR

The Academic Calendar is one of the principal sources of AUArts policy information for students, to be used in conjunction with approved policies and procedures. It contains information on admission requirements and deadlines, academic regulations, our Schools and programs of study, degree requirements and general University policies for both undergraduate and graduate students.

This Calendar describes the intentions of the University with respect to all matters contained herein. The official version of this Calendar appears on the AUArts website. The University reserves the right to amend what appears in the Calendar. The University expressly denies responsibility or liability to any person or persons who may suffer loss or who may otherwise be adversely affected by such changes.

Information contained in the 2020-2021 Academic Calendar is accurate as of June 1, 2020. Updates will be published in the Calendar Addendum in the event of errors, omissions or policy changes that impact the 2020-2021 academic year.

PRESIDENTS’ FOREWORD

Welcome to Alberta University of the Arts.

Creativity and innovation play an essential role in enriching our lives. Through its mission, AUArts is exceptionally well positioned to act as a leader in this area.

The study of art, craft and design is a search. It is an exploration of ideas, a celebration of creativity, and an understanding of what connects us to the world. It is a way of seeing, a way of thinking about the tools and materials we use, the clothing we wear, the world we inhabit. It is to reflect on the extraordinary moments as well as the ordinary ones of our daily lives, it is about understanding, enriching and educating our environment – ultimately ourselves. A life in the fields of art, craft and design is always changing, demanding and most rewarding.

As we enter our 95th year, we are so very proud that our Schools are actively engaged in graduating talented artists and designers who become innovators and leaders in their fields. Over the upcoming months, we will ignite your imagination and fuel your curiosity to go further and explore deeper.

Here you will find everything you need for a successful academic year, from the Academic Schedule and descriptions of all our programs, to our regulations and other helpful details.

I very much look forward to your passion as explore your creativity and we discover at the amazing work you will produce with us.

Sincerely,
Dr. Daniel Doz
President and CEO

Student Responsibility

By the act of registering for a course, each student at Alberta University of the Arts agrees to observe and be bound by the terms of this notice and the terms, conditions, academic standards, rules, regulations, policies and codes of behavior contained in or referenced in the Calendar. It is the student’s responsibility to be aware of the contents of the Calendar.

Students are responsible for the continuing completeness and accuracy of their academic records and for ensuring that graduation requirements of the program and major in which they are enrolled are satisfied. This requires careful attention to course selection and compliance with pre-requisite or co-requisite requirements.

Questions regarding program and major requirements should be directed to a Student Academic Advisor (undergraduate students) or Graduate Studies (graduate students). Questions regarding fees, registration or the interpretation of academic or other policies should be directed to the Registrar’s Office.

Academic Glossary

Academic Day
The academic day runs from 8:00am - 10:00pm Monday through Saturday.

Academic Terms
- Fall Term - The period of the academic year which runs from September - December.
- Winter Term - The period of the academic year that runs from January - April.
- Spring Intensive Term – The period of the academic year that runs for 2 weeks in May.
- Spring Term – The period of the academic year that runs for 6-8 weeks from May – June.
- Spring/Summer Term – The period of the academic year that runs from May – August.
- Summer Term – The period of the academic year from July - August.

Academic Year
The academic year runs from September 1 to August 31.

Antirequisite
Courses that overlap sufficiently in course content that both cannot be taken for credit.

Classification of Students
- Full-Time Students - In order to be considered full-time, a student must maintain a minimum registration of nine credits per term unless an accommodation has been made under the Alberta Human Rights Act.
- Part-Time Students - In order to be considered part-time, a student must register in less than nine credits per term. With the exception of the Visual Communications Design Major in the Bachelor of Design Program and the Master of Fine Arts, all degree programs are available for study on a part-time basis.

Course
A course is a unit of work extending through a term or session. Unless specified, courses may not be repeated for credit. Different courses can have different credit weights.

Course Code and Course Number
A course is designated by a four-letter course code and three-digit course number and a course title. The course code is an abbreviation for the course or program subject and the first digit of the course number signifies the level of the course; first year courses are numbered 1XX, second year 2XX, etc. Graduate level courses are numbered 6XX (or higher).

Course Delivery
Courses at the Alberta University of the Arts may take the form of either studio, lecture, or seminar-based instruction. With a focus on experiential learning, courses incorporate a practical experience element.

- Studio Courses - A series of studio learning opportunities to facilitate the application of techniques, concepts, theories, and practice. Activities in the class are directed by an instructor. Studio courses are offered in 4.5-hour blocks of time.
  - A 3-credit studio course represents 120 hours of instructional and study time. Typically, 58.5 hours are dedicated to instructor-led studio work with students. 4.5 hours are attributed to assessment activities, such as critiques, in the 14th week of the term. Students are expected to actively engage in 58.5 hours (~4.5 hours/week) of studio related practice work to support and enhance their capacities as a creative.
  - A 4.5-credit studio course represents 149.25 hours of instructional and study time associated with attaining advanced-level and intensive learning outcomes. Typically, 58.5 hours are dedicated to instructor-led studio work with students. 3 hours are attributed to assessment activities, such as critiques, in the 14th week of the term. Students are expected to actively engage in a minimum 87.75 hours (~6.75+ hours/week) of studio related practice work in order to meet the advanced-level, challenging outcomes of these courses.
  - A 6-credit studio course represents 243 hours of instructional and study time where extended time becomes an element in developing creative capacities. Typically, 117 hours are dedicated to instructor-led studio work with students. 9.0 hours are attributed to assessment activities, such as critiques, in the 14th week of the term. Students are expected to actively engage in an additional 117 hours (~6 hours/week) of studio related practice work to support and enhance their capacities as a creative.
- Directed Studio Courses - Directed Studio courses provide the opportunity for students to develop a course of study in a specialized field of research. Directed Studio courses allow for students to work with a particular instructor on a subject of common interest. The course of study is initiated by the student(s) and, in consultation with the instructor(s) and the School Chair. A learning contract will be developed by the student and instructor that defines the intended learning outcomes to be achieved by the student, method of course delivery, media, time limits, assessment criteria, and form of the work to be completed.
  - A 3-credit directed studio course normally represents a minimum of 120 hours of combined instruction and preparation, independent study or other out of class work.

- Lecture/Seminar Courses - A series of lessons directed by an instructor and designed to facilitate the acquisition of knowledge in various disciplines such as Visual Arts History and Theory, Humanities, Literature, Social Sciences and professionally related activities.
  - A 3-credit lecture/seminar course normally represents 39 hours of instruction and 3 hours are attributed to assessment activities, such as a final exam during the 14th week of the term. Students are expected to actively engage in an additional 78 hours (~2 hours / week) of study to support and enhance their ability to achieve the learning outcomes.

Corequisite
A course which must be taken simultaneously with another course.

Credit Weight (or Credit)
A number assigned to a course, which is a measure of the academic work and contact hours in the course. A Bachelor's degree at AUArts consists of 120 credits and courses are normally 3, 4.5 or 6 credits.

The relationship between credit hours and hours of instruction, preparation and independent study will vary dependent upon the pedagogical requirements of different forms of course delivery and may for pedagogical reasons vary from a stated norm within the same form of course delivery.

Degree with Distinction
Is automatically awarded to students who, besides meeting all academic program requirements, have also attained at 3.5 grade point average calculated on their final 60 credits at AUArts.

GPA (Grade Point Average)
A numerical calculation of the course grades and course weights taken in a term. A CGPA is a cumulative Grade Point Average and includes all courses a student has taken at AUArts. For details see the Grading Procedures section in this Calendar.

Juried Evaluations/Critiques
Juried evaluations or critiques are forums for student/instructor discussions of an individual student’s work and performance. Such evaluations often play an advisory role in the determination of a student’s final grade.

Major
Primary area of specialization in an academic program. Requires the successful completion of a specified number of defined courses as per the Calendar Program requirements for the year of entry to the Major.

Minor
An optional secondary area of specialization in an area outside their Major. Requires completion of fewer courses than a Major.

President's Honor Roll
A student who successfully completes a minimum of 12 credits in a term and obtains a minimum grade point average of 3.67 in that term.

Prerequisite
A requirement, usually successful completion of another course, which must be met before registration is permitted into a course.

Program
A program is a planned series of courses leading to a degree.

Program Area
A program area is the administrative unit responsible for curriculum within a program.
Program Planning Guide
A document which lists the courses required for the completion of an academic program/major/minor. Program Planning Guides are available on the AUArts website.

School
A formal subdivision within the University whose mission is the administration of programs and courses (usually) relating to common fields of study and academic disciplines.

Transfer Credit
Credit granted towards an AUArts program for equivalent course(s) successfully completed at another recognized post-secondary institution. See the regulations concerning transfer credit in the Undergraduate Residency Requirements section of this Calendar.

Winter Term Break
A recess in February (Winter Term) designed to allow students to catch up on outstanding reading and preparing for examinations.
AUArts Programs

Undergraduate Programs
AUArts offers two four-year degree programs – the Bachelor of Design (BDes) and Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA). The BDes and the BFA are second year entry programs, with all students completing First Year Studies (or equivalent) prior to admission to the Degree program.

Pathway to Degree Program
The ArtStream Certificate Program, offered in conjunction with the AUArts School of Continuing Education and Professional Development is designed to provide a bridge to an art, craft and design education for applicants who do not meet AUArts' academic and/or English Language Proficiency requirements for First Year Studies, but who demonstrate satisfactory levels of creative portfolio achievement. The ArtStream Certificate program does not provide a High School Diploma; however, successful completion of the program allows for a waiver of the High School Diploma and/or English Language Proficiency requirements for entry into First Year Studies.

Graduate Program
AUArts offers a two-year Master of Fine Arts (MFA) program in Craft Media.

Non-Degree Programs
AUArts offers courses, certificates, programs and workshops through the School of Continuing Education and Professional Development.

Undergraduate Admission
Inquiries from prospective undergraduate students should be addressed to the AUArts Recruitment & Admissions Office. Those eligible for admission to the Master of Fine Arts program are advised to contact the Research and Graduate Studies Office at graduatestudies@auarts.ca.

By Phone: 403-284-7617

Undergraduate Applicant Categories

High School Applicants
Canadian or International: Individuals who have completed high school or expect to have completed high school prior to admission should apply to First Year Studies. High School applicants may have Advance Credit towards an AUArts degree based on the completion of Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate or Dual Credit coursework and have met minimum academic requirements.

High School Applicants who do not meet the academic and/or English Language Proficiency requirements for admission to First Year Studies are advised to consider the ArtStream Certificate Program, a bridge to an AUArts degree program.

Post-secondary Transfer Applicants
Canadian or International: Individuals who have attended an accredited post-secondary institution other than AUArts may apply as Transfer Applicants. Credit coursework completed will be assessed against AUArts Degree Program Requirements for admission to second or third year of study. Note that due to the unique nature of the AUArts Programs, completion of credits with the requisite Grades or Grade Point Average may not translate to equivalent course credit requirements at AUArts.

Mature Applicants
Canadian citizens or permanent residents/landed immigrants who have not completed high school or do not possess AUArts’ academic requirements for admission, but are 21 years of age or older by the first day of classes of the term to which they are seeking admission.
Readmission Applicants
Former AUArts (or ACAD) students who have not been registered in three preceding Fall and/or Winter terms and therefore must re-apply for admission. Readmission applicants applying to second, third or fourth year of a Program will follow the application procedures for Transfer Students.

Non-Degree Student Applicants
A student who is admitted and registered in credit courses who is not following a degree program.

Visiting Student Applicants
Students of other post-secondary institutions who have been permitted to take one or more courses for transfer of credit to their own institution for credit towards a degree or diploma program.

Exchange Student Applicants from AUArts Partner Institutions
Students studying at AUArts through an official partnership between their home institution and AUArts who take courses for transfer of credit to their own institution for credit towards a degree or diploma program. A reciprocal tuition waiver is typically in effect for Exchange Programs.

Undergraduate Admission Categories
There are four Categories of applicants for admission:

High School Applicants – Current high school students, high school graduates, mature student applicants.
- Application Procedure: Alberta Post-Secondary Application System (APAS) – Apply to First Year Studies.

Post-secondary Transfer Applicants – Readmission applicants, transfer applicants from other post-secondary institutions who have completed 30 credits or more at the post-secondary level.
- Application Procedure: Alberta Post-Secondary Application System (APAS) – Apply to Major of Choice.

Non-Degree Applicants – Non-degree applicants, visiting student applicants.
- Application Procedure: Contact admissions@auarts.ca for application procedure.

ArtStream Certificate Applicants
- Application Procedure: Alberta Post-Secondary Application System (APAS) – Apply to ArtStream

Undergraduate Admission Requirements

Admission to Alberta University of the Arts is competitive and is based on academic standing, demonstrated skills, and a commitment to undertake a rigorous program in visual arts, craft or design as determined by the Admissions Committee. Admission decisions are based on an assessment of academic transcripts, a personal statement and a portfolio. All applicants must satisfy the minimum Academic and English Language Proficiency Requirements.

The University cannot guarantee that upon admission a space will be available in all selected courses. In addition, admission to AUArts does not guarantee subsequent admission to a Program or Major.

Academic Requirements – Degree Programs

All Applicants
Applicants must possess an Alberta High School Diploma, or its equivalent, with at least a final grade of 60% in four separate grade 12 subjects including one of the following:

- English Language Arts 30-1 with a minimum grade of 60%; or
- English Language Arts 30-2 with a minimum grade of 65%; or
- Equivalent English courses as determined by the Admissions Office

International applicants must possess the equivalent of an Alberta High School Diploma with a minimum average of 60% or its equivalent in the final year of study, as determined by the Recruitment & Admissions Office. Applicants from countries where English is not the official language of instruction must meet the University's English Language Proficiency requirements.

Mature applicants (those over 21 years of age as of the first day of classes for the term of admission) are not required to possess a High School Diploma, however, the English Language Arts requirements noted above are required.

Applicants (high school direct or mature) who do not satisfy the above noted admission requirements are encouraged to consider admission to the ArtStream Certificate Program.

Advance Credit – High School Applicants & Mature Students
Students are eligible for Advance Credit in recognition of skills, competencies and knowledge learned by informal, non-formal experiential or formal means. Informal and non-formal experiential learning is assessed through the Prior Learning Assessment and Recognition (PLAR) program. Formal learning considers courses and programs offered at accredited secondary or post-secondary institutions such as Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate and Dual Credit programs.

PLAR related Advance Credit could be applicable to any year of study but is typically associated with Advance Credit towards First Year Studies. Formal learning-related Advance Credit is associated with Advance Credit towards First Year Studies. Applicants and/or students who are interested in exploring PLAR opportunities should contact the Student Academic Advisor for information on current PLAR procedures.

Students who present approved courses in Advanced Placement (AP) examinations will receive advance credit for coursework completed with grades of “4” or higher in AP subjects.

Students who present approved International Baccalaureate (IB) courses will receive advance credit for coursework completed with grades of “5” or above in Higher Level IB subjects.

Students who present approved Dual Credit courses will receive advance credit for coursework completed with grades of “C” or above in Dual Credit courses.

Students seeking Advance Credit or Transfer Credit must submit detailed course descriptions, translated and notarized if not in English, in order for an evaluation to be completed.

Post-Secondary Transfer Applicants

Admission of post-secondary transfer applicants is generally based on both high school admission requirements and academic performance in post-secondary coursework transferable to Alberta University of the Arts.

Transfer credit is limited by the University’s Residency Policy, which stipulates that at least 50% of a student’s program must be completed at AUArts. This limits transfer credit to a maximum of 60 credits for undergraduate degree programs.

Transfer credit is awarded by the Registrar’s Office in accordance with the transfer and articulation agreements held by AUArts, as well as the Alberta Council on Admissions and Transfer’s Transfer Guide, or on the recommendation of the School Chair. The following limits and conditions apply:

- Only those courses completed with a grade of “C” or better will be considered for transfer credit.
- Only those School of Critical and Creative Studies courses (Art History and General Studies) completed at the university or university transfer levels, as determined by the Registrar’s Office or Recruitment & Admissions Office, will be considered for transfer credit.
- Courses will only be considered for transfer credit if completed within ten years of the current academic year. Special requests may be directed to the AVP Student Affairs.

Requests for Transfer Credit Evaluation are submitted at the time of application with the receipt of official transcripts and detailed course syllabi (if required). Post-secondary Transfer applicants must also submit a portfolio as evidence of equivalent studio achievement.

Non-Degree Student Applicants

Non-Degree students must meet the undergraduate academic admission and English language proficiency requirements to AUArts. All prerequisites must be met. Registration of Non-Degree Students is based on space availability.

Non-Degree students wishing to apply to a degree program at AUArts must satisfy all Admissions Requirements and follow formal admissions procedures.

Visiting Student Applicants

Visiting students must submit an official transcript from their post-secondary institution and a written letter of permission (LOP) from their home institution granting permission to complete courses at AUArts. The letter should indicate the courses as well as the year in which the courses can be completed. Registration of Visiting Students is based on space availability.

Exchange Student Applicants from AUArts Partner Institutions

Exchange student applicants should follow the application procedures at their home institutions.

English Language Proficiency Requirements

English is the language of instruction at AUArts. All applicants must possess an adequate level of proficiency in English as evidenced in one of the following forms:

1. Successful completion of at least two years of full-time instruction in a school where English is the language of instruction, including a minimum passing grade of 60% in a Grade 12 English course or its equivalent.
2. Successful completion of at least one year of full-time instruction (18 credits) at a post-secondary institution where English is the language of instruction, including at least one transferable course in English composition or literature.
3. Achievement of an official TOEFL Test of at least 83 on the internet-based (IBT), with a minimum score of 20 in each of the four testing sections, 560 on the paper-based (PBT) or 220 on the computer based (CBT). Institution Code 0595 and Department Code 00.
4. Successful completion of an ESL program with an evaluation at a B- level or equivalent, or at a level deemed acceptable by the Recruitment & Admissions Office.
5. Achievement of a score of 70 or higher on the Canadian Academic English Language (CAEL) assessment.
6. Achievement of a score 6.5 or higher on the International English Language Test (IELTS).
7. Achievement of a score of 110 or higher on the Duolingo English Test (DET) for 2020-2021 only.

Undergraduate Admission Procedures

Admission to Degree Programs – First Year Studies leading to Bachelor of Design or Bachelor of Fine Arts

Applicants are required to submit the following documents and materials by the applicable deadline:

- Online using the Apply Alberta Post-Secondary Application (applyalberta.ca)
- Non-refundable Application Fee as per amount indicated on the Online Application Form
- Academic Transcript(s)
- Proof of English Language Proficiency (if required)
- Statement of Intent (unless otherwise indicated)
- Portfolio (unless otherwise indicated)
Transcripts
Applicants applying to AUArts who studied at an accredited Alberta Secondary or Post-Secondary institution must have transcripts forwarded to AUArts through the Alberta Post-Secondary Application System (APAS).

Applicants who have studied in other Provinces or outside of Canada must submit one copy of their official transcripts from each high school and post-secondary institution attended or are currently attending.

Unofficial transcripts should be submitted with the portfolio (via Slideroom) by the portfolio/document deadline. If an applicant has had their portfolio requirement waived, unofficial transcripts should be submitted to admissions@auarts.ca.

Applicants applying for admission to First Year Studies, who are completing their final year of high school, must submit in-progress and final transcripts from their high school by the document deadline. Mature applicants must provide an official transcript indicating the completion of the requisite English course and the level of education attained.

All final transcripts must be official and sent directly from the institution to AUArts. Transcripts sent directly from the student are not acceptable.

Official transcripts issued in a language other than English must be accompanied by notarized English translations. Applicants seeking admission from institutions outside of English-speaking North America should contact the International Qualifications Assessment Service (IQAS) at alberta.ca/iqas-employment-education-licensure.aspx or the World Education Services (WES) at wes.org/ca for information regarding educational credentials and how they compare to standards in Canada. AUArts requires IQAS or WES assessments to determine eligibility for admission for applicants educated outside of Canada.

Out of province or international applicants should contact the appropriate educational agency in their area. Transcripts from post-secondary institutions should be requested from the Registrar's Office of that institution and forwarded directly to the AUArts Recruitment & Admissions Office.

English Language Proficiency Documents
Applicants who are required to submit official English Language Proficiency documents should submit their documents by the document deadline.

Portfolio
All applicants are required to submit a portfolio that represents a collection of their recent artwork. The portfolio is a crucial part of the assessment for admission to AUArts. The portfolio helps the university evaluate the skills and potential of applicants interested in art, craft and design. Guidelines for specific programs may vary and are reviewed on an annual basis in consultation with faculty and are posted in the Admissions section on AUArts website.

Portfolios must be submitted in accordance with the publicized guidelines and deadlines listed on the AUArts website. Applicants must submit their statement of intent with their portfolio. Please see the Admissions dates and deadlines on the website for portfolio submission deadlines.

NOTE: Portfolios are reviewed after receipt of the application for admission.

Statement of Intent
In a statement of approximately 500 words, applicants should explain their interest in the study of visual arts, craft and design. Please see the Portfolio Requirements section of the AUArts website for guidelines.

Applicants must submit their statement of intent with their portfolio.

Exchange Student Applicants from AUArts Partner Institutions
Students studying at AUArts through an official partnership who take courses for transfer of credit to their own institution for credit towards a degree or diploma program. A reciprocal tuition waiver is typically in effect for Exchange Programs.

Students may be accepted for admission to AUArts under formal agreements in place between AUArts and other post-secondary institutions that allow students to take courses at AUArts for transfer to the student’s home institution. It is the responsibility of the exchange student to ensure courses taken at AUArts have been approved for transfer credit by their home institution.

Exchange student applicants should follow the application procedures at their home institutions.
Admission Appeals

Admission to an undergraduate degree program at AUArts is competitive; and is based on academic, English language proficiency (if required) and portfolio requirements. Meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission. Final decisions on matters of admission rest within the Undergraduate Recruitment and Admissions Office. All admission decisions are final and are not subject to appeal.

Admission Deferrals

Offers of admission are only valid for the term outlined in the admission letter. Students who are unable to attend the term for which admission has been granted may submit a request to defer admission to the Recruitment and Admissions Office at admissions@auarts.ca. Deferrals are considered on a case by case basis based on exceptional circumstances and are valid for up to one year. Supporting documentation may be required to support the exceptional circumstances.

Students who attend another post-secondary institution during the deferral period will have the deferral cancelled and must re-apply for admission. Requests to defer an offer of admission are not normally considered after the start of the admission term.

To be eligible for a deferral, the applicant must be fully admitted to their respective program which includes having paid the confirmation deposit. The confirmation deposit will be held for the deferred term of admission.

ArtStream Certificate Admission Requirements

Applicants to the ArtStream Certificate Program may or may not possess an Alberta High School Diploma, or otherwise do not meet the minimum academic or English Language Proficiency requirements for admission to First Year Studies.

Admission to the ArtStream Certificate Program is based on an assessment of academic transcripts, a statement of intent, a portfolio, and in some cases an academic assessment.

For more information on ArtStream Requirements go to auarts.ca/artstream
Fees and Regulations

Alberta University of the Arts Board of Governors determines tuition and student fees based on Government requirements and/or allowances as set out in the Province of Alberta’s Tuition and Fee Regulations, a component of the Post-secondary Learning Act. All fees are set in consultation with the Alberta University of the Arts Students’ Association. The Board reserves the right to change fees and deposits when necessary and without notice.

Undergraduate courses at AUArts are typically 3.0 or 4.5 credits over one term or term, noting that some upper level courses are 6.0 credits. Graduate course credits range from 3.0 – 12.0 credits per course. A full course load per year is 30 credits (15 per term in each of the Fall and Winter terms), although the minimum requirement for Full-time Student status is 9 credits per term.

Assessment and Payment of Fees

Total student fees are a combination of tuition fees, mandatory non-instructional fees, user fees, non-regulated fees and AUArts’ Students Association fees. Fees are assessed on the basis of course registration, status, term of study, service requests and membership as per the fee description. Tuition fees will cover a portion of expendable supplies necessary to support general studio operation and use. The balance may be charged to students as supplementary fees on a cost recovery basis.

The University Cashier is responsible for the processing of all transactions relating to student fees.

All tuition fees, mandatory non-instructional fees, user fees, non-regulated fees and Student Association fees are due and payable on the fee payment deadline as published in the Academic Calendar.

Students who have not paid all fees by the Fee Payment Deadline date will be subject to a late payment penalty of 5% of the outstanding balance. Students who have outstanding fees as of the second Fee Payment Deadline will be assessed an additional late payment penalty of 2.5% of the outstanding balance.

Students with overdue accounts due to AUArts or to reciprocal institutions will be subject to:

- Withholding of marks, transcripts and/or credentials;
- Withholding of privileges, including building access and other AUArts services;
- Ineligibility for registration in subsequent academic terms or years;
- Any other collection efforts that are deemed appropriate by the University Cashier.

Methods of Payment

Payment of undergraduate or graduate tuition fees can be made through online banking, by credit card (Mastercard or Visa only), using Aeroplan® Miles, in person, or by mail (bank draft, cheque or money order).

Online Banking

“Alberta University of the Arts” is the payee on your online bill payment profile for online payments.

Your account number for online banking is your nine-digit AUArts student number (this includes all initial zeroes), followed by the first five characters of your last name. Name characters are not case-sensitive. Example: 000066789JONES or 987654321Smith. If your name is less than 5 characters long, use your full last name

Credit Card (MasterCard and Visa) via AUArts webService

Note: Credit Card payment for tuition fees is not an available option if paying in-person at the Cashier window.

Fully admitted students willing to pay the non-refundable credit card administrative fee can logon to the Student Account Center and follow the steps for payment. You can also authorize someone else to pay your fees, with their Credit Card, from the Student Account Centre.

Note: If paying by Credit Card, the credit card holder will be charged a non-refundable service charge (minimum $3.00).
Payment by Aeroplan® Miles
AUArts is part of the Higher Ed Points program, which allows you to convert Aeroplan® Miles into funds for paying your tuition and fees. You can also use the Aeroplan® Miles of family or funds – anyone can transfer their points to a student.

Payment in Person
Payments can be made in person at the cashier window located on the second level near the entrance to the Library, using the following methods: Debit Card, Cash, Cheque, Bank Draft, or Money Order. Credit card payments for tuition fees are not accepted at the cashier’s window.

Payment by Mail
Mail your cheque, bank draft or money order to payable to: “Alberta University of the Arts” to:

NOTE: All studio courses carry a per-credit supplementary fee that will be assessed at the time of registration. Students will be charged $15.78 per credit in all studio courses. Supplementary fees have been incorporated into the above estimates.

NOTE: Computer costs including software, internet costs, printers, paper, ink etc. are not reflected in the Program Material Costs listed above. Students who are applying for student loans, should enter the full amount of their computer and related costs. While student loans will not cover the full cost of computer and related expenses, students will receive the maximum allowable amount if their computer costs are $500 or higher.
Fee Refunds

Course Changes

If a student drops a course from a registration before the Add/Drop Deadline, tuition and any refundable fees will be adjusted. If the course change results in a registration status change (i.e. from full-time to part-time), non-instructional fees will be reassessed accordingly.

Students who withdraw from courses (up to a full withdrawal from the university) after the Add/Drop Deadline will not receive any reduction in tuition and fees for the term.

Withdrawal from the University

A student who officially withdraws from AUArts may be eligible for a refund of tuition and other fees based on the following schedule:

Where a student’s tuition fees have been paid through a government student loan, the refund will be forwarded to the appropriate loan agency to be applied toward the student’s outstanding loan.

Refunds for withdrawals are calculated on the basis of the official date of withdrawal. The official date of withdrawal, for the purposes of assessing a refund, will be the date a completed Withdrawal Form is submitted to the Registrar’s Office, not the date the student stopped attending classes.
Academic Regulations

Changes in Regulations
The University reserves the right to make changes in regulations governing degree programs from time to time. General Faculties Council (GFC) is the University’s senior academic governing body and it is GFC that is responsible for academic regulations that appear in the Academic Calendar.

AUArts Email Address – University Communications
Once admitted to the university, students are assigned an AUArts email account. All departments of the university will use it to communicate all information with the student including but not limited to timetable, registration, wait lists, changes to program requirements, awards, graduation, overdue books, outstanding fines and other matters. Students are responsible for checking their AUArts email address on a regular basis.

Chosen Name
AUArts supports chosen names (versus legal names) for students for unofficial documents, course registration and email. New students have the option to select a chosen name prior to registration. Continuing students will be notified of the process for opting for a Chosen Name. Note that official University documents (i.e. transcripts) are only issued using the student’s Legal Name.

Change of Name
A student must notify the Registrar’s Office of an official change of name and must provide official supporting documentation from Vital Statistics Canada confirming the change. Accepted documentation includes: Birth Certificate, Marriage Certificate, Divorce Decree, Passport or Driver’s license.

Change of Address
Each student must provide a local address at the time of registration and is responsible for reporting subsequent changes to the Registrar’s Office as they occur. The University will only mail written correspondence concerning progression to the last address on the student’s file and will be deemed adequate notification. The University takes no responsibility for inconvenience, loss, or difficulties arising out of documents incorrectly mailed due to a student’s failure to report an address change to the Registrar’s Office.

Degree Program Regulations
Unless otherwise stated, changes in degree program requirements (i.e. the required courses specified to a particular program of study, or the units of course weight required in specified subject areas, or the total units of course weight required in the degree program) apply only to new students and those readmitted to a Program.

Where a required course for a degree program is no longer offered, the School(s) may specify an alternate.

Dropping a Course
Students have the opportunity to Drop (and/or Add) a course until the posted deadline in the Academic Calendar. Students who drop a course before the deadline are eligible to receive a refund of their tuition, excluding non-refundable fees as posted in the Calendar. Students who Drop a course after the Add/Drop deadline are ineligible for a tuition fee refund.

Mailing Address
The University may use regular post to contact students in matters relating to their grade changes, academic standing and financial status at the university. Students are responsible for updating their address with the Registrar’s Office. The University takes no responsibility for inconvenience, loss or difficulties arising from a student’s failure to provide a correct address or change of address to the Registrar’s Office.

No Show Procedure - Registration
Students who do not attend one of the first two meeting times of a course or contact the instructor through email by the end of the business day of the second meeting of the class may have their registration removed as per the No Show Procedure.

Registration
Students register through webService in courses on a priority basis through time-ticket assignments, course restrictions and reserved seating in courses.

Students must provide confirmation of pre-requisite completion by the first day of the term or will risk removal from the course(s). AUArts will maximize registrations and ensure safety in the classroom by canceling student registrations for students who fail to attend class or fail to notify their instructor with a valid reason for not attending class during the Add/Drop period for a given term. This does not remove the responsibility of the student to manage their own registration.

Students are responsible for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of their own registration and change of registration. Students are advised to contact a Student Academic Advisor in advance of registration for assistance in course selection and academic advising.

Students are responsible for fees incurred and/or academic consequences resulting from registrations.

The Registrar’s Office may de-register students who:

- Do not meet the pre-requisites by the first day of the term;
- Do not pay the required fees by the posted deadline;
- Are determined to be a No-Show;
- Have outstanding student conduct sanctions to complete; and/or
- Have been academically withdrawn from the University

Registration Limitations

The course timetable and detailed Major requirements will be posted on the AUArts website at least one week in advance of registration. The University reserves the right to make adjustments to the course timetable up to the end of the second week of classes, if necessary. Adjustments may include but are not limited to the addition, cancellation, and/or combination of course sections, as well as changes to the day, time, instructor and/or capacity of the course sections. In the case where course sections are combined, students will not be entitled to a reduction in tuition fees.

Registration in courses is subject to course and space availability and meeting prerequisites at the time of registration. The University cannot guarantee that space will be available in all desired courses.

Students are not permitted to register for 2 courses at the same scheduled time.

Students who have had two unsuccessful attempts at a course will be contacted to provide supportive interventions before allowing for registration for a third time as per the Third-Attempt Procedure.

Records

Student records are maintained in the Registrar’s Office and are confidential. Public information consisting of the student’s full legal name, dates of attendance, program of study, date(s) of graduation and record of awards attained may be released at the discretion of authorized personnel of the Registrar’s Office.

All other information maintained in the Registrar’s Office is confidential and will not be released to any third party without a student’s written permission. Student requests to review their own file will be received in writing and reviewed by the Registrar. Faculty and administrative officers of the University may also access student records on presumed legitimate interest.

Student Appeals

A student who wishes to lodge an appeal of an academic or non-academic policy, procedure and/or regulation should contact the Registrar’s Office for appropriate appeal procedures.

Transcripts

Official transcripts will contain a student’s complete academic record and will be issued only at the written request of the student. Transcripts are not official unless they bear the University seal and the signature of the Registrar.

Requests for official transcripts should be made to the Registrar’s Office using the Transcript Request Form. A fee per copy must accompany the request. Official transcripts will not be released to students with outstanding financial obligations to the university or reciprocal institutions until the outstanding account is cleared. Outstanding financial obligations may take the form of, but are not limited to, outstanding tuition, fees, library loans or fines (including loans or fines owing to institutions with which the university has reciprocal borrowing agreements), emergency student loans, jewelry kits or tools, audio/visual equipment, woodshop and tool bank loans.

Unofficial transcripts are available through the University’s student webService system.
Transfer of Credit - Letter of Permission/Visiting Student Status
Students registered in a degree program at AUArts may be permitted to take courses at another recognized post-secondary institution for application to their program at AUArts. Typically, this is accomplished by participating in a formal exchange program or by registering as a Visiting Student at the other institution with transfer credit applied to the AUArts Program.

To be considered for such transfer credit, students must:

1. Be in good standing in their degree program.
2. Receive permission in advance through the Registrar's Office by requesting a Letter of Permission. This process will determine which courses are acceptable for credit at AUArts;
3. Not have exceed the maximum amount of transfer credit allowed as per the University Residency Requirements.

Transfer credit is normally awarded only for approved courses in which a grade of ‘C’ or higher is achieved. The student is responsible for ensuring that an official final transcript is forwarded to the Registrar's Office (undergraduate students) or the Research and Graduate Studies Office (graduate students). The conditions and limits established for determining transfer credit will apply to courses completed on a Letter of Permission.

University Residency Requirement
In order to receive an undergraduate degree from the Alberta University of the Arts, students must complete at least 50% of the total number of credits required for their program, including their final 30 credits completed, in attendance at AUArts. For this reason, transfer applicants will normally receive a maximum of two years transfer credit for equivalent study at another institution. In exceptional cases this requirement may be waived at the discretion of the Chair of the School.

Waitlists
Where demand exceeds course capacity, a waitlist will be kept in the Student Information System. Students must add themselves to the waitlist through webService. In order to be placed on waitlists, students must meet course prerequisites. When a space becomes available, a student will be notified through their AUArts email that they have a 48-hour window within which to accept the seat and process the registration. It is the student’s responsibility to monitor their email and register within this window. If a student does not register within the 48-hour window, the spot in the course will be offered to the next student on the waitlist. Students who miss their window may add their name again to the waitlist while waitlists remain open. Waitlists will be cleared and closed 48 hours before the Add/Drop Deadline for a term.

Withdrawal from a Course
Students have the opportunity to withdraw from a course after the Add/Drop period without academic penalty (W grade) by the posted deadline in the academic calendar. Students who withdraw from individual courses after the Add/Drop Deadline are not eligible for a refund of tuition or fees.

In exceptional circumstances, students may submit a request for a late withdrawal within 30 calendar days of the end of the applicable term. Such a request must be made to the Registrar's Office in writing and include any relevant supporting documentation. Students who complete all coursework will not be considered for a late withdrawal from that course. A late withdrawal does not result in the refund of tuition or fees.
Undergraduate Academic Progression Standards

Progression Requirements for Majors
In order to progress within a Major, students must comply with all progression requirements for their Major as outlined under Academic Requirements and Regulations.

Change of Major
Students wishing to transfer from one Major to another may declare the new Major at any time provided they satisfy the requirements for admission to the Major. Students must submit a Declaration of Major form to the Registrar’s Office for approval and processing. Declarations of Major forms received by the Registrar’s Office prior to April 1 will be processed in time for registration period and all related priorities for course registration will be granted.

Forms received after April 1 will not be guaranteed to be processed prior to the registration period.

Academic Alert
The Academic Alert is an optional tool used by faculty to advise students and Student Services that a student is at risk due to academic standing and/or attendance and participation. The Academic Alert serves as a communication tool, encouraging engagement with Student Services staff.

Academic Probation and Academic Withdrawal
All undergraduate students, both full-time and part-time, must obtain a grade point average of at least 1.67 in each term of their program.

Students who fail to obtain a term grade point average of 1.67 will be placed on academic probation for the next term for which they register. In order to clear their standing, probationary students must obtain a term grade point average of at least 1.67 for the probationary term. Probationary students who fail to obtain a term grade point average of at least 1.67 for the probationary term will be academically withdrawn from the University and will not be eligible for readmission to the University for a minimum period of 12 months from the date of their academic withdrawal.

Students who have been academically withdrawn from the University must apply for readmission in accordance with normal admission deadlines and procedures. Students readmitted after a period of academic withdrawal will be placed on academic probation and be subject to the conditions specified above. Students who fail to obtain an average of at least 1.67 during this probationary term will be academically withdrawn from the University and not be eligible for future readmission.

Appeals
The university recognizes that a student experiencing extenuating circumstances may not meet the level of achievement expected from its students. Students experiencing extenuating circumstances who wish to appeal the academic progression regulations may appeal through the Registrar to Student Affairs Committee of GFC. Academic Progression appeals should be submitted in writing to the Registrar’s Office within 10 days of receiving notice of being on academic probation.

Undergraduate Honours - Grading

President’s Honour Roll
An undergraduate degree student who successfully completes a minimum of 12 credits in a term and obtains a minimum grade point average of 3.67 in that term shall be placed on the President’s Honour Roll. A “President’s Honour Roll” notation will appear on the student’s academic transcript.
Grading Procedures

Evaluation
Evaluation and assignment of grades will be based upon the quality of work produced relative to the objectives of the course. Instructors and students have the following responsibilities in the evaluation process:

- Instructors are responsible for distributing to their students their Course Syllabus that includes course objectives, methodology, evaluation and specific grading criteria, normally by the end of the first week of instruction. Instructors are expected to discuss the course expectations and grading criteria with their students.

- Students are responsible for ensuring that they obtain a copy of the Course Syllabus and that they understand the course expectations and grading criteria.

- Instructors are responsible for providing students with feedback on their progress in the course at or before the midterm of the term so that students may, on the basis of instructor feedback, make an informed decision to continue or to withdraw from the course without failure. Where the nature of the course does not lend itself to a formal midterm evaluation, instructors are required to notify those students whose progression to that date is not satisfactory by way of an Academic Alert.

- Instructors are responsible for advising any student not fulfilling course expectations at any time during the term in writing of his/her progress in the course. Instructors are encouraged to issue an Academic Alert to students through the Registrar’s Office.

- Students encountering difficulties in fulfilling course expectations should seek assistance from their instructor during class time or office hours.

- In assigning final grades, instructors are responsible for applying the evaluation and specific grading criteria distributed. Faculty shall assign grades according to the university grading system.

- Where a student does not agree with an assigned final grade, both the student and the instructor are responsible for following the University grade appeal procedures.
Undergraduate Grading System

Faculty will assign letter grades according to the following grading system to evaluate student course work for all credit courses whether in credit or Continuing Education programs:

In addition to the letter grades described, the following special codes may be assigned as follows:

I - Incomplete
A temporary grade assigned to a student in extenuating circumstances on compassionate grounds as approved in writing by the instructor of the course. The "I" grade is NOT to be used as a substitute for an "F" grade and will revert to an "F" grade if it is not cleared prior to Incomplete Grade Deadline for the term. This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average, however when the "I" grade is changed to any of the above grades, the grade point average will be recalculated.

W - Withdrawal without Failure
Assigned to a student who officially withdraws from a course after the first ten days of instruction and prior to the end of the ninth week of classes. "W" grades are not used in the calculation of grade point average. Instructors are required to provide students with feedback on their progress in their courses by this date.

A student who officially withdraws from the university, as evidenced by a "Withdrawal from the University" form, at any time during the term will be assigned a grade of "W" for each course in which they were registered.

WF - Withdrawal/Failure
A failing grade assigned to a student who officially withdraws from a course after the end of the ninth week of classes. This grade is included in the calculation of grade point average.

CR – Credit
Transfer credit assigned to a student for equivalent course work completed at an accredited post-secondary institution with a grade of ‘C’ or better (60% on a percentage scale). This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average.

For the Winter 2020 term, CR was an option selected by a student who successfully completed a course at AUArts but opted not to receive a letter grade.

Prior to September 1, 1985, a code of "CMR" - Credit Mark Rating - was assigned to transfer both a credit and a grade, which was included in grade point average calculations.

AUD – Audit
A non-credit grade assigned to a student who has the permission of the faculty to register in a course for which the student will receive no formal evaluation. Audit status is only permitted in School of Critical and Creative Studies course offerings.

For the Winter 2020 term, AUD was an option selected by a student who did not successfully complete a course at AUArts.

P - Pass
A passing grade assigned to special courses as approved by Academic Council. Courses so specified will be identified in course outlines and descriptions. This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average.
NP - No Pass
A failing grade assigned to special courses as approved by Academic Council or General Faculties Council. Courses so specified will be identified in course outlines and descriptions. This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average.

Calculation of Grade Point Average
A grade point average (GPA) for a term shall be calculated by:

- Multiplying the grade point achieved by the credit weight assigned for each course,
- Totaling the weighted grade points from (a) above, and
- Dividing the total from (b) by the total of the course credits.

A cumulative grade point average (CGPA) represents the same calculation as above for all courses completed, including the original and any repeated courses.

Release of Grades
The Registrar’s Office will post final grades on the university’s student webService system typically within 1 week after the end of each term. Students with outstanding financial obligations to the University will not be entitled to view their grades until the outstanding account is cleared. Outstanding financial obligations may take the form of, but are not limited to, outstanding tuition, library loans or fines (including loans or fines owing to institutions with which the university has reciprocal borrowing agreements), jewellery kits or tools, audio/visual equipment, and woodshop and tool bank loans.

Grade Appeal

Grade Appeal Procedure

All students have the right to disagree with an assigned grade and shall follow the steps outlined below and provided in detail in the Grade Appeal Procedure.

Grade Appeal Procedures

A student may appeal a final grade if he/she believes that:

- An instructor has applied inappropriate criteria in evaluation, and/or
- That an instructor has unfairly interpreted the student’s work in light of stated criteria, and/or
- The student believes the instructor has made a calculation error in weighting the components which comprise the final examination mark.

Grade appeals must be objective in nature and based on evidence.

The student may choose to be accompanied by a support person/advisor in any or all of the following steps, if they so wish. A support person/advisor refers to a person who aids the student by providing procedural or emotional support. A support person/advisor may be legal counsel, a peer or Students’ Association representative. If the Advisor is a lawyer, the Student or lawyer shall provide written notice of the lawyer’s attendance to the Student Affairs Office at least five (5) working days in advance of the meeting date. In such instances, the university is entitled to bring legal representation as well. The support person/advisor will not be permitted to speak on the Student’s behalf during the meetings in any of the following steps.

The grade appeal procedure steps are outlined below. The Grade Appeal Form is available from the Registrar’s Office or from the AUArts website.

Grade Appeal Procedure Steps

All steps in the process must be followed in sequence.

There is no fee associated with Steps 1 and 2. If the process proceeds to Step 3, a Grade Appeal Fee must be paid but will be refunded if the grade is changed.

Step 1:
The first section (Step 1) of the Grade Appeal Form must be completed returned to the Registrar’s Office within 14 working days from the end of the term for which the grades were issued. This is a compulsory first step in the grade appeal process. It is intended to provide a forum for the instructor and student to resolve the issue of a disputed grade.
Procedure:
To complete this step the student must meet and/or contact the instructor. If the student is off campus during the time period, he/she must send an email to the instructor and copy the Registrar’s Office and the Chair of the School which offers the course, within the 14 business days.

- Whether there was an oversight or a mistake in grading,
- the reason(s) for the student’s request for a grade change,
- the criteria used to determine the grade,
- The possibility of a change of grade to an “I” incomplete with specific conditions that have to be met to satisfy the course requirements or to any other grade.

The instructor may agree to a change of grade or may decide to uphold the original grade as a result of the discussion. The instructor shall confirm that this step has been completed by signing Step 1 section of the Grade Appeal form and recording his/her decision directly on the form. The form must be returned to the Registrar’s Office within 10 business days of meeting or corresponding with the student. If the grade is to be changed, the instructor must submit a Change of Grade form to the Registrar’s Office. If the grade is not to be changed, the instructor must submit to the Chair of the School of the program of the contested grade, his/her instructor course guideline plus a written account of how the student’s grade was determined, relative to the outlined objectives of the course and the evaluation criteria. Either the Change of Grade or the submission to the Chair must be completed within 10 business days of the Instructor meeting or corresponding with the student.

If the student is unsatisfied with the outcome of this step, they may proceed to Step 2 of the grade appeal procedure. In the event the instructor is not available for this first step, the process will default to Step 2 of this procedure.

Step 2:
This step in the process must be initiated within 7 calendar days of the completion of the Step 1. The completion date shall be the date the completed form was returned to the Registrar’s Office.

Procedure:
The student must complete Step 2 section of the Grade Appeal Form, outlining in writing his/her grounds for the appeal, and submit it to the Chair of the School of Program of the area of the contested grade (where the Chair of the School is the instructor, the Chair of another school shall conduct the review). The Chair will form a Program Resolution Panel comprising two other faculty members of the program area to review the appeal.

Program Resolution Panel:
The Chair of the School will serve as Chair to the Program Resolution Panel and shall appoint two other members from within the Program area or familiar with the area of study in dispute. All three members have voting privileges.

The Program Resolution Panel shall:
- Review the student’s written submission (provided by the Chair of the School),
- review the official course outline, the instructor’s course guideline, plus the instructor’s written account of how the student’s grade was determined relative to the outlined objectives of the course and the evaluation criteria,
- interview the parties (if deemed necessary),
- review the student’s work in light of course expectations to assess whether the work has fulfilled the requirements of the course. (In reviewing the student work, only that work produced for the course may be included in the review).

This step may result in the overturning of the instructor’s original grade.

The Panel will decide by majority vote if the original grade should be retained, raised or lowered. The Chair of the School shall confirm that the program review has been completed by signing Step 2 section of the Grade Appeal form and recording the decision of the Program Resolution Panel directly on the form. The form must be returned to the Registrar’s Office within 10 working days of the date this step was initiated (the initiation date shall be the date the completed form was received by the Chair of the School). The Registrar’s Office will process that as a Change of Grade and will forward a copy to both the student and the instructor.

If the student is unsatisfied with the outcome of this step of the grade appeal procedure, they may proceed to Step 3.
Step 3:
This step must be initiated within 7 calendar days of the date of completion of Step 2 and requires the payment of a grade appeal fee. The completion date shall be the date the completed form was returned to the Registrar’s Office. The grade appeal fee must accompany this step of the appeal process but will be refunded if the grade is changed.

This third step of the grade appeal process involves a review of the student’s appeal by members external to the program. This may result in the overturning of the instructor’s original grade.

Procedure:
To initiate this step, the student must complete section 3 of the Grade Appeal form and submit it to the Registrar’s Office with the appropriate fee. The Registrar will then forward the student’s appeal to the Chair of the School who will convene a Grade Appeal Committee to review the student’s appeal.

Grade Appeal Committee
The Chair of School will serve as Chair to the Committee and will appoint two other members on an ad hoc basis as follows:

- One instructor who is familiar with the area of study in dispute and has not participated in step 2 of this procedure,
- One instructor who is out of the area being contested,
- One student who is an executive member of the Students’ Association.

All three members have voting privileges. The Chair of the School is a non-voting member. The Grade Appeal Committee shall:

- Review all written submissions (as provided by the Chair of the School in the area of the contested grade) from Step 2,
- Review the recommendations of the Program Resolution Panel,
- Interview the student and the instructor.

Where the student is unavailable to be interviewed, the student may choose another representative. Where the instructor is unavailable to be interviewed, every effort will be made by the Chair to ensure that the instructor’s position is represented.

Upon review of all written and verbal submissions, the Grade Appeal Committee will decide by majority vote if the original grade should be retained, raised or lowered. The Committee may also include recommendations for future action specific to the evaluation and/or the parties. The Chair shall confirm the Grade Appeal Committee’s decision directly on the Grade Appeal Form. This form must be signed by the Vice President, Academic and Provost and returned to the Registrar’s Office within 10 working days of the student’s initiation of step 3 in this appeal process (the initiation date shall be the date the completed form and fee was received by the Registrar’s Office).

The Registrar shall advise both the student and the instructor of Grade Appeal Committee’s decision. Given no procedural irregularities in the appeal process, the Grade Appeal Committee’s decision is final, and no further appeal is posted.
Awarding of Degrees

Graduation

All Students who are expecting to graduate within the current academic year must apply by the deadline specified in the AUArts Calendar and must pay the required graduation application fee, regardless of whether or not they plan to attend Convocation. The University is not responsible for ensuring that all eligible candidates apply to graduate.

Students should ensure they are eligible to graduate by confirming they have met all academic program requirements with the Chair of their School and/or the Registrar’s Office for undergraduate students or the Research and Graduate Studies Office for graduate students. Students must also ensure they have cleared all financial obligations to the university in order to be eligible to graduate. Outstanding financial obligations may take the form of but are not limited to outstanding tuition, fees, library loans or fines (including loans or fines owing to institutions with which the university has reciprocal borrowing agreements), jewellery kits, woodshop and tool bank loans.

Students with outstanding financial obligations to the university will be allowed to attend Convocation but will not receive their degrees or credentials until the financial obligation has been cleared. Credentials will be held for 90 days. At the end of the 90-day period, the matter will be forwarded to the Assistant Vice President Student Affairs for resolution.

Undergraduate Degrees with Distinction

An AUArts “Degree with Distinction” will automatically be awarded to students who, besides meeting all Academic Program Requirements, have also attained a minimum of 3.50 grade point average calculated on their final 60 credits completed at AUArts. A “with Distinction” notation will appear with the award of the degree on students’ academic transcripts.

Second Degrees

Students with a bachelor’s degree from AUArts or another recognized institution may be admitted to a second bachelor’s degree if they meet the admission requirements, and the following conditions:

- Residency requirements are met, and;
- Students must complete a minimum of 30 unique credits, in addition to the credits utilized for the first degree, and;
- Students must meet all program and graduation requirements for the second degree beyond those required for the first degree.
Student Conduct

Academic integrity is grounded in the belief in fundamental values such as honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. The University endeavors to create and maintain a positive and productive learning environment, an environment where there is:

- Respect for the dignity of all;
- Fair treatment of individuals;
- Respect for academic freedom;
- Respect for university resources and the property of individuals and
- Respect for confidentiality.

The Student Conduct Procedure applies to student conduct that occurs on campus, in a course or other activity offered by the University or when a student is representing the University. The Procedure covers both academic and non-academic misconduct.

Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct is the giving, taking or presenting of information or material that unethically or dishonestly aids oneself or another in any work which under normal circumstances is to be considered in the determination of a grade or the compilation of academic requirements or the enhancement of a student's record or academic career.

Academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to the following:

- Copying or representing the work of others, without giving credit to the authors, and submitting the work as one's own (plagiarism). This includes copying the work of fellow students, printed material from any source, graphics, data or research findings from any source, graphics, data or research findings from any source, or material found on the internet;
- Resubmitting the same piece of work for evaluation more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor to whom the work is being resubmitted;
- Misrepresenting material facts for academic purposes, including but not limited to, presenting falsified or concocted research, credentials, assignments, altered or changed results or scores, academic records, transcripts, credentials or other registration records, letters of reference or recommendations, medical or compassionate certificates;
- Impersonating another individual;
- Withholding academic records, transcripts or other documents for the purposes of gaining admission or unfair academic advantage;
- Intentionally obstructing or interfering with scholarly activities of another individual including but not limited to tampering or damaging another individual's work or materials;
- Deliberately and improperly accessing confidential information such as examinations or records;
- Improperly publishing, disseminating or otherwise making public confidential information without prior written consent. Confidential information includes, but is not limited to, academic records, information, data and documents that are otherwise not publicly available;
- Using unauthorized materials in examinations;
- Any act compromising the integrity of examination procedures, class, studio or course assignments;
- Tampering with, destroying, stealing or making inaccessible library or other academic resource materials including studio equipment, campus infrastructure, audio visual equipment, computer programs and files; or
- Knowingly assisting the commission of an academic offence.

Suspected acts of academic dishonesty are to be reported to the Registrar within 10 days of the incident. If this is the first suspected incident of academic dishonesty, the instructor will investigate the alleged misconduct to establish a reasonable level of certainty that an act of academic dishonesty occurred. The instructor then meets with the School Chair to establish whether the incident warrants further action and the nature of any potential sanctions. If it appears that there are no grounds for academic misconduct and no action is deemed necessary, no formal record is required. If it appears that there may be grounds for academic misconduct and further action is deemed appropriate, the instructor will begin the completion of the Academic Misconduct Report and arrange to meet with the student within 10 business days of becoming aware of the incident.
The instructor then meets with the student to review the alleged misconduct and any potential sanctions. The instructor and student shall record their understandings of the incident and the instructor initiated sanctions in the appropriate section of the Academic Misconduct Report within 10 business days of the meeting with the School Chair, ensuring that the original copy of the report and supporting documents are submitted to the Registrar.

If the student agrees to the occurrence of the incident and/or the proposed sanctions, the Registrar will record and act on any sanctions.

If the student disagrees with the instructor on the occurrence of the incident and/or the proposed sanctions, the Registrar will refer the matter to the Hearing Board on Student Conduct within 10 business days of receipt of the report. The Hearing Board will consider all relevant material and make a decision as to whether the student has committed an offence. If the Hearing Board determines that an offence has occurred, the Hearing Board will determine what sanctions, if any, are appropriate.

Within 10 business days of the Hearing, the Chair of the Hearing Board will complete a final report detailing the findings and will communicate the decision to the student and instructor/complainant and to the Registrar. The Registrar will record and action any imposed sanctions. Failure to comply or observe sanctions may lead to further sanctions.

A student who has been found responsible for Student Academic Misconduct may appeal the decision made by the Hearing Board to the Student Affairs Committee of GFC within 10 business days of receiving the decision. Sanctions for violation of Student Academic Misconduct are provided in the Student Conduct Procedure under Appendix 3: Sanctions – Student Academic Misconduct.

Non-Academic Misconduct

Non-academic misconduct is related to the protection of individuals, property, University functions, activities and services, false information and identification, possession or use of dangerous objects, drugs or alcohol, aiding in the commission of an offence, contravening other laws or University policies, failure to comply with a sanction or violating the standards of classroom and studio behaviour.

Non-academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to the following:

- Bullying or otherwise engaging in a pattern of behaviour directed at a specific person or group of persons that would cause a reasonable individual to fear for their safety or suffer emotional distress;
- Assaulting an individual sexually, or threatening another individual with sexual assault or committing an act of sexual harassment toward another individual;
- Engaging in hazing or any act that harms, or could reasonably be expected to harm the mental or physical health or safety of another person, for the purpose of initiation, admission into, affiliation with, or as a condition for continued membership in a group or organization and
- Engaging in a course of vexatious conduct, bullying or other harassment that is directed at one or more persons and that is based on grounds protected by the Alberta Human Rights Act.
- Damaging, defacing, or destroying the property of another individual, corporation or other entity, including the University;
- Creating a condition that unnecessarily endangers or threatens destruction of the property of another individual, corporation or other entity, including the University;
- Use University property, facilities, equipment or materials for an unauthorized purpose;

• Possess, use, manufacture, produce, sell exchange or otherwise distribute any drug in violation of any applicable law; or
• Possess, consume, furnish, manufacture, sell, exchange or otherwise distribute any alcoholic beverages except as permitted by applicable law and University policy;
• Encouraging or adding another student in the commission of Student Misconduct;
• Contravening any provision of the Criminal Code of Canada or any other federal, provincial or municipal law;
• Contravening any University policy or procedure except that a contravention of the Student Conduct Policy (Academic Misconduct) which is dealt with under the provisions for Academic Misconduct;
• Disregarding or ignoring a sanction imposed in accordance with the Student Conduct Procedure;
• Engaging in behaviour that results in disruption of class.

Complaints regarding suspected non-academic misconduct may be submitted by individuals using a Complaint Report and attached documentation (where applicable) to the Associate Vice President, Student Affairs, the Registrar or Campus Security.

The complainant should include a detailed description of the incident, including (if known) the name(s) of the student(s) who are the subject of the Complaint, the time(s), date(s) and location(s) of the incident(s), a description of the alleged misconduct, names of potential witnesses and the name(s) and contact information of the Complainant(s).

Complaints may be submitted anonymously, but the Complainant should be aware that this may limit the ability of the Hearing Officer or Hearing Board to investigate, review and resolve the complaint.

An allegation of student non-academic misconduct must be submitted within 10 business days of the alleged act or occurrence or of when the act or occurrence of misconduct was, or reasonably should have been, discovered. The Registrar may extend timelines in extenuating circumstances.

The Registrar, as Hearing Officer, will evaluate an allegation of student non-academic misconduct to determine if the allegation is a Responsible Allegation and meets the definition of Student Academic Misconduct, the allegation should be addressed in an informal manner or other manner and/or if immediate action is warranted to protect the health or safety of the University community.

The Registrar will notify the Complainant in writing within 10 business days of receipt of an allegation of student non-academic misconduct whether the Office has determined that the Complaint contains a responsible allegation and will be investigated, should be addressed in another manner or should not be investigated.

The Registrar will determine whether the Hearing will be before a Hearing Officer or before a Hearing Board giving consideration to the seriousness of the allegations, whether the alleged incident was isolated or one of several alleged incidents and whether the Respondent has been found responsible for student non-academic misconduct in the past.

As part of an investigation, the Hearing Officer or Hearing Board will gather and review relevant information and my conduct interviews as appropriate with the Complainant, Respondent, employees, students and witnesses to the alleged misconduct. The Respondent will be invited to the Hearing. During the Hearing, the Respondent will have the opportunity to respond to any evidence contained in the report (redacting witness identity information if necessary), may present any relevant evidence and may be accompanied by an Advisor of their choice. The Advisor will not be permitted to speak during the Hearing on the student’s behalf.

A student who has been found responsible for Student Non-Academic Misconduct may appeal the decision made by the Hearing Board to the Student Affairs Committee of GFC within 10 business days of receiving the decision.

Sanctions for violation of Student Non-Academic Misconduct are provided in the Student Conduct Procedure under Appendix 2: Sanctions – Student Non-Academic Misconduct.
Student Academic Accommodations

AUArts is committed to decreasing and/or eliminating academic barriers to students with disabilities in accordance with the Alberta Human Rights Act and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. Students with diagnosed sensory, learning, cognitive, physical, neurological, psychological, and temporary disabilities that may affect academic success have access to special services that support the development of an accommodation plan to assist with successful completion of programs and courses.

Accommodation(s) provide for changes made to an education rule, standard, policy, practice, or environment, which enables students with disabilities to experience equal opportunities as others without compromising academic standards. Academic Accommodations require supporting documentation to develop a short term or annual plan based on identified needs. While AUArts will work diligently to provide students with appropriate accommodations, there is no duty to provide instant or perfect accommodation.

Access to Academic Accommodations at AUArts is often a coordinated effort between the faculty, the student and Student Services in the best interests of the student, the study body as a whole, the requirements of the course(s) and available resources.

Accommodations at AUArts are classified as Basic Accommodations or Enhanced Accommodations:

Basic Accommodation Services are supported by the University and include exam accommodations such as extended time, distraction-free environments or use of personal computing (hardware and/or software) technology as well as adjustments to class attendance expectations, and/or extended time for course assignments. Students requiring basic accommodation services are required to register with Student Services. Once registered, the staff will work with you to create an Accommodation Plan. Current medical documentation or similar supportive documentation is required.

Enhanced Accommodation Services (such as Sign Language Interpreters and/or captioning services – CART) are funded through Alberta Student Aid or similar grant programs, often directly to the student. Students requiring enhanced accommodation services with unique resource requirements are required to register with Student Services. Once registered, the staff will work with you to create an Accommodation Plan. Current medical or similar supportive documentation is required.

Accommodations for missed classes, tests, exams or critiques will not be provided for:

- Vacations
- Weddings
- Travel
- Other personal reasons

Academic Support Services are available to all AUArts students free of charge, and without the need for registration or disclosure of any conditions or disabilities. No documentation is required to access academic support services. Academic Support Services include:

- Academic Advising
- Psychological Counselling (with the AUArts Counsellor)
- Learning Assistance Programming – Tutoring, writing support and learning strategies
Roles and Responsibilities – Academic Accommodation

The duty to accommodate is a shared responsibility between students and university employees. Students requiring accommodation are responsible for:

- Registering with Student Services through learning.assistance@auarts.ca prior to the start of term or as soon as the illness/injury or disability is diagnosed. Students are required to complete the Request for Accommodations Form.

- Completing all necessary forms in a timely manner. Note that the forms provide for confirmation of the nature of the disability and the recommended accommodations. Documentation may include psycho-educational assessments, medical reports and/or other related materials. Documentation should be current (up to 3 years old). Documentation need only be provided once unless there are changes to a student’s disability or medical condition. Personal information submitted is collected under the authority of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and is confidential.

- Submitting, to Student Services through learning.assistance@auarts.ca, course syllabi and examination dates within two weeks of the start of term.

- Sharing the Student-Faculty Accommodation Contract with all relevant faculty

- Arranging funding for costs associated with Enhanced Accommodations or the purchase of services, equipment and supplies.

University staff and faculty are responsible for:

- Ensuring all students are aware of the process for registration with Student Services regarding Academic Accommodations.

- Facilitating reasonable accommodation(s) with faculty, problem solving where necessary.

- Implementing accommodations as required.
Exchange and Study Abroad

Undergraduate AUArts students may apply to spend one term of their third year of study on an exchange at a partner institution at one of our Association of Independent Colleges of Art and Design (AICAD) partners or one of our own international exchange partners in Australia, Europe, and the United Kingdom. Exchange programs typically involve a reciprocal tuition waiver, whereby students pay tuition and program fees to AUArts and earn credit towards their degree while studying at a partner institution.

Students interested in programs outside of our formal exchange relationships can consider Study Abroad opportunities, being a visiting student at another university on a letter of permission. AUArts students visiting other universities are required to apply directly to the host university and are responsible for paying tuition and program fees directly to the host university.

AUArts also has summer residency opportunities. For these programs, AUArts students pay affiliate institutional fees to the host university as per Study Abroad programs.

Application information is posted on the AUArts website under Exchange & Study Abroad. Applications for exchange programs are due Monday January 4, 2021 to advising@auarts.ca.

To participate in the Exchange program students must:

- Have no First Year Studies credit deficiencies.
- Have declared a Major.
- Have completed a minimum of 60 credits applicable to their degree requirements.
- Have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher at the time of application and before departure.
- Submit a participation application and application fee of $106 for one application and $53 for subsequent applications to the Exchange and Study Abroad Committee.
- If admitted to the Exchange Program provide all subsequent documentation and fees to host institution; and
- Pay tuition and mandatory fees to AUArts during term of study.

Information on the Exchange and Study Abroad opportunities are available on the AUArts website.

To participate in a Study Abroad program, students must meet the requirements to be a Visiting Student on a letter of permission (also see Transfer Credit in this Calendar).

Exchange students must take a minimum of the equivalent of 12 credits at AUArts while on exchange. Exchange credits will be allocated to replace required 300-level studio, studio elective or School of Critical and Creative Studies course equivalents as approved by the Chair of the School or respective academic unit. A minimum of the equivalent of a “C” grade (60-64%) is required to transfer credit to AUArts. Due to University Residency Requirements, students who transfer to AUArts in the third year are not eligible to apply for the Exchange Program. Transfer credit will be assessed upon receipt of the Academic Transcript from the host institution.

Students accepted to an Exchange Program are required to complete Exchange and Study Abroad Course Approval Form prior to departure and receive approval for required and/or elective courses taken abroad. Any updates to the Exchange and Study Abroad Course Approval Form upon arrival at the host university must also be approved to ensure transfer credit.

Study Abroad students must request a Letter of Permission and complete the Exchange and Study Abroad Course Approval Form. Any updates to the Exchange and Study Abroad Course Approval Form must also be approved to ensure transfer credit. Study Abroad students are responsible for ensuring that a final academic transcript is sent to the Registrar’s Office.
Campus Regulations

Alcohol Use
Liquor may only be consumed in licensed areas in accordance with Alberta Liquor Control Board (ALCB) licensing requirements. ALCB regulations prohibit the consumption of alcohol in unlicensed areas.

Animals on Campus
AUArts campus allows for animals on campus providing they are either a service dog, a guide dog, an emotional support animal as authorized under the Duty to Accommodate Procedure, animals serving as part of an emergency services unit (i.e. police, fire or ambulance) or, as approved by the University, through an Animal on Campus Application.

Authorized animals must be on a leash, displaying City of Calgary licenses and any other licenses required, be under the direct control and supervision of its owner or handler and may not be left unattended.

Art Installations & Exhibitions
Art installations in areas other than those designated as critique, studio or exhibition spaces must be pre-approved by the Director of Facilities and must not constitute a hazard or potential injury to any constituent group within the University. For information on booking space for exhibitions or critiques in designated gallery and exhibition spaces please see the area Educational Art Technician.

Building Access
Regular Hours: AUArts campus is open to those authorized to gain access from 7:00 am to 1:00 am, seven days a week, except for advertised closures.
Summer Hours: AUArts campus is open to those authorized to gain access from 7:00 am to 11:00 pm, seven days a week, except for advertised closures.

ID Cards
AUArts ID Cards will be issued to all full-time, part-time, students/staff/faculty, including students enrolled in Continuing Education and Professional Development courses.

Faculty, staff and students are required to wear an AUArts ID card at all times while on campus.

Lost and Found
The University Lost and Found is located in the Security Office in the Main Mall.

Personal Property
Students, faculty and staff at AUArts are responsible for their own personal property. Personal electrical appliances are not permissible in studio areas under any circumstances. Students are advised to be cautious and are asked to report any suspicious persons or activities to Security staff on duty.

Security
The Security Office is located in the Main Mall on the 3rd level of campus. Security can be reached at 403-680-1451 or by email at security@auarts.ca.

Sexual Violence
AUArts does not tolerate Sexual Violence, and is committed to its prevention as provided for in the Sexual Violence Policy. Resources for students and employees are available in the Sexual Violence Policy Appendix A. The Critical Path for Reporting Sexual Violence and the Sexual Violence Report Form provide support and guidance for reporting. AUArts Security is available to guide students and/or employees in the reporting of any alleged occurrences of Sexual Violence.

Smoking and Cannabis
AUArts is a non-smoking campus and the City of Calgary by-laws prohibit the consumption of marijuana in the City. Both the AUArts Substance Use and Non-Smoking Polices provide guidance on restrictions. Students are not permitted to be impaired while in studios. The use, distribution, offering, possession or selling of cannabis on campus is strictly prohibited. Individuals found in contravention of these regulations will be subject to the provisions of the Student Conduct Procedure.
Health & Safety Regulations

Accidents
First aid kits are easily accessible across the campus and their locations are marked on the black Health & Safety boards located inside each studio. The primary First Aid Station on the Mall level in the Security Office. All accidents or injuries, regardless of severity, must be reported to the instructor, the area technician and to Security staff on duty, preferably within 24 hours and in all cases within 48 hours. Students must also complete an Incident form available from the Security Office or on the AUArts Safe App.

Chemicals
Students will have access to and be present in areas where controlled chemicals are used. It is expected that students follow all directions from instructors and technicians regarding these products and their safe use and disposal. Students are required to also familiarize themselves with all Workplace Hazardous Materials Information Sheets (WHMIS 2015) where applicable.

Emergencies
The following should occur in all emergency situations:

- Give assistance or direction as appropriate;
- Call for help using emergency telephones located throughout the university or press 911 on a phone;
- Complete an Incident Report with Security. Security can be reached at 403-284-7672.

Students and staff are required to familiarize themselves with the emergency telephones in their studio and working areas. Instructions are posted on the black Health & Safety boards throughout inside each studio.

The University may provide for emergency transportation in the case of injury or illness that does not require 911 transportation. Such transportation may be arranged by contacting Security at 403-284-7672 or the university switchboard at 403-284-7600.

Fire and Safety
All students should familiarize themselves with the fire warning systems, extinguishers and emergency exits in their individual areas as well as other emergency procedures, which are posted throughout the studio areas.

Many art materials are hazardous, however with proper care and attention they can be used safely. The Health Safety and Security Committee are comprised of representatives from the AUArts Students’ Association, faculty, staff (AUPE) and university administration. Individuals with concerns about safe studio practices should contact their committee representative.

Weapons on Campus
AUArts prohibits the possession of any weapon or prop weapon, except as set forth for use in class/studio and/or with Art Models as per the Weapons on Campus Policy. Calgary Police services will be notified in all cases where an unauthorized weapon is found to be on AUArts property. An individual in possession of an unauthorized weapon or prop weapon may also be subject to disciplinary action up to and including expulsion from the University or termination of employment, in accordance with AUArts' policies, procedures or employee collective agreements.
Undergraduate General Degree Requirements

Programs
The Alberta University of the Arts offers four-year undergraduate programs leading to Bachelor of Design and Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees. First Year Studies is a common first year experience for both degrees. The Bachelor of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Design programs emphasize studio practice placed in social and cultural contexts through an integrated studio and School of Critical and Creative Studies curriculum.

Required and elective courses are offered through the School of Communication Design, the School of Craft and Emerging Media, the School of Critical and Creative Studies and the School of Visual Art.

General Degree Requirements

The Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree (BFA) is offered with Majors in Ceramics, Drawing, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals, Media Arts, Painting, Print Media, and Sculpture.

Admission to Bachelor of Fine Arts majors is open. Students who intend to major in one of the Bachelor of Fine Arts Majors may declare once they have successfully completed 30 credit hours. Students must declare a Major upon their completion of 60 credit hours. Students must also meet any specific requirements for admission to the Major. Students must be in clear academic standing when they declare a Major.

Registration priority in 200 and 300-level studio courses may be given to students who have declared and are admitted to their chosen Major. In consultation with a student advisor, a student may change their declared major. Students are cautioned that changes in majors between programs or Schools may require additional courses to be completed to meet graduation requirements.

Students must complete a total of 120 credits as noted for each BFA Program to earn the BFA degree. Consult the School of Craft and Emerging Media and School of Visual Art for detailed information on BFA Programs.

The Bachelor of Design Degree (BDes) is offered with Majors in Photography and Visual Communications Design. Study streams in Visual Communications Design that focus learner interest are available in Advertising / Graphic Design and Illustration / Character Design. Both Bachelor of Design majors are restricted admission Majors. Students are eligible to apply to these Majors after successfully completing First Year Studies.

Registration priority in 200 and 300-level studio course may be given to students who have declared and are admitted to their chosen Major. In consultation with an academic advisor, a student may change their declared Major. Students are cautioned that changes in majors between programs or Schools may require additional courses to be completed to meet graduation requirements.

Students must complete a total of 120 credits as noted for each BDes Program to earn the BDes degree. Consult the School of Communication Design for information on the BDes Program.

Registration Responsibilities and Limitations

The course timetable and detailed major requirements will be posted on the website at least one week in advance of registration. The University reserves the right to make adjustments to the course timetable up to the end of the second week of classes, if necessary.

Adjustments may include but are not limited to the addition, cancellation, and/or combination of course sections, as well as changes to the day, time, instructor and/or capacity of the course sections. In the case where course sections are combined, students will not be entitled to a reduction in tuition fees.

Registration in courses is subject to course and space availability and meeting prerequisites at the time of registration. The University cannot guarantee that space will be available in all desired courses. Space in major courses may be reserved for students who have declared the major, however, a student’s declaration of major does not guarantee registration in all required courses. Where space is a limiting factor and the number of students in a major exceeds the number of spaces in a major course, the student’s registration priority may determine their access to the course.

Registration priority is determined according to accumulation of credit by level and cumulative grade point average (CGPA).

Students are responsible for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of their own registration and change of registration. Students are advised to review a Program Planning Guide and contact a Student Academic Advisor in advance of registration for assistance in course selection and program planning.
First Year Studies

First Year Studies is a common first year program of studies leading to the Bachelor of Design and Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree Programs with required and elective courses offered from the School of Communication Design, the School of Craft and Emerging Media, the School of Critical and Creative Studies and the School of Visual Art.

First Year Studies involves the completion of Studio and Non-Studio coursework. Studio coursework involves both 2 Dimensional (2D) and 3 Dimensional (3D) courses. Students complete a total of 30 credits in First Year Studies. A minimum of 24 credits must be completed in order to progress to the second year of any BFA Program, while the BDes Program requires the completion of First Year Studies or equivalent for admission.

School of Communication Design

The School of Communication Design (SCD) offers the Bachelor of Design (BDes) degree with majors in Visual Communications Design and Photography. Visual Communication Design has two streams – Illustration/Character Design and Graphic Design/Advertising.

In addition to the Majors, SCD offers Minors in Animation and Illustration. The Illustration Minor is open to BFA students and students in the BDes Graphic Design/Advertising Stream or Photography Major.

BDes students are eligible to complete Minors in Comics (School of Critical and Creative Studies), Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals, Media Arts, Object Design and Fabrication (School of Craft and Emerging Media) or Print Media (School of Visual Art).

Bachelor of Design Degree Program

Admission to Bachelor of Design

Admission to the Bachelor of Design majors is competitive and is based on a combination of GPA and portfolio assessment in conjunction with the successful completion of First Year Studies (FYS) or equivalent. Applications for the Bachelor of Design Program majors are accepted annually in May. Students completing FYS deficiencies during the Spring/Summer may be given provisional consideration. Students must be in clear academic standing when they apply to a Bachelor of Design Major.

SCD retains the right to make early admission offers to students who present with a high GPA in their first term at AUArts, have registered for all recommended courses and are on track to complete all required First Year Studies courses (Early Conditional Admission).

It is strongly recommended that applicants to the Bachelor of Design program majors be able to express themselves using writing, colour theory, drawing and design fundamentals. All program candidates are expected to possess basic computer skills and be prepared to engage in independent research.

Advancement to Third and Fourth Year

Students must successfully complete all of their required Major courses in order to advance to their next year of study. Students may carry deficiencies in School of Critical and Creative Studies courses only.

Program Progression

Bachelor of Design students must obtain a minimum grade of "C-" in all required major courses in order to progress in clear standing. Students who receive an "F" grade in a required Major course will be withdrawn from their major (status for students who withdraw from a major course will be determined by the appropriate School Chair).

Students who receive a passing grade of less than "C-" in a required Major course will be placed on program probation for the next term. Such students will be expected to obtain a minimum of "C-" in all Major courses during their probationary term and will receive feedback from their instructor(s) at midterm concerning their progress in their major course(s). Program probationary students are also advised to meet with the Chair to discuss their program status. Program probationary students who fail to achieve a minimum grade of "C-" in a required Major course or courses at the end of the probationary term will be withdrawn from the Major.

Students who are withdrawn from a Bachelor of Design Major may be enrolled as BFA students until such time as they are readmitted to the School of Communication Design.

AUArts graduates who were previously awarded the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Visual Communications Design may apply to change their credential from the BFA to the BDes. In order to receive the BDes credential, Visual Communications Design BFA graduates must surrender their BFA parchment and submit the applicable credential replacement fee.

- 12-15 credits in 300-level School of Critical and Creative Studies courses
- 3-6 credits in 400-level School of Critical and Creative Studies courses

Both Bachelor of Design Majors are designed to offer students a progressive learning experience. The combination of courses allows students to develop their knowledge, skills, and competencies relevant to their major area of study through a combination of studio and School of Critical and Creative Studies courses.

Specific course requirements for the Bachelor of Design majors are outlined below.
BDes Graphic Design/Advertising

Upon successful completion of a Bachelor of Design degree, students will be prepared to engage in independent advanced applied research to inform and support the design process, apply advanced strategic problem-solving concepts, techniques and approaches to develop sophisticated design solutions, understand the significance of audience’s cultural, business and social factors in the context of specific communication problems and social and market conditions and demonstrate a professionally competent working understanding of tools and technology in the creation, reproduction and distribution of creative concepts and effective communication solutions.

The Graphic Design/Advertising Stream prepares students to be clear and creative visual communicators, focusing on conceptual inventiveness in mediums that speak to contemporary culture.

Admission to the Graphic Design / Advertising Stream
Students may apply to major in Visual Communications Design once they have successfully completed 30 credit hours in First Year Studies or equivalent.

School of Craft and Emerging Media

The School of Craft and Emerging Media (SCEM) offers the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree (BFA) with Majors in Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals and Media Arts and Minors in Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals, Media Arts and Object Design and Fabrication.

In addition to the School of Craft and Emerging Media BFA options, the School of Visual Art offers Majors in Drawing, Painting, Print Media and Sculpture and Minors in Print Media.

Additional Minors are available for BFA students in Animation and Illustration through the School of Communication Design and Comics through the School of Critical and Creative Studies.

School of Craft and Emerging Media (SCEM) Course Codes:
- CRMC: Ceramics
- FBRE: Fibre
- GLSS: Glass
- JWLM: Jewellery and Metals
- MADT: Media Arts & Digital Technologies
- NASC: Natural Science
- OBDF: 3D Object Design

Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree Program

Students may declare a Major in a SCEM BFA program once they have successfully completed 30 credits. Students must declare a major upon completion of 60 credits.

In order to register in 200-level courses, students must have completed 24 credit hours of First Year Studies, of which 12 credit hours must be represented by studio courses.

In consultation with a Student Advisor, a student may change their declared major. Students are cautioned that changes in majors may require additional courses to be completed to meet graduation requirements.

BFA Ceramics

In the Ceramics program students explore the role of function, sculptural approaches, emerging technologies, historical precedents, and contemporary practice within a comprehensive, studio-based and theoretical program of study. Graduates will be able to integrate materials and processes appropriate to their individual studio practice through a comprehensive theoretical and practical understanding of ceramics. Students will complete a body of work demonstrative of an advanced awareness of the integration of conceptual considerations, aesthetic choices and problem-solving strategies through a focused work ethic. They will demonstrate knowledge of ceramic technology and be able to critically articulate, analyze and synthesize contemporary and historical discourses within the contexts of craft, design and fine art.

BFA Fibre

The Fibre program focuses on the synthesis of academic research with studio-based inquiry in the pursuit of knowledge and an understanding of the relevance of discipline-specific skills in mixed media, surface design and/or weaving and the application of these skills in the production of original creative work. Students will demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of contemporary fibre practice, its position relative to other disciplines, historical precedents and the material culture of textiles in art, craft and design. They will be able to critically analyze and discuss objects and artwork in a variety of contexts, demonstrating knowledge of existing and emergent technologies as they relate to the discipline.

Credits Required for Graduation 120
BFA Jewellery and Metals

The Jewellery and Metals program offers a multidisciplinary craft degree which explores ideas of making centred around ornamentation, the body, and functionality. Students investigate technical and material considerations within the discipline, contemporary aesthetics, and pressing conceptual questions and discourse of contemporary craft theory. Students will demonstrate the ability to design, critically analyze, problem solve, research, make technical decisions, develop concepts and take calculated risks in the realization of projects from initial concept to finished object.

BFA Media Arts - Interactivity

Media Arts explores strategies, devices and technologies that carry, change, and effect messages, narratives, images, sounds, and experiences. Media Arts students learn how to use sensors, circuits, mechanical devices as well as video, film, sound, performance art, and multimedia to express themselves.

The Interactivity Stream focuses on how artists create a dialogue between art and audience.

BFA Media Arts – Time-based Arts

Media Arts explores strategies, devices and technologies that carry, change, and effect messages, narratives, images, sounds, and experiences. Media Arts students learn how to use sensors, circuits, mechanical devices as well as video, film, sound, performance art, and multimedia to express themselves.

The Time-based Arts Stream focuses on the expressive use of technology.

School of Critical and Creative Studies

The School of Critical and Creative Studies (SCCS) offers required and elective foundational and contextual non-studio courses in AUArts Degree programs. Areas of study include: Art History and Visual Culture; Design History and Theory; English Literature and Creative Writing; Cultural Studies; Material Culture and Cultural Anthropology; and Cinema and Media Studies.

The School of Critical and Creative Studies offers a Minor in Comics.

Courses in SCCS are broadly categorized as Art History and General Studies. Art History (AHIS) includes all courses in Art History. General Studies includes courses in Critical and Creative Studies (CCST), English (ENGL), Social Science (SOSC), Professional Practices (PPRL) and Natural Sciences (NASC), noting that courses in Natural Sciences are offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media.

SCCS Course Codes:
- AHIS: Art History
- CCST: Critical and Creative Studies
- ENGL: English
- HUMN: Humanities
- PPRL: Professional Related
- SOSC: Social Science
School of Visual Art

The School of Visual Art (SVA) offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree with Majors in Drawing, Painting, Print Media and Sculpture and a Minor in Print Media.

In addition to the School of Visual Art’s BFA options, the School of Craft and Emerging Media offers Majors in Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals and Media Arts, as well as Minors in Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Jewellery and Metals, Media Arts and Object Design and Fabrication.

Additional Minors are available for BFA students in Animation and Illustration through the School of Communication Design, as well as Comics through the School of Critical and Creative Studies.

School of Visual Art Course Codes:
- ACAD: Special Topics
- DRWF: First Year Studies Drawing
- DRWG: Drawing
- FINA: Fine Art Practicum
- PNTG: Painting
- PRNT: Print Media
- SCLP: Sculpture

Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree Program

Students may declare a major in a BFA program once they have successfully completed 30 credits. Students must declare a major upon completion of 60 credit hours.

In order to register in 200-level courses, students must have completed 24 credit hours of First Year Studies, of which 12 credit hours must be represented by studio courses.

In consultation with a student advisor, a student may change their declared Major. Students are cautioned that changes in majors may require additional courses to be completed in order to meet graduation requirements.

Within these general requirements, BFA School of Visual Art Majors are required to complete the following minimum studio and Critical and Creative Studies credits. Specific BFA Major Requirements are outlined separately in the next section of this document:

75-78 Studio Credits
- 18 credits in 100-level studio courses
- 15-18 credits in 200-level studio courses within which no more than 18 credits in one studio area
- 18 credits in 300-level studio courses
- 24 credits in 400-level studio courses

42-46 School of Critical and Creative Studies Credits (Art History & General Studies)
- 12 credits in 100-level School of Critical and Creative Studies courses
- 12-15 credits in 200-level School of Critical and Creative Studies courses
- 18 credits in 300/400-level School of Critical and Creative Studies courses
BFA Drawing

BFA Drawing graduates will be able to demonstrate subject literacy through effective speaking, writing and presenting, effectively critique one's own work and the work of others, demonstrate an understanding of research methodologies and a critical and creative approach to an independent artist practice. Further, graduates will use interdisciplinary concepts and approaches, apply advanced competition levels to a wide range of presentation methods, exhibit ethical judgement, recognize, and articulate personal strengths and limitations and express a personal creative identity and philosophy clearly.

Minors

Minors represent clusters of courses which justify recognition of a secondary credential and are based on discipline. A Minor normally consists of 6-8 courses (18-24 credits) with a coherence based on discipline, theme and/or methodology. AUArts offers Minors in Animation, Comics, Ceramics, Fibre, Glass, Illustration, Jewellery and Metals, Media Arts, Object Design and Fabrication and Print Media.

Students may earn one Minor. Students may apply up to three required courses from their degree program to meet the requirements of the Minor.

Minors may require students to take courses above and beyond their Major’s degree requirements. Scheduling may prevent individual students from being able to access all courses in a specific Minor in the same time frame as they are completing the requirements for their degree.

Students seeking a Minor in Illustration are required to apply to the School of Communication Design prior to registration in Minor courses. Contact a Student Academic Advisor for more information. For all other Minors, students are required to apply to receive a Minor at the time of application for graduation.
Animation Minor

Animation is a distinctive and highly influential form of expression in the dynamic of contemporary global culture. With this in mind, the Animation Minor, offered through the School of Communication Design, focuses on facilitating the development of original creators, providing a broad base of academic and technical support for exploration in the conceptualization and creation of digital and analog forms of expression in graphically created motion art works. This open approach will allow students to express themselves in various contexts, be it an animated short, transmedia explorations, spreadable media, narrative sequential arts, gallery installations, or one of the many other applications of these forms of media art.

This Minor will also strive to provide a foundation for visual and media literacy to further augment and strengthen the students understanding and abilities beyond the applications of motion and narrative.

- Students must complete six of the following course offerings, totaling 18 credits
- A minimum of three courses must be taken at the 200 level or higher
- A minimum of two courses must be taken at the 300 level or higher

Comics Minor

Comics, as an area of study is, at its core, the study of narration through images in sequence, typically but not always in combination with words. The Comics Minor is offered through the School of Critical and Creative Studies.

Fundamentally interdisciplinary, it has many points of contact with Animation, Film, Print, Media Art, Popular Culture Studies and English but is clearly distinct from all of these areas. It is a form, the content of which can vary widely across historical eras and cultures and which, in recent years, has seen applications in fields as diverse as journalism, law, medicine, and archaeology.

Students must complete six of the following course offerings, totaling 18 credits.

- Two courses from Box A* - 2 x 3 (6) credits
- One course from Box A* or Box B - 3 credits
- One course from Box B - 3 credits
- ENGL.222 Comics History or ENGL.202 Survey of Manga in Translation – 3 credits
- ENGL.333 The Graphic Novel – 3 credits

Ceramics Minor

The Ceramics Minor, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, allows students to choose their methodological focus while providing them with an overview of the discipline complemented by a focused, independently driven studio course (CRMC 320 or CRMC 323). Upon successfully completing the minor in Ceramics, students will have a comprehensive theoretical understanding of ceramics technology through a focused experiential and experimental study of materials as well as an active implementation of current health and safety practices in the ceramics studio environment.

The course sequence develops basic competence in the technical and aesthetic aspects of forming methods and surface treatments through a series of directed and independent studio projects. Through course content and independent research, students will develop a fundamental understanding of historical and contemporary ceramics practice.

- Students must complete six of the following course offerings, totaling 18 credits
- A minimum of three courses must be taken at the 200-level or higher.
- A minimum of two courses must be taken at the 300-level or higher.

Fibre Minor

The Fibre Minor, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, facilitates studio-based inquiry across surface design, weaving and mixed media. In all Fibre courses, contemporary practice and personal expression are highlighted. The Minor is envisioned as an access point for students exploring hybrid creative practices in which fibre-based methodologies are conceptually generative.

Second year courses focus on building a flexible skill base, encouraging students to combine techniques and materials in experimental ways. Studio health and safety and best practices for working in communal studio spaces are also covered. In third year, the curricular focus shifts toward the application of skill to realize independent, student-driven inquiry.

In combination the courses required for the Minor will provide basic technical competence along with an understanding of contemporary fibre practice in art, craft and design.

Students who are in good academic standing and are not already majoring in Fibre can enroll in the Fibre Minor. Minor degree students are required to complete total of 18 credits (6 courses).

Glass Minor

The Glass Minor, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, focuses on the use of glass as a sculptural material through studio-based inquiry. Courses within this Minor will introduce students to an array of techniques, approaches to material, and idea development strategies in support of their goals. Through open pathways in the progression of classes, students in this minor may choose to focus on materially oriented approaches such as kiln forming or hot glass, or they may opt to pursue independent trajectories within our classes in support of conceptually driven ends.

Upon the completion of this Minor, students can expect to have a grounding in glass-related technical information including safe use of the studio, studio tools & equipment. They will have gained experience with a number of approaches to glass and will have developed a material focus using glass. They will have developed artwork using glass and a conceptual framework that supports their artwork and interest in Glass as a sculptural material.

Students who are in good academic standing and are not already majoring in Glass can enroll in the Glass Minor. Minor degree students are required to complete total of 18 credits (6 courses).

Illustration Minor

The Illustration Minor, offered through the School of Communication Design, is open to all AUArts Degree students who are not BDes Illustration/Character Design Stream Majors who have completed their First Year and are in good academic standing.

All non-School of Communication Design Majors applying for entry to the Illustration Minor must submit a portfolio of original work for review by the Chair and Senior SCD Illustration faculty. The portfolio and application for admission to the Illustration Minor may be submitted at any time prior to enrolling in Illustration Minor 200, or 300-level courses.

Requirements for the Illustration Minor:

- Students admitted to the Illustration Minor must maintain a minimum grade of C- in all of their Minor courses.
- Students must complete 6 of the following 11 course offerings, totaling 18 credits at the 200-level and above, in a combination of courses taken from all three study areas.
- A minimum of two courses at each of the 200 and 300 levels must be completed.

Jewellery and Metals Minor

The Jewellery and Metals Minor, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, delivers a foundational skill set in the medium through the exploration of fabrication, casting and surface treatment. Additional courses from the Object Design and Fabrication Minor and Craft History and Theory will round out the Minor’s offerings. Students pursuing this Minor will be challenged to work with a multitude of materials, making connections between the disciplines of art, craft, and design.

Requirements for the Jewellery and Metals Minor:
- Students must complete six of the following course offerings, totaling 18 credits.
- A minimum of three courses must be taken at the 200 level or higher.

Media Arts Minor

The Minor in Media Arts, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, allows students in other programs to augment their developing practices with the technical, methodological, theoretical, and critical conceptual rigor of the Media Arts program. Students are able to choose from an assortment of pathways or mix and match their courses in a way that bests supports their particular trajectories.

Students will be exposed to a variety of media, technologies, and practices, while challenging them to contextualize these within a critical theoretical and trans-disciplinary framework. Throughout the minor, students will develop strong technical and conceptual competencies and learn to maintain and renew their knowledge independently through life-long learning. This will not only serve them throughout their art practice but will support them in diverse future opportunities after graduation.

Students who are in good academic standing and are not already majoring in Media Arts can enroll in the Media Arts Minor. Minor degree students are required to complete total of 18 credits (6 courses).

Object Design and Fabrication Minor

The Object Design and Fabrication Minor, offered through the School of Craft and Emerging Media, goes beyond delivering proficiencies in digital fabrication technologies. In addition to the core OBDF courses, electives have been selected for this Minor from programs across each of AUArts' schools. All of these existing courses contribute to one of two additional designated study areas for the OBDF Minor: History, Theory and Context, and Invention Literacy and Fabrication Methodologies.

Students pursuing this Minor will be challenged to work collaboratively in an interdisciplinary studio environment, to develop skills that foster the synthesis of new and emerging technologies, to experiment with tools and materials as a means to understand and articulate the reciprocal relationships between matter and ideas, and to draw meaningful connections between adjacent disciplines within art, craft and design.

Requirements for the Object Design and Fabrication Minor:
- Students must complete six of the following course offerings, totaling 18 credits, in a combination of courses taken from all three study areas.
- A minimum of three courses must be taken at 200 level or higher.
- A minimum of two courses must be taken at 300 level or higher.

- All other courses listed are elective for this Minor.
Print Media Minor
The Print Media Minor, offered through the School of Visual Art, allows students to explore the rich traditions of printmaking, experiment with historical and contemporary processes, and devise new and innovative forms of expression within the medium.

Print Media majors acquire an understanding of historical and contemporary print processes, printing skills, and the ability to make innovative choices.

The Print Media Minor makes it possible for students to diversify their degrees. Students who are in good academic standing and are not already majoring in Print Media can enroll in the Print Media Minor.

Minor degree students are required to complete total of 18 credits (6 courses).

Graduate Program - MFA in Craft Media

Program Overview
The AUArts Master of Fine Arts in Craft Media (MFA) degree is the standard terminal degree required for teaching craft, design and visual art at post-secondary educational institutions. This program facilitates high-level, cross-disciplinary creative research in the context of emerging craft discourses. Graduate students will undertake practice-led investigations grounded in a comprehensive understanding of research methodologies, current pedagogy and professional practice.

Dedicated craft practitioners with relevant knowledge of critical and historical discourse will be admitted to the program. Successful candidates will demonstrate an active exhibition and/or publication record and possess attributes, capabilities and research interests that will contribute to their success as makers, teachers and scholars.

Building upon knowledge and competencies acquired at the undergraduate level, individual student progression in the MFA in Craft Media requires specialized focus, depth of research and learner autonomy throughout. As key participants in the creative research culture at AUArts, graduate students will discover, test, and transform knowledge in their chosen field.

The core of the MFA in Craft Media is practice-led research sustained through five Graduate Studio courses. Alongside studio work, students will advance established knowledge in their chosen field(s), as they investigate methodologies for research, pedagogy and professional practice. Research Methods and Craft Discourse seminars will provide a contextual framework and methodological approaches to facilitate the generation and application of original knowledge.

Graduate students may choose to work within one discipline (Ceramics, Glass, Fibre, or Jewellery and Metals) or they may develop a cross-disciplinary craft program of study or initiate an interdisciplinary program by adding another discipline to their craft specialization. In consultation with their Interim and then Principal Supervisor, students will develop and refine a Research Plan outlining anticipated research directions, methodologies and plans for practice-led research throughout the program.

During their individualized program of study, graduate students will be required to create and sustain an original body of studio work and corollary creative research that extends the boundaries of existing knowledge in their chosen field. The MFA in Craft Media culminates in the defense of a Thesis Project comprising a Thesis Exhibition and Paper.

Program Structure
The MFA in Craft Media is offered for full-time studies only. The minimum and maximum duration of study is as follows:

Graduate Program Admissions

Admissions to an Alberta University of the Arts MFA program is competitive and is based upon academic standing, a demonstrated studio practice, and a commitment to undertake a rigorous program of study as determined by the Graduate Program Committee. Prospective students should obtain information about admission requirements and procedures from the AUArts website or from the Research and Graduate Studies Office at graduatstudies@auarts.ca.

Applicants meeting the minimum university requirements for admission given below are not assured admission into any graduate program. Normally, each graduate program will have admission requirements in addition to the minimum published. Furthermore, program admission is limited to students whose background and interests are compatible with available resources and faculty expertise.

Academic Requirements
Minimum requirements for admission include:

- A relevant baccalaureate degree with a minimum GPA of 3.0 from a recognized institution.
- An adequate level of proficiency in English as evidenced by one of the following:
  - Successful completion of an undergraduate degree from a school where English is the primary language of instruction,
  - Achievement of an official Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) score of at least 93 on the internet-based test (iBT) with a minimum score of 20 in each of the four testing sections, 580 on the paper-based test (PBT), or 237 on the computer-based test (CBT), or
  - Achievement of a score of 7.0 or higher on the International English Language Testing System (IELTS), or
  - The equivalent in other accepted measures of English proficiency.

MFA Application Guidelines
Application to the MFA program is online only via Apply Alberta. The application and accompanying materials must be submitted before the specified deadline.

Applicants are advised to check with the Research and Graduate Studies Office regarding application procedures and deadlines for their chosen graduate program.

Application Requirements and Admissions Process

Applicants are required to submit the following materials and documents as advised on the AUArts website:

Digital Portfolio - The digital portfolio should include up to 20 examples of work. Applicants may upload images (jpg), video (mov,wmv,flv), audio (mp3) or PDF documents. Relevant publications (reviews, critical essays, etc.) (up to 3) authored by the applicant or others, as evidence of professional activity may be submitted in PDF format along with portfolio.

Statement of Intent
A Statement of Intent must:

- propose a plan of graduate study and research at AUArts;
- the statement should outline specific educational objectives and the applicant’s expectations regarding graduate study;
- explain how the content/focus of the visual work represented in the portfolio provides a strong foundation for the proposed plan of study, demonstrate historical, theoretical, and critical awareness of the field of study and the applicant’s relationship to it, highlight any interests and/or intentions, and
- identify potential faculty supervisors listing their names in prioritized order with rationale.

Applicants should submit their statement of intent with their portfolio.

Letters of Recommendation
Two letters of recommendation should be submitted by faculty members and/or professionals (with whom the applicant has most recently studied or worked) commenting on the applicant’s educational and professional qualifications. At least one referee must be a faculty member. Each letter must include the full names and contact information of both the applicant and the referee. All referees must send their letters of recommendation as indicated on the AUArts website.
Transcripts
Applicants must ensure the submission of official transcripts from each post-secondary institution attended, as detailed on the AUArts Graduate Studies website. Official transcripts issued in a language other than English must be accompanied by notarized English translations. International applicants must submit detailed course descriptions, translated and notarized if not in English, in order for an evaluation to be completed.

Oral Interview
In addition to the general and program specific requirements, each applicant will be required to take part in an oral interview with at least two members of the Graduate Program Committee.

Curriculum Vitae
The CV should concisely outline related professional experience (exhibitions, publications awards) and activities that convey a sense of commitment to a career in the arts/Maximum 4 pgs.

Transfer Credit
AUArts will consider transfer credit form applicants seeking advanced credit from a recognized institution and not have been used for any degree or diploma accreditation. The courses must be graded, graduate-level courses, and the performance must be equivalent to a B or higher at AUArts. Transfer credit is not normally given for courses taken more than five years before admission or for courses taken for the purpose of qualifying for admission.

Prior Learning Assessment
An individual who does not meet formal academic requirements but who has significant professional achievements may be considered for admission to a graduate program. The candidate must provide the relevant graduate program with clear evidence demonstrating a potential to successfully undertake the proposed program of study. Such a candidate is advised to make early contact with the Graduate Program Office. In all cases, the decision of whether the candidate will be admitted rests with the Graduate Program Committee.

Applicants are encouraged to visit the campus to see if the facilities and faculty match their requirements. If a visit is not possible the Research and Graduate Studies Office will be pleased to respond to specific inquiries by email graduates@auarts.ca

Admission Categories
- Regular
  Regular students may be admitted to a program providing that admission qualifications are met and appropriate resources are available.

- Deferred
  A student who has been offered regular admission may request deferral of up to one year with approval from the Office of Research and Graduate Studies.

- Conditional
  A conditional admission may be offered to an applicant who is substantially ready to undertake a program but who has not completed all admission requirements at the time of application. An offer of conditional admission will specify the remaining requirements to be met and a limited time period within which to meet them. Normally, the requirements must be fulfilled either prior to registering in the program, or within the first term of registration.

- Qualifying
  A student may be admitted as a qualifying graduate student when the student meets the qualifications for admission but lacks the necessary background for a graduate program in a chosen area of specialization. A qualifying student is required to take more courses in a degree program than a regular graduate student. Upon satisfactory completion of a qualifying term or year, the student will be transferred to regular student status. Qualifying status will not be granted for a period exceeding one year.

- Visiting and Exchange Students
  Students from other institutions may engage in course or research work at AUArts for credit at their home institution. It should be noted that admission as a visiting or exchange student does not guarantee later admission to the graduate program at AUArts. A visiting or exchange student must submit the appropriate application/approval form.

Acceptance of an exchange student is subject to coordination of program requirements between AUArts and the home institution as well as a Graduate Program Committee vetting of the student’s background and AUArts’ resources. Students from institutions with reciprocal fee agreements pay tuition fees at their home institution and any applicable general fees at AUArts. Students from institutions without such an agreement pay all fees at AUArts.
Application to a Second Graduate Degree
Applicants with a graduate degree from another university may apply for admission to a master’s degree program at AUArts under the following constraints:
• no course work taken for the first degree shall count towards the second,
• none of the research completed for the first degree shall be replicated for the second.

Offer of Admission
An offer of admission to a graduate program shall specify the program to which the student is admitted, funding commitments, and any other details and conditions relating to the offer.

Readmission
A student who withdrew or was withdrawn from a program and wishes to be readmitted must apply for readmission to the graduate program. The submission of official transcripts for any academic work done since departure may be requested. If readmission is granted, then program requirements, completion time, funding commitments, and any other details and conditions will be stipulated in the offer of readmission. An offer of readmission to a graduate program will specify the program specifications, completion time, conditions related to the readmission, and any offer of funding.

Retention of Student Records
Graduate Students’ files are kept in the Research and Graduate Studies Office. All application documents become the property of AUArts and cannot be returned to the students.

Admissions Dates and Deadlines
AUArts admits students annually to the MFA in Craft Media program in the Fall (September). If the date falls on a weekend or a holiday the deadline will be the next business day.

Graduate Student Registration
Graduate students register for their program every term (Fall, Winter and Spring/Summer) throughout the tenure of their program. Registration dates and other information will be issued to eligible students by email. Registration information is available in the AUArts Academic Calendar or on the AUArts website.

It is recommended that MFA students follow the program structure to successfully complete the program within the stipulated time. Any changes to registration require consultation with their Principal Supervisor and Director of Research and Graduate Studies.
MFA Degree Progression

Progress Evaluation
Each student's Graduate Supervisory Committee meets at least once per term (except for the first and third term) to review their performance. The student is required to maintain at least a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of B (3.0) or will be placed in academic probation. Students may be on probation for a maximum of one term.

- A student on academic probation who fails to achieve a 3.0 term CGPA by the end of the next term will be withdrawn from the program.
- A “C” grade or below indicates failure at the graduate level and cannot be counted toward Graduate Studies course requirements.
- An unreported grade or Incomplete (see below) is not calculated in determining the eligibility for academic probation.
- A student on academic probation may be granted a Leave of Absence with the understanding that re-enrollment is subject to conditions specified by the Director of Research and Graduate Studies. Conditions for re-enrollment will be specified in writing at the time the leave is approved.

Academic Probation for Graduate Students
Students are expected to maintain a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 3.0 or higher and pass all courses in each term of their program. Students who fail to maintain a CGPA of 3.0 will be placed on academic probation for the next term in which they register. In order to clear their standing, probationary students must achieve a CGPA of 3.0 or higher by the end of the probationary term.

Probationary students who fail to achieve a CGPA of at least 3.0 by the end of the probationary term will be academically withdrawn from the program and will not be eligible for readmission to the program for a minimum period of 12 months from the date of their academic withdrawal.

Students who have been academically withdrawn from the university must apply for readmission in accordance with normal admission deadlines and procedures. Students readmitted after a period of academic withdrawal will be subject to the conditions specified above. Students who achieve a CGPA of at least 3.0 by the conclusion of this probationary term will be academically withdrawn from the program and not be eligible for future readmission.

Leave of Absence
Although students are expected to maintain continuous registration, a student may apply to go on leave if both of the following conditions obtain:

- a situation arises which makes it necessary to interrupt the graduate program, and
- no active and/or substantial use will be made of institutional facilities.

Permission for a leave of absence must be approved by the student’s Principal Supervisor and the Director of Research and Graduate Studies. Students on leave are required to register during the registration period for each term by indicating “on leave” status when registering.

Leaves may be granted for up to one year for reasons such as:

- bereavement,
- care-giving responsibilities,
- maternity/parental leave,
- health requirements,
- political service.

A leave of absence fee will be applied for each term.

*A grade of P is not used in grade point average (GPA) calculations.

The “I” grade must be cleared prior to the end of the 8th week of the following term.

Resubmission of Coursework/Repeating Courses
Courses may not be repeated for credit. The Principal Supervisor may recommend resubmission of coursework for reassessment if the student's grades fall between B- to C (2.67 - 2.00) and the cumulative GPA is below B (3.00).

Resubmission of coursework for reassessment and submission of marks must be resolved before the fee payment deadline of the next academic term.

Course Work Extensions/Applying for an Incomplete
The Registrar's Office sets deadlines for the completion of coursework and grade submission for all courses taught at AUArts. Students are expected to meet these deadlines and are advised to plan their individual studio, self-directed learning and research projects accordingly.

Course Work Extensions may be assigned to a student in extenuating circumstances on compassionate grounds as approved in writing by the instructor of the course, in consultation with the Director of Graduate Studies. The student will be assigned an "I" grade for the course. The "I" grade is NOT to be used as a substitute for an "F" grade and will revert to an "F" grade if it is not cleared prior to the end of the eighth week of classes of the following term. This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average, however when the "I" grade is changed to the final grade, the grade point average will be recalculated.
Mid-Program Review
The Mid-Program Review occurs for all MFA students at the end of the second term. The Mid-Program Review will be scheduled by the Principal Supervisor and the student. Please see the Graduate Student Handbook for further details.

Research Plan
At the core of the MFA in Craft Media pedagogical experience is the student's Research Plan. The Research Plan is built upon the student's Statement of Intent (submitted during application to the program) and is refined over the first two terms in consultation with the student’s Interim and Principal Supervisors as part of Graduate Studios I and II.

Thesis Project Requirements
The MFA in Craft Media program culminates in a Thesis Project. The Thesis Project is composed of three parts: a Thesis Exhibition, Thesis Paper and a Thesis Defense. Taken as a whole, the Thesis Project will make a significant contribution to the body of knowledge in a given discipline. The Thesis Examination Committee expects that the successful Thesis Project will also:

- Evidence substantial knowledge of the published literature in the Thesis Project's subject area(s);
- Synthesize contextual knowledge of emerging discourse(s) in the student’s chosen field;
- Apply appropriate levels of critical engagement with and analysis of the Thesis Project’s subject area(s);
- Use appropriate and ethical research methods;
- Exhibit competency to undertake independent research and present the findings with clarity; and
- Be suitable for professional publication and/or dissemination.

Thesis Exhibition
The Thesis Examination is the core component of the Thesis Project. The Thesis Exhibition represents five terms of investigation and as such will be composed of a body of original studio work relevant to the student’s chosen field of study. The presentation of The Thesis Exhibition should be well-considered and align to the student’s research as defined in the Thesis Paper.

Normally, the Thesis exhibition will occur on campus and must be available for viewing before the day of the Thesis Defense to allow for viewing by the Thesis Examination Committee. For complete details of the timing and sequence of events related to the Thesis Project see the Thesis Guidelines appendix to the Graduate Student Handbook and/or Section 9 of the Consolidated Graduate Studies Procedures.

Professional documentation of the Thesis Exhibition is the responsibility of the student and must be included in the Approved Thesis Paper submitted to the Research and Graduate Studies Office for accession to the Luke Lindoe Library.

Thesis Paper
The Thesis Paper will demonstrate sustained critical inquiry and advance new knowledge in the field. The successful Thesis Paper will also engage with historical and emerging discourse(s) and provide relevant contextual information for the student’s chosen subject area(s). Taken as a whole, the Thesis Paper must be a sound piece of scholarship that meets or exceeds academic standards for an MFA Thesis.

A Substantive Draft of the Thesis Paper will be submitted to the Graduate Supervisory Committee before the end of Graduate Studio IV and the Final Draft will be submitted early in the final term. Following the Thesis Defense, revisions may be required. Once completed, the Approved Thesis Paper including documentation of the Thesis Exhibition will be submitted to the Luke Lindoe Library. As with all other components of the Thesis Project, the Thesis Paper remains the intellectual property of the student.

For additional information regarding the Substantive, Final and Approved version of the Thesis Paper, see the Thesis Guidelines in the Graduate Student Handbook.

Thesis Defense
The goal of the Thesis Defense is to provide the student with an opportunity to present a summary of the Thesis Project to a public forum and respond to questions from the Thesis Examination Committee.

Requesting a Thesis Defense
When the student is ready to schedule the Thesis Defense, they must formally inform their Supervisor and together complete a Defense Set-up Request Form. The Defense Set-up Request form must be submitted to the Office of Research and Graduate Studies by December 1st of the fourth term.
Graduation Requirements for MFA Students

To graduate, MFA students must have done the following:

- Passed all courses with a minimum CGPA of 3.0
- Passed the Thesis Defense
- Completed all required revisions to the Thesis Paper
- Submitted the appropriate copies (1 electronic 1 hard bound copy) of the Final Thesis Paper to the Research and Graduate Studies Office and the Luke Lindoe Library.
- Completed, and submitted to the AUArts Library, the Non-Exclusive License to Reproduce and Lend Thesis form.

MFA students are responsible for ensuring they have met all their graduate degree requirements. Students must apply for graduation by completing and submitting the Application to Graduate Form to the Registrar’s Office.
Undergraduate Course Listing

Not all courses listed in this Calendar are offered in any academic year. Students should consult the Course Timetable prior to registration.

Special Topics

ACAD 222/333/444 – Artists Workshop
3 Credits

Prerequisite: First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

The student will gain: (1) the experience of working with professional artists presenting specific subjects in their field; and (2) information about various aspects of the visual arts relevant to the artist’s area of expertise, and relevant to a studio practice.

ACAD 310 – Topics in Studio Practice
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Nine 200-level studio credits, plus three 200-level SCCS credits.

The course will build on knowledge, skills and practices developed in program specific majors to support emergent inquiry in studio practice relative to a topic and recognize the capacity of works of art to engage with the contemporary. The learning in this course will be delivered through a range of activities and assignments such as studio projects, readings, critique and presentations. Relative to their practice and the topic, by the end of the course students will understand how to evaluate the effectiveness of a range of practical and conceptual/theoretical perspectives; analyze, evaluate and apply relevant research, and reframe their practice through experimentation and an exploration of a range of media and processes as well as reflect on and evaluate their own and others’ work.

Art History

AHIS 101 – Themes in Pre-Modern Art and Visual Cultures: Before 1789
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course introduces students to ways of thinking about the pre-modern art, craft, and design through a range of visual and material cultural artefacts, practices, and discourses. Thematic and conceptual comparisons and contrasts across contemporary and historical visual cultures will be emphasized. The course will introduce basic period-specific and contemporary art historical methods, including formal, social, and gender-based analysis. Possible themes include gender, sexuality, and the body; the built environment and public space; decoration and ornamentation; commodities and economies; and sovereignty and colonization.

AHIS 100 – Themes in Modern and Contemporary Art and Visual Cultures 1789-present
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course introduces students to ways of thinking about modern and contemporary art, craft and design through a range of visual and material cultural artefacts, practices and discourses. Cultural productions will be considered in their own historical contexts from current, contemporary perspectives. Artworks and artefacts will be discussed in terms of their function as conveyors of complex cultural values and meanings.

AHIS 210 - Visual Arts: Modernism(s)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Two of ENGL 100, CCST 100, AHIS 110/AHIS 101 and AHIS 120/AHIS 100, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the history of Modernism(s) as an on-going series of critical debates. Modernism(s) deals primarily with visual arts from the middle of the 19th through to the middle of the 20th century. Designed to support studio-based education in Fine Arts, Crafts, Design, Media Arts and Digital Technologies, this course emphasizes skills relevant to all visual art disciplines. Students will develop an awareness of connections between the visual arts and major socio-economic formations of Modernity such as urbanism, industrialization, technology, market economies, colonialism and post-colonialism, feminism and gender politics as understood from contemporary perspectives.
AHIS 211 – History of Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: AHIS 101 and AHIS 100, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course surveys the history of design from the 19th century to the present, with a particular emphasis on media, practices and concepts relevant to fields associated with visual communication design. Grounded in analyses of artifacts and episodes drawn from the history of design, this course will explore a number of thematic topics, including: the parallels and contrasts between premodern and contemporary design practices; the intersection between design, industrialization and Capitalism; the impact of 20th century cultural and social revolutions on design; the professionalization of design as a practice in the period after 1945; the role of design in the early histories of digitization; the contemporary challenges to design of globalization and sustainability; the shifting relationship between design, ethics, and social justice.

AHIS 212 - Art and Technology in History
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This lecture-based course addresses the relationship between cultural production and technological capacity and change throughout history. Students will learn to analyze themes in the history of the complex dialogue between art and technology regionally, nationally and internationally, and to apply research and interpretive methodologies connected to case studies and their contexts.

AHIS 218 – Survey of Craft History
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This course provides a critical survey of modern and contemporary craft history and theory including work and texts from the arts and crafts movement, the Bauhaus, the studio pottery movement, post-WWII modernism, the new jewellery and textile movements, and feminist practice. This course also includes works and critical perspectives either not included, or critical of these histories. Students will consider craft as a genre and as studio/social practice. Class discussions will contextualise craft within such locations as the factory, the studio, the street, the museum, the university, the land, and the kitchen table.

AHIS 219 – Contemporary Art History
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This course examines key developments and case studies in the field of contemporary art with a focus on the past three decades. Students will be furnished with central methodologies and will discuss pivotal debates in contemporary practice. Artwork discussed will involve a range of local, national, and international examples, as well as diverse materials and artistic disciplines. Possible themes include socially engaged practices, institutional critique, museums and curatorial approaches, representations of the body, and economies and markets of contemporary art.

AHIS 300 - Critical Topic in Art History
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the history of art, craft and/or design through a range of visual and material cultural artefacts, practices and discourses, organized around a specific topic to be announced in advance of registration. Students will further develop facility with art historical methods, including formal, social and gender-based analysis. Note: This course is repeatable for credit when the topic changes.

AHIS 310 - Landscape and Place
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the representation of place through landscape, and its role in the construction and politics of entities as identity, nationalism, colonialism, post-colonialism, natural and built environments, and tourism. The course invites and applies a variety of methodological frameworks, as it considers a wide range of artistic practices and practitioners.
AHIS 311 – Canadian Contexts
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, and completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers art, design, and craft in its Canadian context. It introduces students to the multiple ways in which the “Canadian” might be both framed and problematized, including, for example, Indigenous and Francophone perspectives. The course invites and applies a variety of methodological frameworks.

AHIS 313 - Craft History
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, and completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the politics and theoretical complexities of a broad range of visual and material cultural artefacts that have been variously described as decorative art, ornamental art, applied art, or fine craft, i.e. an intercultural encounter mediated by objects. Students will learn to compare and contrast craft production across selected themes and contexts, while analyzing work from multiple critical perspectives that take into account the role craft plays in such areas as education, politics, gender construction, colonialism/post-colonialism, and social organization.

AHIS 316 - Display Cultures
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the politics and theoretical complexities of display, and the manner in which display has a wide range of social, political, and aesthetic effects. The course invites and applies a variety of methodological frameworks, as it considers a wide range of methods of display such as museums, galleries, commercial display, publishing, project design, new media, and site-specific interventions.

AHIS 317 - Critical Contexts in Modern and Contemporary Visual Communications Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This course examines design through the analysis of a key theme or topic and contexts drawn from its history. Through the in-depth analysis of a selection of case studies drawn from modern and contemporary advertising, graphic design, illustration, and character design, students will develop an awareness of long-standing and emergent key issues affecting both the field of design and the role of the designer. Such issues might include the relationship between design and popular culture, historical avant-gardes, radical politics, special interests, different design movements and media, the emergence of new technologies, urban subcultures, or other phenomena. Intended to support AUArts studio-based education in Visual Communications Design, this course covers skills relevant to all visual arts disciplines while striving to provide a context and reference for the student's own practice. This seminar course emphasizes the critical engagement of students and will utilize and welcome a broad range of perspectives.

Note: AHIS 317 is a required course for Visual Communications Design majors but is also open to students in other majors. Registration priority will be given to Visual Communications Design majors.

AHIS 318 - Topic in Modern and Contemporary Photography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This course examines photography through the analysis of specific themes and contexts drawn from the history of photography. Through the in-depth analysis of a selection of case studies, students will develop an awareness of both long-standing and emergent key issues in the field of photography.

Such issues might include relationships between photography and science, social science, art, popular culture, politics, the representation of gender, and other areas. Designed to support AUArts studio-based education in photography, this course covers skills relevant to all visual arts disciplines while striving to provide a context and reference for the student's own practice. This seminar course emphasizes the critical engagement of students and will utilize and welcome a broad range of critical approaches and theoretical perspectives.

Note: Combines the former AHIS 215 and AHIS 315. AHIS 318 is a required course for students in Photography but is also open to other majors. Registration priority will be given to Photography majors.
AHIS 319 - Genre
3 Credits

This is a Special Topics Course. See Calendar Addendum for 2020-2021 Listings.

This lecture/seminar course focuses upon a specific genre in Art History, exploring its multiple themes and contexts. Possible genre topics include but are not limited to still life, portrait, psychedelia, memento mori, and religious art. Students will discover the history and elements of a genre through a broad range of artefacts and practitioners, and learn to compare and contrast works within it through a variety of critical and theoretical frameworks.

AHIS 320 - Contemporary Indigenous Practices
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course explores contemporary Indigenous cultural production across selected themes and contexts. Students will be introduced to a broad range of practitioners and work across multiple mediums that include but are not limited to those of AUArts’ immediate surrounding region, such as the Treaty 7 land on which it is located. Work will be considered through a variety of critical perspectives such as colonialism, gender critique, Indigenous identity in global contexts, and identity construction.

AHIS 323 - The Moving Image
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the history of the moving image in its many forms. Students will learn to compare and contrast various forms of the moving image across multiple themes and historical and cultural contexts using a range of critical frameworks.

AHIS 324 - Sustainable Art, Craft and Design
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 200-level AHIS, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course focuses upon aspirations to sustainability in art, craft and design, both throughout history and in the context of the Anthropocene. Students will be introduced to the issues, concerns, and complexities of this contemporary challenge sustainability in and through art, craft and design through a broad range of examples, and learn to consider sustainability in art, craft and design from multiple critical and theoretical perspectives.

AHIS 401 – Advanced Topics Seminar in Art History
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 300-level SCCS Course.

This topics-based seminar course develops students’ critical and theoretical acuity in the field of art history. The course allows for the focused study of specific topics and themes, frameworks of analysis, periods, movements, artists, and case studies in art history, while supporting the development of students’ research, writing and presentation skills. Possible themes and subjects may include: historiographical and methodological approaches; the idea of periodization; global art histories; institutions and art economies; systems of critique and validation; Indigenous knowledge; and display.

AHIS 417 - Advanced Topics Seminar in Design Studies
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 300-level SCCS Course.

This art history seminar course further develops students’ critical and theoretical skills and understanding in the field of design studies. The course allows for the study of a specific topic, framework of analysis, series of case studies, or theme in depth, while further developing students’ research and presentation skills. Possible themes and subjects include: speculative and critical design; adversarial and activist design; narrative studies; design innovation and technology; Indigenous knowledge; ecology; and the design of future.
AHPA 314 - An Overview of Contemporary Painting in Context
3 Credits

Prerequisite: AHIS 210 or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course employs lecture, audio visual presentations and group discussions, and may include visiting speakers, to introduce students to selected histories, artists, materials and critical paradigms associated with contemporary painting and related practices (e.g. installation, site-specific work, conceptual work, performance). Designed to support studio-based education in painting, this course emphasizes conceptual and research skills to provide a context and reference for the student’s own practice.

Animation

ANIM 200 - Animation I
3 credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies including one of DRWF 110 or 115; one of DRWF 120 or 125; and three of AHIS 110/AHIS 101, AHIS 120/AHIS 100, HUMN 110, HUMN 124, ENGL 100, CCST 100, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to the basic principles of animation and audio design in support of animated narrative. Students will learn to communicate personality, emotions and behavior through several short animated motion assignments with appropriate soundtrack design, culminating in a short animated or animated short as their final project. Students will develop their visual language to create a memorable impact on their audience. Animation history and a survey of current practitioners approaching the art form in diverse ways will be presented. Various conceptual, aesthetic and technical approaches to the medium of animation will be explored in this class. Students will have the option of images being created inside or outside the digital realm with all project post-production taking place using digital software.

ANIM 300 - Motion Graphics II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: ANIM 200, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is a continuation of the principles of animation and audio design in support of narrative. Students will learn to communicate the personalities, emotions and behavior of their characters and narratives through several short animated motion assignments with appropriate soundtrack design, culminating in a short animated or animated short as their final project. Students will develop their visual language to create a memorable impact on their audience. Animation history and a survey of current practitioners approaching the art form in diverse ways will be presented. Various conceptual, aesthetic and technical approaches to the medium of animation will be explored in this class. Students will have the option of images being created inside or outside the digital realm with all project post-production taking place using digital software.

ANIM 320 - Storytelling
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of VCD 2nd year requirements or declaration of BFA Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course deals with the art of storytelling, and various core approaches to story for visual sequential mediums such as animation, cinema, and comics. Classical story structure, metaphor and analogy, myth, fairy tales, fantasy, and surrealism will be discussed, as well as adapting existing works in other mediums for the moving image. Utilizing the writings of Propp, Joseph Campbell, Carl Jung, Robert McKee, Howard Suber and many others the student will actualize some of the theories and concepts presented through directed visual assignments. Different concepts and approaches will be illustrated through screenings and presentations of works in cinema, television, graphic novels, and literature. Individual and group critiques will provide feedback and guidance.
Critical and Creative Studies

CCST 100 - Introduction to Critical and Creative Studies
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course provides an introduction to Critical and Creative Studies. It develops basic skills for critical and creative reasoning as students begin to explore contemporary critical knowledge and its limits. Critical thinking is the process used to reflect on and assess assumptions underlying the understanding of various issues or worldviews. Creative thinking is the process used to generate ideas/projects/practices that are imaginative and worthy of further elaboration. Students will develop these skills in lectures, seminars, and attendance at relevant events internal and external to AUArts. This course will explore selected complex issues that necessitate multi-faceted critical and creative approaches such as, but not limited to: Eco-cultures; Post-colonial Imaginaries; Social Justice; Art, Science and Technology; Post-Humanism; Nationalism and Globalism.

CCST 200 – Critical Frameworks in Visual Theory
3 Credits

This course covers specialized topics in Humanities. It will take advantage of presented opportunities such as visiting artists, symposia, conferences and or cultural resources and will respond to institutional needs. Utilizing a combination of lecture, slides, films, videos, visiting speakers, workshops, group discussions and presentations as appropriate, this course emphasizes student critical engagement.

Note: Whether this course can be used to satisfy a Humanities requirement will be part of the announcement at the time the topic is announced. This course is repeatable for credit when the topic changes.

CCST 202 Contemporary Frameworks
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any two 100 level courses in the School of Critical and Creative Studies.

This lecture-based course introduces students to the frameworks of analysis that can be applied to visual culture. Students will develop their ability to situate, analyze, and contextualize responses to visual media from a variety of theoretical stances relevant to both art and design practice.

CCST 300 - Topic in Humanities
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

Aimed at students who have advanced in their critical studies, this course covers specialized topics in Humanities. It will take advantage of presented opportunities such as visiting artists, symposia, conferences and or cultural resources and will respond to institutional needs. Utilizing a combination of lecture, slides, films, videos, visiting speakers, workshops, group discussions and presentations as appropriate, this course emphasizes student critical engagement. Specific topics will be announced in the current timetable.

Note: Whether this course can be used to satisfy a Humanities requirement will be part of the announcement at the time the topic is announced. This course is repeatable for credit when the topic changes.

CCST 301 - Art and Philosophy
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers visual and material cultural production in relation to a selected philosophical theme, to be announced in advance of registration. Students will learn to consider cultural production through the lens of a philosophical framework or theme including, but not limited to, phenomenology, aesthetics, the sublime, humanism, Marxism, feminism, animal studies, and ecological sustainability.
CCST 302 - Cinema Studies
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course introduces students to the history and analysis of cinema through the consideration of a broad range of cinematic materials situated in historical, regional, national, and international contexts. Students will learn fundamentals of cinematic analysis and will analyze cinema from a variety of critical and theoretical perspectives.

CCST 303 - Gender and Sexuality
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course considers the broad field of the study and theorization of gender and sexuality. Students will be invited to analyze representations of gender and sexuality from a number of theoretical perspectives through the consideration of a broad range of examples and case studies drawn primarily from visual and material culture.

CCST 305 - Topic in Indigenous Studies
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This is a Special Topics Course. See Calendar Addendum for 2020-2021 Listings.

This lecture/seminar course considers a selected topic within the broad field of Indigenous Studies for in-depth analysis. Students will consider an element of Indigenous Studies with attention to its application to multiple issues, and with consideration of the theme’s relationship to Canadian and regional Treaty Seven contexts.

CCST 321 - Material and Process
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course investigates the significance of materials and processes across a broad range of contemporary cultural practices and practitioners. Students will analyze materials and processes in relation to the context for the production and reception of cultural artefacts from a variety of theoretical and critical perspectives that consider issues such as ethics, aesthetics, erotics, and politics.

CCST 323 - Contemporary Discourses: Situating Science and Technology
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This course will focus on how science and technology are experienced and imagined as cultural phenomena. It will examine the broader social contexts and theoretical implications of the overlapping and distinctive domains of science, technology, digital communications, information technologies and related delivery systems. Designed to support a studio-based education, this course will explore the place of imagination, representation, cultural use and interaction within such constructs as cyber culture, virtual reality environments, digital imaging tools, transgenics, neurobiology/cognition, artificial life systems and interactive entertainment media in the context of contemporary visual arts practices.

CCST 325 - Craft Discourses
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.

This lecture/seminar course introduces students to the range of critical theory concerning the materials, processes, technologies, and reception of craft today, as it situates Canadian craft within a global context. Students will learn to analyze contemporary craft with respect to such issues as domesticity, decoration, function, tacit knowledge, audience reception, and economic roles.
CCST 326 - Media Cultures
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Two 200-level courses in SCCS (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS, PPRL, SOSC, NASC), one of which must be a 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies.
This lecture/seminar course examines the relationship between communications media and the constitution of the socio-political sphere, with particular emphasis on contemporary developments in media forms. Students will consider a broad range of forms and contexts of media formations and analyze the ways in which cultures and media shape one another from a variety of theoretical perspectives.

CCST 401- Advanced Topics Seminar in Media Studies
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 300-level SCCS Course.
This Critical and Creative Studies seminar course develops the breadth and depth of students’ critical and theoretical acuity in the broad field of media studies. The course allows for the in-depth study of a specific topic, framework of analysis, series of case studies, or theme in media studies, while further developing students' research and presentation skills. With the ubiquitous rise of digital media, it has become imperative that creative practitioners across disciplines contend with and critically analyze the role that the technical plays within their work. Potential thematic areas include media theory; media histories; histories of visualization; technologies of design; digital materialities; screen studies; Indigenous new media; algorithmic cultures; media ecologies.

Ceramics

CRMC 101 - Ceramics
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.
This course will introduce students to the diversity of practice within the discipline/discourse of Ceramics employing elements of 3D fundamentals including form, space, texture, and color. The course will consist of a combination of lectures, demonstrations, assignments, field trips, and critical/evaluative sessions. Topics addressed in the curriculum may include the following: hand building, wheel throwing, mold making and casting, clay and glaze technology, experimental and interdisciplinary approaches, as well as contemporary/historical ceramics theory and practice.
Note: Formerly CRMC 115. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

CRMC 215 - Introduction to Ceramics (Wheel Throwing)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course introduces the technical and aesthetic aspects of making ceramics using the potter's wheel. Discussion and practice of making forms, glazing, decoration and firing comprise the curriculum. The concept of utility will be introduced.

CRMC 216 - Introduction to Ceramics (Hand building, Mold making and Casting)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course introduces the technical and aesthetic aspects of making ceramics using hand building methods and mold making and casting processes. Concepts of utility, sculpture and experimental works will be introduced. Course references will include contemporary and historical examples.
Antirequisite: Students who have taken both CRMC 210 and CRMC 212 may not receive credit for this course.
CRMC 222 - Introduction to Ceramics Processes (Experimental Approaches)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This is a Special Topics Course. See Calendar Addendum for 2020-2021 Listings.
This course introduces an experimental approach to ceramics materials, processes, and technologies normally outside the general purview of pottery and ceramic sculpture. Strategies and contexts for working within inter-media or interdisciplinary frameworks will be addressed. Craft, Fine Art, and Design contexts will be investigated.

CRMC 315 - Intermediate Ceramics (Wheel Throwing)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: CRMC 215, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Students continue to develop their technical and aesthetic approach to making wheel thrown forms.

CRMC 316 - Intermediate Ceramics (Hand building, Mold making and Casting)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: CRMC 216, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
A continued investigation and experimentation of hand building Mold making and casting processes for ceramics. Historical and contemporary examples serve as references.

CRMC 320 - Intermediate Ceramics Studio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: CRMC 315 and CRMC 316, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course requires the development of a cohesive body of self-directed studio work. Students must submit a written proposal outlining an appropriate program.

CRMC 323 - Special Projects – Workshop
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of any 200-level CRMC course, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor. The expertise of the Instructor of Record will determine the course topic and outline in this course.

CRMC 410 - Advanced Ceramics Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: NASC 221 and CRMC 320.
In this course the student will develop a cohesive body of self-directed studio work. Individual written proposals will outline an appropriate program emphasizing conceptual growth, continued technical development and material understanding. Evidence of text-based research will accompany focused and integrated studio research.

CRMC 411 - Advanced Ceramics Seminar
Prerequisite: CRMC 410.
This course will centre on the individual's studio research program and culminate in a presentation-ready body of work. Students will demonstrate skill, artistic ability, and a sophisticated understanding of the relationship between material and content. They will be expected to situate their work in relation to contemporary contexts. This will evidence the capacities that they have gained from their BFA studies to date.
CRMC 444 - Advanced Ceramics (Experimental Approaches)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: NASC 221 and any 300-level CRMC course, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students will be expected to undertake advanced research and practice into the incorporation of ceramic media within other creative contexts. The home studio of the student will be the site of production and critique. This course provides a critical forum to support advanced students undertaking creative projects involving inter-media or interdisciplinary contexts.

CRMC 451 - Advanced Ceramics Seminar
4.5 Credits

Prerequisite: CRMC 410, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This studio-based resource seminar will address topics specific to contemporary ceramics practice. This includes readings focused on refining a student's critical discourse and historical awareness. In addition to augmenting their professional development, individuals will engage in significant research that marries text and object-based production.

Drawing

DRWF 110 - Drawing I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

Drawing I is an introductory drawing course in which students will explore the fundamentals of observational drawing. As they deepen their understanding of representational methods, students will be challenged with questions related to abstraction, drawing as a process and the relevance of personal content. The course will introduce principles of drawing technique, pictorial content and concepts, and personal interpretations in drawing. As well, students will examine line, tonal value, pictorial space, perspective and an introduction to drawing the human figure. Course material will be presented through classroom studio projects, as well as group and individual critiques. Students will be expected to complete some course work outside of class.

DRWF 115 - Design Drawing I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course introduces fundamental elements of drawing in the context of design with a focus on drawing systems and perspective drawing.

Note: This course is recommended but not required for students planning to apply to the Visual Communications Design Major but is open to all First Year Studies students.

DRWF 120 - Drawing II: Contemporary Investigations
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWF 110 or DRWF 115.

Drawing II places an emphasis on the exploration of ideas and the development of individual approaches to a variety of topics in contemporary art. The course builds on the fundamentals learned in Drawing I and expands traditional notions of drawing by employing diverse strategies that examine methods, media and intent. Students will investigate various contemporary topics including narrative structures, the vocabulary of the photograph, and the human body within cultural contexts, perceptual processes and alternatives to illusionistic drawing. Research and experimentation will play an integral role in the development of students' self-awareness and visual language. Course content will be delivered through studio production, critique, discussion and debate. Students will be expected to complete some course work outside of class time.

DRWF 125 - Design Drawing II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWF 110 or DRWF 115.

This course builds on fundamental elements of drawing in the context of design introduced in DRWF 115 with a focus on observational drawing to demonstrate their knowledge, skills and understanding.

Note: This course is of special interest and relevance for students planning to apply to the Visual Communications Design Major but is open to all First Year Studies students.
DRWG 203 - Drawing: Representations of Nature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWF 110 and one of DRWF 120 or DRWF 125 or their equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

The changing relationships of art to nature will be introduced through slides, readings and studio assignments. Students will begin to develop a personal imagery with drawing media that responds to the idea of nature in contemporary contexts.

DRWG 204 - Drawing: The Human Figure
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introduction to the representation of the human figure in art through observational drawing. Employs the human figure as a basis for the study of gesture, line, plane, and volume. This study serves as a reference for a broad range of approaches in various media. Students are encouraged to explore contemporary methods of drawing the human figure that consider various issues related to the politics of the body. Slide presentations, discussions, and critiques are an integral part of the course. The life model environment, portrait and public or private situations will be explored.

DRWG 206 - Drawing: Social Issues
3 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWF 110 and one of DRWF 120 or DRWF 125 or their equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will address social issues and themes explored through the medium of Drawing. Topics will include art and social change, war and peace, propaganda art, art of conscience, and the response of artists to poverty, hunger and catastrophic events.

DRWG 207 - Drawing: The Urban Environment
3 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWF 110 and one of DRWF 120 or DRWF 125 or their equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

The changing relationship of art to the urban environment will be introduced through slides, readings and studio assignments. Students will begin to develop a personal imagery with drawing media that responds to the idea of the urban environment in contemporary contexts.

DRWG 211 - Drawing: Media and Techniques
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students will develop an understanding of the formal language of drawing, technique, history and theory toward a studio practice.

DRWG 212 - Drawing: Anatomy
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This study of the human body emphasizes the symbiotic relationship between skeleton and muscle to enhance the understanding of surface anatomy and to develop skill and confidence in drawing the figure. Practical exercises are supplemented by studies of the skeleton, individual bones, and the live figure, and by lectures and demonstrations. The study of proportion and the acquisition of anatomical terminology are linked to the creative process and the science of anatomy. Research and studio assignments are a component of the course.
DRWG 214 - Drawing: Studio/Research
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits for First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introductory, studio-based course emphasizing research and development of drawing practices through instructor-initiated research and projects. Emphasis will be placed on the development of critical and conceptual skills and the acquisition of in-depth knowledge of historical and contemporary drawing practice through instructor led readings and discussions.

DRWG 221 - Drawing: Ideas and Concepts
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will emphasize the development of the students' personal ideas and concepts related to their work. Additionally, students will write and develop an artist's statement.

DRWG 311 - Intermediate Drawing: Studio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWG 211 and one of DRWG 221 or DRWG 214, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Under individualized instruction, students will explore and realize their ideas in drawing. Development and evaluation of form, content and technique of drawing are essential components of this course.

DRWG 315 - Intermediate Drawing: Studio/Research
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWG 211 and one of DRWG 221 or DRWG 214, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An intermediate, studio-based course emphasizing research and development of drawing practices through instructor-initiated research and projects. Emphasis will be placed on the development of critical and conceptual skills and the acquisition of in-depth knowledge of historical and contemporary drawing practice through instructor led readings and discussions. This course is intended to supplement the student's studio exploration through research related to their work. An Artist's statement will be developed.

DRWG 321 - Intermediate Drawing - Studio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWG 311.

This studio-based course emphasizes the development of a personal artistic practice in drawing through studio projects and research, including readings, critiques and discussions. Students are expected to develop technical and conceptual skills through a sustained commitment to self-directed projects in a contemporary art context. The focus on independent study will culminate in the crafting of an artist statement and an evaluative jury critique.

DRWG 325 - Intermediate Drawing: Studio/Research
3 Credits

Prerequisite: DRWG 315, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is intended to supplement students’ studio exploration through research related to their work. An Artist’s statement will be developed.

DRWG 390/490 - Directed Studio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student’s proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.
DRWG 411 - Advanced Drawing: Open Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWG 321, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
A studio-based course in which students develop their work at an advanced level. This course is intended to further students' studio exploration through research related to their work. Exploring visual forms and issues from a personal perspective, students undertake major research culminating with the presentation of a coherent body of work at a jury critique. Students will develop the first draft of a document relevant to the form and content of their studio work.

DRWG 415 - Advanced Drawing: Studio Research
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWG 411, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This studio-based course will provide students with a studio focus within their major. Students will be expected to create a body of work that demonstrates the level of their relevant, contemporary knowledge, skill and artistic abilities that they have gained from their studies to date.

DRWG 451 - Senior Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: DRWG 411, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This studio-based course will provide students with an in-depth studio focus within their major. This course is intended to supplement students' studio exploration through research related to their work. The body of work created will be the culmination of their research demonstrating an advanced level of contemporary art knowledge, skill and self-directed abilities. Students will articulate their research in a document that supports their studio work.

English

ENGL 100 - Writing for Critical and Creative Practices
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.
This course introduces students to the fundamentals of writing and composition, with an emphasis on clear, organized, articulate written expression in a variety of genres relevant to the creative professions, including expository prose that engages critically and responsibly with research materials, and that reviews and analyses multiple art and design events both internal and external to AUArts.

ENGL 202 - A Survey of Manga in Translation
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This lecture-based course introduces students to the history and analysis of Japanese sequential art of the past century, considering its strains, historical transformations, and relationship to national, international, and global contexts.

ENGL 203 - A Survey of World Literature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This lecture-based course introduces students to a sample of the broad range of literary production at work in the world today. Students will learn to analyze common themes and forms among various genres as they consider individual works within their regional, national, and international contexts.
ENGL 211 - Narration and Identity
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course explores concepts and representations of identity in contemporary literary texts of at least two genres. Topics typically considered include the relationship between individual and collective identity; self-generated and externally generated constructions of identity; identity and voice; difference between and difference within communities; fixed and fluid identities; queer, raced, and classed identities, and more. Attendance is critical in this course as it combines lectures with a format in which students articulate and refine their responses to the course material through extensive discussion.

ENGL 212 - Myth in Literature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Using contemporary texts from at least two genres, this course investigates the use of myth as a site of resistance, as a structural principle, and as metaphor. The course can draw on a broad range of mythologies: from classical and traditional myths to more current acts of mythopoeia, historically; and from any number of cultures and communities, globally.

ENGL 214 - Creative Writing
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will provide students with guidance and constructive aid in the production of their own creative literary work. While a variety of instructional methods will be employed, such as lectures, discussions, directed written assignments, and the study of literary exemplars, ENGL 214 is primarily a workshop course. Students will be expected to work in multiple genres. Please note that this is not a course in commercial writing.

ENGL 215 - Applied Writing and Composition
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course enables students to use written language effectively as a medium for lucid, engaging, sophisticated, and persuasive expression. The course is a workshop, with significant class time given to in-class writing, revising, discussion, and peer editing, and so attendance is particularly important. The course covers:

- The Writing Process: effective critical reading, drafting, workshopping, editing, and revising.
- Writing Mechanics: fundamentals of writing in English, from punctuation to paragraphing to effective management of tone, agreement, idiom, etc.
- Rhetorical Modes of written English: different compositional styles for different audiences, purposes, mediums, and effects, including description, narration, classification, argument, and others.
- Practical Applications: particular consideration will be given to such applications as the crafting of proposals, reviews, catalogue essays, and artist statements, as well as project proposals and précis.

ENGL 216 - Literatures of Community
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair consultation with the instructor.

Using multiple genres, this course focuses upon literature that is organized around a specific community or voice, so as to investigate ways in which literature acts as a tool for the complex expression of collective identity, as a means for the expression of differences and debates within that collectivity, and as an example of the complexities with which collective expression, identification, and change are marked. Representative communities might be organized around:

- Region, past or present (Chinatowns, the American South, Yoruba writing, Nova Scotia's Africville, or the Harlem Renaissance, for example);
- Subject Position and Self-Identification (Caribbean- French- or Indo-Canadian Writing, for example: First Nations Canadian Writing; Writing Queer Identities; Disability Writing; Black Diasporic Writing; sub- groupings of any of these or other comparable communities)
ENGL 217 - Introduction to Narrative
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces the student to some traditional narrative forms such as fable, the tale, and the allegory, and shows their development into modern day story forms in literary texts and popular culture. Through examination of both traditional and contemporary examples of narrative, the student will become familiar with features common to all stories, and with underlying patterns such as the quest and the romance.

Note: Of special interest to Visual Communications Design majors but is open to all majors.

ENGL 222 - Survey of Comics
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course demonstrates and develops the analysis of comics from a variety of theoretical perspectives. It situates the development of North American comics in historical and cultural context from the nineteenth century to the present day. The course will also draw upon comics from beyond North America for the purposes of contextualization and comparison. Students will explore and consider the opportunities and limitations of comics expression with consideration given to a variety of formats from the comic strip to the graphic novel.

ENGL 202 - Survey of Manga in Translation
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This lecture-based course introduces students to the history and analysis of Japanese sequential art of the past century, considering its strains, historical transformations, and relationship to national, international, and global contexts.

ENGL 314 - Topic in Contemporary International Literature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course selects one specific aspect of contemporary international literature, relevant to studio artists and designers, for its focus. Generally, it will emphasize the politics, problems, potentialities, and complexities of representation in literature, so as to complement students' studio practices. It may do so through a variety of postmodern and postcolonial literary critiques, and it may also do so by drawing upon more historically distant literary texts that can be brought to bear on the contemporary scene in terms of their relevance or influence. While a given iteration of ENGL 314 might be organized around a specific theoretical framework, this course welcomes the diversity of student interests and approaches. Specific topics will be determined by the instructor and will be announced in the current timetable prior to registration.

Note: This course is repeatable for credit when the topic changes or with permission of the Chair.

ENGL 315 - Topic in Contemporary Canadian Literature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to issues relevant to contemporary literary production in Canada through the in-depth examination of a specific, selected topic. Generally, the course emphasizes the politics, problems, potentialities, and complexities of representation in Canadian literature; considers the relationship between nation and narration; and considers the relevance and role of national identity when it is complicated by the cultural diversity within it, and the global culture it is itself within. It may do so through a variety of postmodern and postcolonial critiques of literature and/or concepts of nation and it may also do so by drawing upon more historically distant literary texts that can be brought to bear on contemporary Canada. While a given iteration of ENGL 315 might organize itself around a specific theoretical framework, this course welcomes the diversity of student interests and approaches. Specific topics will be announced in the current timetable prior to registration. Note: This course is repeatable for credit with permission of the Chair.
ENGL 317 - Contemporary Narrative
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor. ENGL 217 is highly recommended.

This course assumes traditional narrative categories introduced in ENGL 217 - Introduction to Narrative and applies them to modern day storytelling in literary texts, popular culture, film, advertising and entertainment products within the context of contemporary design. Students will study contemporary examples of literary narrative to fine-tune expertise in recognizing, manipulating and discussing narrative characteristics and patterns found in other visual mediums.

Note: Of special interest to Design majors, especially those in the Illustration stream; this course is open to all majors. Registration priority will be given to Design Major.

ENGL 333 - The Graphic Novel
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the diversity of contemporary comics narrative represented by the graphic novel form, and to major elements of the history from which this contemporary practice has emerged. At the same time, this course considers the formal features common among this diversity of graphic novels, the opportunities and limitations afforded by sequential art, and the ways in which comics narrative engages critically with its cultural contexts. The instructor will both present and invite a variety of theoretical perspectives.

ENGL 400 - Advanced Topics Seminar in Literature
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 300-level SCCS Course

This seminar course allows for the in-depth study of a specific author or group of authors closely related by such elements as period, region, or movement, while further developing students’ research and presentation skills.

Fibre

FBRE 101 - Fibre-2D
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This course will introduce students to the potential of contemporary fibre arts practice through the exploration of fundamental elements of two-dimensional art and design including colour, texture, pattern, composition and content. A variety of fibre techniques and materials will be presented which may include weaving, felt, papermaking, printing, dyeing, cloth construction, embroidery and mixed media. Students will be assigned several material and process-based projects that will allow them to develop ideas in the context of contemporary fibre art. Course content will be presented through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.

FBRE 102 - Fibre-3D
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This course will introduce students to the potential of contemporary fibre arts practice through the fundamental elements of three-dimensional art and design including form, space, colour, texture, movement, composition, and content. A variety of techniques and materials will be presented which may include soft sculpture, felt making, woven construction, wearable art, cardboard construction, paper casting, book arts and mixed media. Students will be assigned several material and process-based projects that will allow them to develop ideas in the context of contemporary fibre art. Course content will be presented through hands-on projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.
FBRE 210 - Weaving I (formerly Introduction to Weaving)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will introduce students to contemporary hand weaving. Assignments will encourage the active exploration of weaving techniques and equipment with an emphasis on the development of individual expression, technical skill, experimentation and facility with material. Both loom and hand-manipulated approaches to cloth construction will be covered including equal warp/weft pattern, ikat and tapestry. Course content will be presented through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.

FBRE 211 - Printing on Cloth
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will introduce students to silk-screen printing on cloth and its application in craft, art and design. Students will learn various processes and approaches to silk-screen printing and explore the potential of printed imagery, repeating pattern and other effects on cloth. Studio-based assignments will challenge students to develop their own imagery and to discuss it in a critical context. Course content will be presented through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.

FBRE 212 - Mixed Media I (formerly Fibres and Mixed Media)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the experimental stream within the fibre program. It focuses on sculptural form and various approaches within as well as on the periphery of contemporary fibre practice. The course addresses 3-D forms and materials and their connection with specific content. There is an opportunity to explore various media and approaches including earthworks, installation, wearable art, performance, video, etc. In some assignments, a written component forms an integral part of the project. In addition, students will be required to present an individual research project. Course content will be provided through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussions and critiques.

FBRE 213 - Cloth Dyeing and Painting
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to cloth dyeing and painting using various dyes and resist techniques. Experimental and traditional approaches will be introduced in an atelier context focusing on the direct and deliberate exploration of dye application and the nature of material. Assignments will encourage the development of personal creative process and an independent studio practice. Course content will be presented through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussions and critiques.

FBRE 218 - Papermaking
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to the creative potential of handmade paper. Both two and three-dimensional papermaking techniques will be explored. Course content will be presented through studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.

FBRE 229 - Textile: Materials/Design/Concept
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This studio-based course will allow students to investigate concepts in contemporary fibre art, craft and design through the exploration of processes and materials specific to textiles. Assignments will encourage the development of a conceptual vocabulary, personal aesthetic and individual approaches to studio practice in a critical context. Course content will be presented through studio projects, lectures, assigned readings, a research assignment, discussion and critique.
FBRE 300 - Topic in Contemporary Fibre
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 30 credits of First Year Studies, and a minimum of 54 credits as well as student’s must have declared their major to progress to 300-level degree requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course selects an aspect of contemporary fibre practice or theory relevant to studio artists/designers, for its focus. The course topic will be selected from current issues and approaches in the fibre field but will be of interest to students from a range of disciplines. Course content will be developed through lectures, audiovisual presentations, assignments, material-based workshops, discussion and critical engagement. Students will be expected to explore the topic theme through both studio-based production and theoretical research. Research, material exploration and critical thinking will be emphasized. Specific topics will be determined by the fibre program and will be announced in the current timetable prior to registration.

Note: This course is repeatable for credit when the topic changes.

FBRE 311 - Surface Design I (formerly Intermediate Surface Design)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: FBRE 213 or FBRE 211, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the further development of a student’s technical skill, aesthetic and conceptual interests through surface design with an emphasis on various techniques of cloth dyeing and painting. In consultation with the instructor, each student will develop a proposal regarding a self-directed program of study. These objectives will be clarified and realized throughout the term. Students will be encouraged to develop personal imagery and concepts and to work in a professional manner. Students are required to write an artist statement and make a class presentation based on independent research. Course content will be presented through independent studio projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.

FBRE 312 - Mixed Media II (formerly Intermediate Mixed Media)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 30 credits of First Year Studies, and a minimum of 54 credits as well as student’s must have declared their Major to progress to 300-level degree requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will focus on independent studio direction and further explore the 3-dimensional form. Combining media as well as working with experimental processes and approaches such as installation, performance, site-specific intervention, wearable art and innovative sculptural form within the context of contemporary fibre practice will be encouraged. Visual documentation of work produced and a written statement will be required aiding in the development of professionalism within the field. Course content will be presented through studio projects. Interdisciplinarity is encouraged and supported.

FBRE 317 - Directed Studio (Fall Offering)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 30 credits of First Year Studies, and a minimum of 54 credits as well as student’s must have declared their major to progress to 300-level degree requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with her/his selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinarity is encouraged and supported.

Note: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 327.

FBRE 320 - Weaving II (formerly Intermediate Multi-harness Weaving)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: FBRE 210, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course offers an exploration of advanced weaving techniques, cloth structures and the woven image. Students will learn to utilize a variety of weaving equipment, including a computerized dobby loom, and create digital files for Jacquard weaving. Instruction on digital textile design approaches and image manipulation will expand students’ understanding of the translation from image to woven structure. Course content will be presented through projects, demonstrations, lectures, discussion and critique.
FBRE 321 - Surface Design II (formerly Intermediate Surface Design)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: FBRE 211, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the further development of a student’s technical skill, aesthetic and conceptual interests through surface design with an emphasis on various techniques and approaches for printing on cloth including repeat pattern printing. In consultation with the instructor, each student will also have the opportunity to develop a proposal regarding a self-directed program of study. These objectives will be clarified and realized throughout the term. Students will be encouraged to develop personal imagery and concepts and to work in a professional manner. Students are required to write an artist statement and make a class presentation based on independent research.

FBRE 327 - Directed Studio (Winter Offering)

Prerequisite: Completion of all 30 credits of First Year Studies, and a minimum of 54 credits as well as student’s must have declared their major to progress to 300-level degree requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with her/his selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinarity is encouraged and supported.

Antirequisite: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 317.

FBRE 411 - Directed Studio
4.5 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of nine credits at the 300-level, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with his or her selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work, and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinary is encouraged and supported.

Antirequisite: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 410 or FBRE 420.

FBRE 412 - Directed Studio
4.5 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of nine credits at the 300-level, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with his or her selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work, and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinary is encouraged and supported.

Antirequisite: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 410 or FBRE 420.

FBRE 419 - Senior Studio I
4.5 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of nine credits at the 300-level, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will provide a forum for discussion, criticism and support related to 400-level requirements. Students will research and write a graduating paper relevant to the content and form of their practice. In consultation with the instructor students will propose and pursue a dedicated body of independent studio work. Interdisciplinarity is encouraged and supported.
FBRE 420 - Directed Studio (Winter Offering)
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of nine credits at the 300-level, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with his or her selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work, and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinary is encouraged and supported.
Antirequisite: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 410.

FBRE 421 - Directed Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of nine credits at the 300-level, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with an instructor. Each student will initiate and propose a program of directed study in consultation with his or her selected instructor. A Directed Studio Proposal will be developed by mutual consent and approved in the form of a contract between student and instructor. The Directed Studio Proposal will clearly define personal direction and research goals, media, timelines, quantity of work, and the form of final presentation. Interdisciplinary is encouraged and supported.
Antirequisite: Students taking this course may not also receive credit for FBRE 410 or FBRE 420.

FBRE 451 - Senior Studio II (formerly Senior Studio)
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: FBRE 419, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course will provide students with a studio focus within their major program or area of interest in their graduating term. Students will be expected to create a dedicated body of work that demonstrates the relevant research, artistic facility and technical skill gained from their studies to date. Students will be provided contact with a faculty member as well as facilities within their major program or area of interest. Interdisciplinary is encouraged and supported.

Fine Arts

FINA 400 - Practicum
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of a minimum of 60 credits and consent of the Instructor(s) pending positive assessment of application, personal interview and academic commitment as demonstrated by academic transcript or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course affords the student the opportunity to actively participate in a practical work/study situation of limited duration in external cultural and business communities, under the general supervision of the course instructor(s). In case of extraordinary circumstances, internal practicums may be granted with the consent of the instructor(s) and Chairs of schools. Course content includes specific practicum experience, documented in both written report and oral presentation formats; related field research, as required; attendance of seminars, lectures, and field trips, as required.
Note: Students must submit a separate Practicum Application to the Registrar’s Office by April 1 (for fall term) and December 1 (for winter term) with an attached unofficial AUArts transcript. Students will be notified of their approval for registration prior to the start of classes.

FINA 450 - Critical Studio Studies
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: ACAD 310, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
In this tutorial-based course, students will examine the critical issues related to their work in the context of a larger and culturally comparative visual arts base. This comparative critical dialogue and analysis will be fostered through a mixture of critical discussion, research, assigned reading, presentations and critiques of studio work. Any of these elements may be delivered on an individual or group basis at the discretion of the instructor.
Glass

GLSS 101 - Glass Casting
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course will introduce students to contemporary glass studio practice through mold-making and casting. Assignments will address the fundamental elements and principles of 3-Dimensional art and design as well as issues specific to historical and contemporary glass practices and glass as a material. Students will explore ideas related to representation/abstraction, repetition/modular construction, material shifts and progressive distortion of a basic form. Students will encounter a variety of reproductive techniques including the waste mold, the refractory mold, the two-part mold and flexible molds. Students will create their own forms and will also employ found objects to use in the casting process. Casting materials may include glass, wax, clay, concrete, plaster and ice.

GLSS 102 - Hot Glass
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course will introduce students to contemporary hot glass studio practice. Students will experience the fundamental elements and principles of 3-Dimensional art and design through the study of glass. Students will also explore glass in relation to other media, both within the context of historical and contemporary glass practice and from a broader art/craft/design viewpoint. Assignments are designed to support meaningful experiences for students new to hot glass as well as those with some previous experience.

GLSS 210 – Malleable Methods: Approaches to Hot Glass and Research
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

GLSS 210 is a studio-based course designed to provide students an in-depth introduction to hot glass techniques and processes. Students in this course will be challenged to make connections between their ideas and approaches to the material through a variety of methods. Approaches to idea generation and idea development will be integrated into each project assigned. Key working strategies exploring the fundamentals of solidworking and glass blowing will be introduced through discussions, demonstrations, and projects. Students will be encouraged to innovate with the skills and knowledge gained in class using hot glass processes and coldworking techniques by re-interpreting and applying what they have learned to assigned thematic investigations.

Antirequisite: students cannot receive credit for both GLSS 210 and GLSS 201.

Note: Students intending to major in Glass are strongly encouraged to take GLSS 212 in the same term as GLSS 210.

GLSS 212 - Introduction to Contemporary Glass Practice: Kiln Glass
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

GLSS 212 is a studio-based course designed to provide students a comprehensive introduction to kiln-forming and coldworking processes. Students in this course will be challenged to make connections between their ideas and approaches to the material through a series of topical explorations and investigations. Approaches to idea generation and idea development will be integrated into each project assigned. Key working strategies using kilnforming, casting, and moldmaking techniques will be introduced through discussions, demonstrations, and projects. Students will be encouraged to innovate with the skills and knowledge gained in class using kiln-forming processes and coldworking techniques by re-interpreting and applying what they have learned to assigned thematic investigations.

Antirequisite: students cannot receive credit for both GLSS 320 and GLSS 201.

Note: Students intending to major in Glass are strongly encouraged to take GLSS 210 in the same term as GLSS 212.
GLSS 222 - Alternative Processes
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is designed to be a responsive workshop where ideas, topics and interests of students in the class can be approached utilizing glass in experimental and non-traditional ways. Collaborative problem solving is encouraged, and mixed media and conceptual approaches are supported. This course is based in the hot glass studio and during the course day, all glass working studios are available to students. The content of this course will vary depending on the participants and the instructor teaching the course, therefore the objectives, approaches and assessment criteria will be set out at the beginning of the course through collective discussion and individual learning agreements.

Note: This course is highly recommended for all Glass Majors.

GLSS 310 – Paths and Possibilities: Dialogues and working strategies with Glass
3 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 210 or GLSS 222

In this studio-based course with a focus on hot glass, students will complete assignments that will help them transition to independent work. Students will begin to develop research skills geared toward concept development and synthesis. Projects will challenge students to develop their own working strategies relative to ideas, materials, processes, and presentation. Students will focus on solidifying the relationship between their concepts and studio work through experimentation, discussion and writing. Self-reliance and individual responsibility for safety in the glass studio will be emphasized.

Antirequisite: students cannot receive credit for both GLSS 310 and GLSS 301

Note: Students intending to major in Glass are strongly encouraged to take GLSS 310 in the same term as GLSS 312.

GLSS 312 - Sculptural Concerns (Intermediate)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 212, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Corequisite: GLSS 310 for Glass Majors only. This course deals with sculptural concerns specific to glass through a variety of processes including fusing, casting, fabrication, light, installation, etc. Specific aspects of process research will be determined by each student to support the development of their concepts.

GLSS 313 - Individual Practices in Alternative Processes
3 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 210 or GLSS 222.

Studio course content is derived from the individual student’s interests in art, craft and/or design. In consultation with the instructor, students will use glass in experimental and non-traditional ways to pursue their own creative inquiry. Students will develop topic-based objectives and execute conceptual-based approaches to expand their knowledge of the craft. Students will also explore and define research methodologies and strategies toward studio practice through ongoing instructor mentorship. Problem-solving with other classmates is encouraged. Media specific and mixed-media results are supported in dialogue with the instructor. While this course is based in a hot glass studio, all glass-working facilities are available to students.

GLSS 320 – Independent Directions: Individual Approaches to Research & Glass Practice
3 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 310.

GLSS 320 is a studio-based course in which students will develop the skills to plan and execute an independent body of work. They will engage in independent research as a means of developing concepts, making informed material choices, and situating their work within the field of contemporary glass. The role of collaboration in maintaining a safe and productive studio environment will be emphasized. Students will express, defend, and provide reasons for their decisions in critiques, while also developing their ability to provide constructive criticism to their peers.

Antirequisite: Students cannot receive credit for both GLSS 320 and GLSS 302.
GLSS 390/490 - Directed Studio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student’s proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.

GLSS 401 - Advanced Glass Studio I
9 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 302, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is a studio course in which the student will work toward the development of a practice and strategies to support the practice which can be continued after graduation. Each student will prepare a proposal for the term’s activity in consultation with the faculty. While most instructor contact will be individual tutorials, group discussion is scheduled, and faculty loading will accommodate diverse technical support.

Note: GLSS 401 is a two-day course.

GLSS 410 – Advanced Glass Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 320 or GLSS 322, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Advanced Glass Studio provides the opportunity for a senior glass student to demonstrate their original thinking, synthesizing sophisticated understanding of processes, and knowledge of materials to create to works. Working from a professional-level creative proposal, the student engages in intentional exploration that is informed by relevant discourses. Through regular discussions, in-class critiques, and reflective practice, the student builds capacity as a creative. Advanced Glass Studio culminates with the student presenting their proposal-based original works to a panel critique.

GLSS 412 - Research Seminar
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 410, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Glass Research Seminar is an intense blend of student-initiated research and studio practice. This senior level course deepens students’ understanding of the dynamics involved in a sustainable creative glass professional practice. Through research informed activities, the student develops a comprehensive research plan that demonstrates their understanding of key concepts, principles, and frameworks. Working closely with others within the seminar structure, students work reiteratively between research and the work they have produced resulting in a completed project dossier.

GLSS 451 - Senior Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: GLSS 410, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

GLSS 451 challenges students to define their own studio practice and creative research using Glass. The development of each individual’s studio explorations in this course will be facilitated through discussion and guidance from faculty and supported through access to Glass program facilities and resources. Students will be expected to create a body of work that demonstrates the relevant research, technical skill, artistic facility, and subject knowledge that they have gained from their studies to date.

Jewellery and Metals

JWLM 101 - Jewellery and Metals
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This course is an introduction to contemporary practice and skills in jewellery and small metals. Jewellery students will explore elements of 3-Dimensional design in the context of contemporary jewellery-making and metal-forming. Students will experience a workshop environment including demonstrations, lectures, examples and assignments followed by group and individual critiques. Technical information includes metal surface treatments, separating materials, joining, riveting, soldering, basic finishing, sheet metal forming and bezel setting. Written statements, notetaking, drawings and the maintenance of a sketchbook are required.

Note: Formerly JWLM 115. Students may not receive credit for both courses.
JWLM 205 - Jewellery Skills Concentration
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an in-depth introduction to core small-scale metalworking and jewellery skills. This intensive course is intended for students who plan on being a Jewellery and Metals Major at the 300-level. An understanding of process in metalworking and of the material characteristics is developed. Design skills, planning, objective drawing, sawing, riveting, soldering, filing, finishing and basic forging are learned using assigned projects. Participation in group critiques and maintenance of a notebook is required. A portfolio is added to the course.

Antirequisite: Students who have completed JWLM 210 may not receive credit for this course.

JWLM 216 – Object Design for Metals
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalents, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course provides students with skills in Computer Aided Design (CAD) and 3-D modeling software that supports processes in jewellery making and metalsmithing. This allows students exploration in a virtual space to facilitate in different modes of designing and fabrication that can assist working in a metal focused discipline. This course will utilize newer technologies, like 3-D printing and laser cutting, to create rapid prototypes and models in conjunction with basic skills in metals. At the conclusion of this course students should have a foundation level skill in both 3-D modeling and metals processes.

JWLM 220 - Metalsmithing Skills II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: JWLM 205, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course develops metalsmithing skills such as sinking, large-scale fitting and soldering, hollow construction, raising and form development.

JWLM 222 - Media Skills
3 Credits

Prerequisite: JWLM 205, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course enriches the working vocabulary of the Jewellery and Metals major. Techniques such as etching, filigree and reticulation are addressed.

JWLM 310 - Studio (Gemsetting)
3 Credits

Prerequisite: One of JWLM 205 or JWLM 210, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Within the context of demonstrations, sample making and the use of finished settings, the course introduces a wide range of settings for various applications including bezels, gypsy, tube, channel, star and basic bead setting. The hand skills learned are applicable to a wide range of solutions in working with small metals. The student will develop a body of work in the context of assignments designed to increase technical vocabulary. Several assigned projects enlarge the students’ application of skills to their artistic and design vision.

JWLM 311 - Production Techniques
3 Credits

Prerequisite: JWLM 205, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course explores various techniques of making multiples. These include centrifugal casting, roller die processing, mold making and the use of press and blanking systems and the use and discussion of industrial production techniques for unique objects and multiples. An introduction to time and motion considerations is made. Also addressed are economics, costing options and alternative methods of casting.
JWLM 320 - Studio Techniques II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: JWLM 205, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course, a continuation of JWLM 310, is a further exploration of jewellery and metal techniques which may include enameling, stone cutting and photo etching. The development of research skills and content in the work is emphasized.

JWLM 321 - Mechanical Devices
3 Credits
Prerequisite: JWLM 205, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course teaches techniques and processes of making mechanical and technical components for jewellery. Hinges, catches, findings and toolmaking are addressed.

JWLM 390/490 - Directed Studio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student's proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.

JWLM 410 - Advanced Studio I
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite 6 credits of 300-level JWLM courses
In conjunction with faculty, students will develop an individualized program combining techniques, skills, and critical conceptual work. Investigation and research of advanced metal working processes, aesthetic and theoretical issues will be emphasized. The student will undertake a scheme of research and writing in support of studio experimentation and investigations culminating in a panel critique.

JWLM 411 - Concept and Material
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: None
A variety of non-traditional materials are explored in the context of jewellery and metalsmithing forms. An appreciation of current international experiments is developed. Conceptual problems form a major part of the assigned projects.

JWLM 420 - Advanced Studio II
Prerequisite: JWLM 410
This course focuses on the development of an independent and cohesive body of work. Through a high degree of self-direction, students develop a greater understanding of their own studio work, culminating in a panel critique. This course fosters material exploration, conceptual rigor and engagement with contemporary professional practice.

JWLM 451 - Advanced Studio Seminar
Prerequisite: JWLM 410
This studio-based research seminar will address topics specific to the contemporary practice of Jewellery and Metals. Students will combine the development of a cohesive body of work with a research practice that engages critical discourse and professional development. In preparation for future artistic endeavors students will refine their skills in documentation and dissemination as appropriate to their work. The written and verbal articulation of ideas will reflect and augment the student’s studio practice.
JWLM 390/490 – Directed Studio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student’s proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.

Media Arts

MADT 101 – Exploring Media Culture
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This is an introductory course in which students will explore the role of media and digital technologies in contemporary culture and their implications for art making. Students will be exposed to basic fundamental digital skills useful for their university art experience, as well as being introduced to the media art applications of video, audio, motion graphics, and rudimentary electronics through short workshop modules.

MADT 201 - Digital Interventions
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course provides an introduction to the digital genres of media art including programming, web-based or internet art, and patch-based programming, through the lens of “digital intervention.” Students will be exposed to software, practices, techniques, and artists proficient in this area of expression, and will explore the ways in which digital technologies can be re-thought, re-purposed, hacked, and manipulated to create artistic interventions and new forms of public art experience. The class will stress the importance of broad interdisciplinary experience and encourage production through collaboration.

MADT 202 - Practices in Video and Audio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to tools, practices and processes in video and audio production through hands-on use of professional digital video equipment and software. Students will gain familiarity with the creative and technical aspects of research and storyboarding, pre-production planning, lighting and shooting motion, recording audio and basic non-linear video editing within the context of art, draft and design studio practices.

MADT 204 - Interactive Objects– Sensors and Interfaces
3 Credits

Prerequisite Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is designed for students with little or no previous experience with electronics. Starting with fundamental concepts the course enables students to design and build simple control circuits with useful applications for a wide range of artistic projects. Students will utilize some pre-existing solutions or tools while also developing new forms and processes of interactivity. Students will learn how to control a wide range of devices using sensors and triggers. Throughout the term students are encouraged to apply the principles they have learned to the needs of their personal practice.

Note: Completion of MADT 201 is recommended, though not required.

MADT 301 - Studio I – Personal Practice in Media Arts
3 Credits

Prerequisite: 9 credits of 200-level studio courses, 3 credits of which are from MADT.

This is an intermediate studio course in which students focus on establishing their personal practice and portfolio in media arts including the development of their artistic voice and point of view, a conscious and defined relationship to/with their audience(s), an appreciation of the role and process of practice- led research in providing depth and context for artistic expression, and an understanding of the roles of these factors in defining a body of independently driven artistic inquiry rather than assignment-based production. Critical components of this course are studio-visits and the final panel critique in which a panel of adjudicators evaluates the student’s progress and performance.
MADT 303 – Sound and Video in Studio Practice
3 Credits

Prerequisite: MADT 201, MADT 202 and MADT 204, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

MADT 303 focuses on the development of a studio practice that integrates the techniques, technologies, theories, methods, histories and contemporary practices of Video art and Sound Art. Building upon the fundamentals taught in MADT 202, students can engage in wide range of creative video and sound practices from technical, aesthetic, and conceptual perspectives and may supplement their knowledge with a variety of in-class demos, workshops, and independent research. Students will utilize a range of digital technologies in the competent production, post-production and presentation of their works. Students are encouraged to work collaboratively when appropriate.

MADT 304 - Interactive Objects II – Art and Interactivity
3 Credits

Prerequisite: MADT 204, plus an additional 6 credits of 200-level studio courses or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the exploration and development of new forms and systems of interactivity and their implementation in a wide range of artistic projects. This faculty supported studio further develops the skills and fundamentals of MADT.204 through student-driven investigations in circuits, sensors, and the development of interactive objects. Students will build upon their skill sets with workshops including advanced Arduino programming, interfacing with audio and video systems, data-responsive objects, advanced sensing circuits, and kinetics.

MADT 307 - Computational Arts
3 Credits

Prerequisite: MADT 201, plus 6 additional credits of 200-level studio courses or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the development of media artworks that employ programming, scripting, and algorithmic structures. Students will investigate two programming languages, one code-based and one visually oriented. Students will use these tools to develop sound, video, performance and interactive art projects. Additionally, lectures will examine aesthetic and conceptual issues related to the use of technology in art practice. Students will work independently and collaboratively to further their knowledge of code-based art practices.

MADT 310 - Sound and Video in Studio Practice
3 Credits

Prerequisite: MADT 202, plus 6 additional credits of 200-level studio courses or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the development of a studio practice that integrates the techniques, technologies, theories, methods, histories and contemporary practices of Video art and Sound Art. Building upon the fundamentals taught in MADT.202, students can engage in wide range of creative video and sound practices from technical, aesthetic, and conceptual perspectives and may supplement their knowledge with a variety of in-class demos, workshops, and independent research. Students will utilize a range of digital technologies in the competent production, post-production and presentation of their works. Students are encouraged to work collaboratively when appropriate.

MADT 311 - Studio Seminar-Concept and Theory in Practice
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of second year of declared intended major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an intermediate seminar emphasizing research, critical thought, and synthesis of philosophy, criticism, and contemporary social, cultural, art, and media theory as the cornerstones of a nuanced and affective media arts practice. Emphasis will be placed on the development of critical and conceptual skills and the acquisition of an in-depth knowledge of historical and contemporary art and media practice through instructor led readings and discussions. The class will stress the importance of broad interdisciplinary knowledge and experience, the value of collaboration and the development of areas of particular specialization and interest.
MADT 315 - Audio and Video for Performance and Installation
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Prerequisite: MADT 201, MADT 202 or ANIM 200.

This course introduces students to tools and strategies for integrating audio, video and interactivity into performance and installation works. Students will develop works centered on performance and installation through instructor-led workshops in such topics as: projection mapping, spatial audio, immersive environments, interactive interfaces, live cinema, audio performance and experimental narrative. Presentations of artists' work will introduce students to the histories and possibilities of interactive performance and installation. Throughout the term students are expected to apply the principles they have learned to the specificities of their individual artistic practices.

MADT 400 - Media Project
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of MADT 3rd year, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will result in the production of a major graduating project. Students will under the supervision of a MADT Instructor designated as a Media Project advisor. This course is designed to provide space and time for students to develop a major work extending and implementing the information acquired in their elective and major course clusters. The project can be independently or collaboratively produced using AUArts or external resources. Over the course of an academic year students will develop and realize a media-based project. They will acquire the theoretical, material and technical skills required to bring the project to completion.

Note: MADT majors only.

MADT 401 - Studio II - Advanced Practice Media Arts
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: MADT 301 and 6 additional 300 level MADT credits, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is an advanced studio course in which students establish their artistic, conceptual, and technical style and point of view at a professional level. Students undertake major research and media work extending and implementing tools, theory and information acquired in their previous and current courses. Working both independently as a cohort, students will produce shows, lead critiques, and run both presentations and critical discussions exploring, evaluating, and extrapolating off of their work and that of contemporary practitioners. This course will provide the foundation of the student’s professional working portfolio in anticipation of graduation. Critical components of this course are studio-visits and the final panel critique in which a panel of adjudicators evaluates the student’s progress and performance.

MADT 411 - Studio Seminar – Theoretical Discourses in Practice
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: MADT 401 or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This senior seminar focuses on achieving the competencies and confidence required for professional art practice. Building on the research, ideation, communication, and presentation skills developed in the student’s first three years, MADT 411 refines the student’s abilities to synthesize, discuss, document, debate, and lead conversations pertinent to their art practice and conceptual orientations both through their art and in formal dialogue.

MADT 412 - Digital Studio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: MADT 401 and MADT 411, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

A studio-based course in which students specialize in an area of particular interest at an advanced, professional level. Students undertake major research and media work extending and implementing tools, theory and information acquired in their previous courses. Over the course of a term students will develop and realize media-based projects. Completed work will be accompanied by a major graduating research paper in an area relevant to the content and form of the work. Students will research and develop the theory and technology to produce digital and media works and they will present their results regularly to the class through seminars and lectures. The class will stress the importance of broad interdisciplinary experience and encourage production through collaboration. Students will engage with the theory and practice of the contemporary digital cultures through workshops and additional instructor specified assignments.
MADT 451 - Advanced Studio in Media Arts
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: MADT 401, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course challenges students to experiment and define their own senior studio practice integrating advanced theory and creative production in Media Arts with the ideas and practices explored throughout their BFA studies. The course is focused on individual studio exploration guided and facilitated by faculty resources and workshops.

Natural Sciences

NASC 221 - Introduction to Ceramics Processes (Technology)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the technical and practical aspects of ceramics through lectures, research and laboratory testing.

Note: Formerly CRMC 221 – students may not receive credit for both courses.

NASC 315 - Introductory Gemology
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies plus a minimum of 6 credits of any 200-level courses or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the principles of gemology necessary to evaluate, identify and differentiate gem species. The course has a theoretical and practical component. Low level technology is utilized.

Note: Formerly JWLM 315 – students may not receive credit for both courses.

Object Design & Fabrication

OBDF 110 - 3D Object Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This is a cross-program studio course which explores the creation of objects and contemporary contexts in which technology; craft, design and art are forming innovative, hybrid practices. Students will learn about the creation of objects through the study of 3D fundamental elements including form, function, materiality, use, value, and social relevance. Through investigation of digital and material 3D object creation in relation to discipline specific practices, students will explore how the integration of technology and these disciplines can support the creation of innovative new objects and inform existing studio practices. This will involve student investigation of contemporary technological processes such as rapid prototyping, computer-controlled laser and milling machines, digital modeling and rendering. Students will develop the ability to communicate concepts to industrial manufacturing professionals. The course will facilitate cross-discipline collaboration as well as involve community-based projects in which students will engage with the concepts and demands prevalent in contemporary professional scenarios.

OBDF 210 - CAD and Digital Fabrication
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the use of industry standard CAD (Computer Aided Design) software and Digital Fabrication tools (such as 3D printers and computer numeric controlled machines) for the planning, visualization, and production of 3D objects across a breadth of mediums and practices. Weekly exercises and assignments are designed to develop students’ technical proficiency in CAD and 3D modeling software. Students will produce projects through hands-on use of rapid prototyping technologies in combination with studio processes within art, craft and design studio areas. Milestone projects will traverse a range of intermediate-level conceptual and technological topics relevant to practices and discourses in art, craft, design and technology.
OBDF 310 - Algorithmic and Parametric Object Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: OBDF 210.

Building on skills, knowledge and competencies developed in OBDF 210, this course introduces students to advanced tools for parameter-driven assemblies and algorithm-driven 2D and 3D models in CAD software, and how such tools might be integrated into studio practices across art, craft and design. In addition, this course continues the exploration of digital fabrications tools (such as 3D printers and computer numeric controlled machines) for the planning, visualization, and production of complex 3D objects. Weekly exercises and assignments are designed to develop students’ technical proficiency in Algorithmic and Parametric CAD and 3D modeling software. Students will produce projects through hands-on use of rapid prototyping technologies in combination with processes from other program areas. Milestone projects will traverse a range of advanced conceptual and technological topics relevant to practices and discourses in art, craft, design and technology.

Photography

PHTG 101 - Photography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This course introduces the fundamental principles and techniques of contemporary photography and emphasizes creative approaches to digital image making. Students will investigate the principles of photographic processes and methods and learn to effectively apply their ideas through practical experience. Technical information regarding cameras, photographic equipment, image processing and digital printing will be addressed. A variety of topics will be introduced through a series of lecture-demonstrations, including exposure, cameras and lenses, digital imaging and output.

Note: Students will be responsible for the cost of printing. A digital camera is recommended but a film camera may be used. Students will be responsible for cost of film and off campus film processing. All cameras must have the capability for user selection of independent manual aperture and shutter speed settings.

Note: Formerly PHTG 115. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

PHTG 217 - Lighting 1
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

In this workshop-style class, students will learn the basic principles and techniques of photographic lighting using constant source (LED) lighting, modifiers, and other photographic equipment in a studio environment. Through demonstrations, in-class lighting exercises, and visual assignments, you will learn to control light and shadow to represent three dimensional forms photographically and to communicate mood, tone, and meaning.

PHTG 227 – Lighting 2
3 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 217, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to studio strobe lighting and builds on the skills and theory of lighting introduced in PHTG 217 (Lighting 1). Through demonstrations, in-class lighting exercises, and visual assignments, students will learn to work safely and proficiently with strobe lights both in the studio and on location. More complex lighting scenarios, including the use of strobe lights on location in conjunction with available light, will be introduced. Assignments require that students plan and diagram lighting strategies for particular visual outcomes, control colour balance in lighting, and use lighting techniques effectively to communicate both creative and professional photographic content.

PHTG 228 – Photographic Technology
3 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 218, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

A photographic technology course that builds the student’s skills through studies of the theory and physics of photographic cameras, lights and lenses, including digital capture and output hardware devices and their supporting software, cameras, lenses, sensors and arrays, photographic lighting hardware, equipment maintenance, computer operating systems and software applications, data projectors, digital scanners and printers, screen calibration, printing profiling and professional software.
PHTG 229 - Digital Photography: Camera and Workflow
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course provides student with essential skills in DSLR/Mirrorless camera use, digital workflow and file management, and digital printing/output. Techniques in image capture, raw processing, and image organization are practiced through visual assignments that combine technical skills with compositional skills, analytical skills, and contextual knowledge of photographic history, culture, and practice. This course is designed as a foundational course for students who are interested in an in-depth introduction to digital photographic workflow.

PHTG 230 – Digital Photography: Post Production Techniques
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to fundamental techniques of photographic post-production using Adobe Photoshop. Through demonstrations, visual assignments, and discussion, students will gain experience with digital image editing. The techniques learned are applied to creative and industry-oriented assignments, and students are encouraged throughout the term to consider the ways in which digital image manipulation affects the processes of creating and understanding photographic images, both in personal and professional contexts.

PHTG 231 – Design for the Photographic Image
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces photography students to basic principles of design and how they are applied in both student and professional photographic practice. Students will analyze photography’s role in the context of photo-based communication design applications, create photography that utilizes principles of design to support communication, and examine how photographers collaborate with graphic designers within a communication design context.

Note: Registration priority will be given to Photography Majors. Students who have successfully completed VSCM 212 may not receive credit for this course.

PHTG 316 - Photographic Practice I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 200-level Photography Major Courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Introduction to professional camera systems and professional photography practices in the studio and on location including electronic lighting, lighting styles and tabletop sets, camera movements for perspective and control, quality of light, studio lighting techniques for figure including Hands, 3/4 , full length and group compositions product photography, backgrounds – choice and lighting, quality of light and shadow, introduction to photographic illustration – design and composition, lighting for figure, corporate portraiture and beauty while engaging the student in the exploration of professional photographic practices.

PHTG 317 - Digital Imaging II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 229, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

A studio-based course photographic centric that advances the students' knowledge of raster digital imaging theories, processes and techniques including archival digital printing and data archiving. Formats and file types – 8 and 16 bit, including the RAW format digitization, re-sampling, resolution, color space, compression, importing, exporting, translating and archiving editing the digital image, realistic composting, retouching, effects and photography for digital composting.

This course requires students to produce original analog and/or digital photographs that are required for assignments and projects in this course.

PHTG 318 - Specialization in Photography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 200-level Photography Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Through seminar, investigation and research this course prepares the student to make informed decisions regarding their choice of photographic specialization in their senior year.
PHTG 326 - Photographic Practice II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: PHTG 316 and PHTG 318, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Corequisite: PHTG 328

Studies in professional photographic practice based on the student’s research and submission identifying potential area photographic specialization support services – service bureaus, professional labs, repair services studio design – layout, office, processing, storage professional workflow – contact to deliver effective composition – designing for an idea, concept, campaign vs. shooting to a comprehensive same subject in multiple themes for use in print and web media corporate portraiture editorial illustration – illustrating the narrative photo essay – the photographer as narrator. A requirement of this course is the execution and presentation of a shot list commensurate with the student’s area / areas of investigation that will form the basis for the course work portfolio each student submits in this course and as described in the instructor’s course guidelines.

PHTG 327 - Photography in Advertising and Communications
3 Credits

Prerequisite: All required 200-level Photography Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

A course that explores photographic practices in advertising and communications through research, lecture, discussion and analysis of process including demonstration of concept of design, visual literacy and communications processes, visual communications terminology, ideas and concepts – designing the visual solution, open mindedness and client identity fulfillment, keeping it fresh – style vs. substance the target audience – cultural research in image design, context and positioning, simplicity of design and the problems of complex messages, the power of illustration. A requirement of this course is the execution and presentation of two (2) written and illustrated papers from a selection of topics available from the course instructor.

PHTG 328 - Digital Imaging III
3 Credits

Prerequisite: PHTG 317, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Corequisite: PHTG 326.

A digital photography processes course that advances the student’s development of a professional digital photographic workflow with specific emphasis on each student’s specialization studies and introduces the student to fundamentals of print and electronic publishing process and design, including digital processing productivity – tools, batch processing, working efficiently, profiling digital print media for archival quality printing, digital file archiving and management, illustrative digital photographic compositing, desktop publishing – introduction to Adobe InDesign Electronic publishing – introduction to Adobe Acrobat, custom in-house digital printing solutions for the professional photographer.

PHTG 330 - Introduction to Web Design
3 Credits

Prerequisite: PHTG 230, 231, and 232, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces photographers to design concepts and methods in web design and interactive media environments, with an emphasis on the integration of photography and design.

Antirequisite: Students who have successfully completed VSCM 318 may not receive credit for this course.

Note: Registration priority will be given to Photography Majors.

PHTG 416 - Senior Studio I
4.5 Credits

Prerequisite: All fall term 400 level photography Major courses or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This studio-based research course encourages exploration of a range of considered strategies that will be used to develop personal, self-directed projects. Students will work toward a coherent body of professional-quality photographic images that demonstrates the historical and contemporary knowledge of photography, technical skill, conceptual interests, and personal style that they have gained from their studies to date. Work created in this course prepares students for portfolio preparation in winter term.
PHTG 418 - Photographic Illustration I
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 316, PHTG 317, PHTG 318, PHTG 326, and PHTG 327

In this studio-based course students will develop a body of professional-quality photographic works with an emphasis on illustration through digital image construction, manipulation, retouching, and collage techniques. Work produced in this course will demonstrate the level of the student’s historical and contemporary knowledge of photography, ability to effectively communicate in an appropriate manner as defined by individual assignments, their objectives, and intended audience.

PHTG 426 - Photographic Portfolio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 416 and 418 or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor

Students will develop a cohesive, unified, in-depth body of professional-quality photographic work that demonstrates competency and technical skill, knowledge of photography history and theory, conceptual strength, and personal style.

PHTG 427 - Commercial Photography
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PHTG 416 and 418 or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor

Students work on a series of in-depth projects to advance their understanding of commercial photography practice and theory. Working from a brief and a drawing to illustrate an idea, their work is informed by research, cooperative learning opportunities and critical thinking. Students are asked to identify their own clients, real or imagined, and to choose them based upon brand messaging. Branding, media literacy and advertising ethics will be consistent, ongoing topics of discussion.

PHTG 428 - Photographic Illustration II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required first term PHTG 400 courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students will further explore how digital image construction, manipulation, retouching and collage techniques can be used to create powerful and memorable conceptual photographic images that effectively communicate an idea. Emphasis will be placed on campaign projects and producing professional quality photographic illustrations as defined by project briefs, objectives and audience.

Painting

PNTG 101 - Painting
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.

This course introduces students to a range of materials, processes, and concepts in contemporary painting. Materials are assigned by the instructor and may include any or all of the following: acrylic, oil, collage, and mixed media. Reading, one research project, and group critiques will be a part of this class. Contemporary and historical imagery is examined and discussed.

PNTG 223 - Methodologies and Methods
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or permission of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introduction to a variety of methodologies (general research strategies guided by theoretic frameworks) and method (approaches and processes) applicable to present-day art practices. Projects with an emphasis on primary research will provide students with the opportunity to select and use different methodologies and methods and to understand their appropriateness. The course is designed to help students understand research practices and frameworks, reflect critically on their own art, and cultivate self-motivation.
PNTG 224 – Critical Theories
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introductory examination of critical theories of concern to contemporary (within the past 15 years) art practices with an emphasis on secondary research. Close readings of theoretical texts and of visual art will highlight intersecting categories of contemporary art, philosophy, and culture. Students will consider and respond to critical theories in creating their own works.

PNTG 225 - The Public Sphere
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introductory examination of modes of creating and critical analysis of present-day visual art practices in the public sphere with an emphasis on primary research. Through both individual and collaborative creative projects, students will engage with issues central to these practices, such as relational aesthetics, urban intervention, institutional critique, post-studio creation, and interdisciplinary. Art works will be understood to identify and address differing audiences for varied purposes.

PNTG 226 – Global Perspectives
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An introduction to a wide range of significant international painting in the context of contemporary (within the past 15 years) art practices with an emphasis on secondary research. Projects will engage a range of cultural perspectives and approaches. Reflexive reasoning skills (those that attend to the context of knowledge construction and to the effect of the researcher) will be emphasized in critiques and in ongoing creative projects.

PNTG 300 – Painting Studio I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of PNTG 223 or PNTG 225 and one of PNTG 224 or PNTG 226, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the Painting faculty and/or the instructor.

An introduction to self-directed investigations of painting within a contemporary art practice. This course emphasizes development through broad experimentation and critical reflection.

Note: It is recommended that this course be taken concurrently with PNTG 301.

PNTG 301 – Painting Studio II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of PNTG 223 or PNTG 225 and one of PNTG 224 or PNTG 226, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the Painting faculty and/or the instructor.

An introduction to self-directed investigations of painting within a contemporary art practice. In this course, students contextualize their work within relevant discourses and forms of international contemporary art.

Note: It is recommended that this course be taken concurrently with PNTG 300.

PNTG 302 - Painting Studio III
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of PNTG 223 or PNTG 225 and one of PNTG 224 or PNTG 226, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the Painting faculty and/or the instructor.

An individualized investigation of painting within a contemporary art practice. In this course, students consolidate their ideas into a focused direction, and critically reflect upon their studio practice and its context. Students articulate their insights in a variety of ways throughout the term, including an end-of-term panel review.

Note: It is recommended that students take PNTG 300 and PNTG 301 before taking this course.
PNTG 316 - Media Extension
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 200-level Painting course, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Media extension is an exploration and elaboration of student research into visual materials and communication devices. Open-ended non-traditional concepts are explored along with methods of achieving contemporary visual imagery in both old and new materials.

PNTG 390/490 - Directed Studio
3 Credits

Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student’s proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.

PNTG 400 - Painting Senior Studio I

Prerequisite: PNTG 302

An advanced studio course centered upon student-selected research interests in the context of contemporary art. Emphasis will be placed on critical reflection, working strategies, and the creation of artworks. An end of term panel review will take place.

PNTG 401 - Painting Senior Studio II
4.5 credits

Prerequisite PNTG 400. It is recommended that Painting majors take this course concurrently with PNTG 402.

A senior level studio-based course emphasizing focused, in-depth research with respect to self-selected projects that culminate with a body of work.

PNTG 402 - Painting Senior Studio III
4.5 credits

Prerequisite: PNTG 400. It is recommended that Painting majors take this course concurrently with PNTG 401.

A senior level studio-based course emphasizing the presentation and reception of student-selected practices and projects.

Professional Practice

PPRL 200 - Professional Practices for Artists
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Two of HUMN 110, HUMN 124, AHIS 110/AHIS 101, AHIS 120/AHIS 100, ENGL 100 and CCST 100; or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

A survey of professional issues and responsibilities artists face in their practice.

Note: Formerly ACAD 200. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

PPRL 201 - Professional Practices for Designers
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Two of HUMN 110, HUMN 124, AHIS 110/AHIS 101, AHIS 120/AHIS 100, ENGL 100 and CCST 100; or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course offers an overview of the kinds of professionally related issues and responsibilities contemporary designers face in their practices, and an introduction to basic business processes relevant to the professional practice of design. Upon completion of this course students will have achieved practical, critical and conceptual outcomes. Specific topics considered in the course will include the examination and analysis at a fundamental level of business plans, project management, and intellectual property issues. This examination and analysis will be framed within the context of the social and ethical role of the designer. This course will provide students with fundamental knowledge and skills to support their development as professionals.
PPRL 202 - Fundamentals for the Art and Design Professional
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This lecture-based course introduces students to the basics of professional practice, such as personal finance, tax preparation, investments, basic personal accounting, and introductions to basic market economics, professional ethics, copyright and intellectual property, business, entrepreneurship, and professional studio practice. It will encourage students to develop skills in public presentation and personal marketing.

PPRL 303 - Business
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This lecture-based course introduces students to business fundamentals relevant to the professional artist and designer, with particular emphasis on marketing, professional ethics, presentational skills, issues of legal compliance, and the building, marketing and presenting of a business plan.

PPRL 304 - Entrepreneurship
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This lecture-based course introduces students to entrepreneurial fundamentals relevant to the professional artist and designer, with a particular emphasis on copyright, intellectual property, start-ups, scaling, marketing, presentation skills, interviewing, and ethical leadership and management.

PPRL 305 - Studio Professional Practice
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS Courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS).

This lecture-based course introduces students to business fundamentals relevant to the studio professional, such as understanding contracts and grant applications, working with commercial galleries, co-ops, and artist associations; preparing c.v., composing an artist statement, and documenting work, as well as marketing oneself, presenting in public, interviewing, and maintaining an ethical professional practice.

PPRL 319 - Ethics, Standards and Practices in Photography
3 Credits

Prerequisite: AHIS 210 or equivalent, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course investigates the social impact of photography in advertising and photojournalism. It presents ethical questions raised by these images and the processes by which they are created. Examples of case studies will range from how specific images and advertising campaigns have contributed to shaping public opinion by creating a “perceived” reality, the phenomenon of the Paparazzi, the impact of digital technology, and the rights, releases and policies of national park photography. Designed to support AUArts studio-based professional education in design/photography, this course provides a context and reference for the student's own practice. This course emphasizes professional ethics and will utilize a combination of lecture, classroom discussion, presentations, reports, and research papers.

Note: Formerly PHTG 319. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

PPRL 325 - Fundamentals of Advertising and Marketing
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL course or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

An investigation and application of creative problem solving for advertising copywriting through marketing driven strategic planning as affected by contemporary social/cultural context.

Note: formerly VSCM 325. Students may not receive credit for both courses.
PPRL 419 - Business Practices in Photography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required PHTG 300 level courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor. This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of business and marketing practices in order to develop a successful photographic business. The course will consist of a series of lectures, workshops and guest speakers.

Note: Formerly PHTG 419. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

Print Media

PRNT 101 – Print through Drawing
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.
This course will emphasize graphic imagery and drawing systems. Concepts will be integrated with technique using the printmaking processes of mono print, incised images of dry-point, engraving, etching, linocut, and calligraphy in order to explore the formal art elements of pictorial arrangement: line/linear composition, value; shapes and patterns, texture, weight and balance, volume with the illusion of depth.

PRNT 104 - Pixels and Print
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.
This course introduces students to the techniques and creative possibilities of alternative photographic print processes and explores the relationship between digital imagery and hand-drawn imagery. Students will explore a selection of techniques as a vehicle for creative exploration, such as photo manipulation, the use of digital transparencies, and the techniques and creative possibilities of photographic print processes. Students will be expected to discuss their work in a critical context and to work cleanly and safely within a shared environment. This course will allow first year students to learn about photography within a printmaking and experimental context. The course will consist of technical demonstrations, lectures, and critiques.

PRNT 210 - Introduction to Intaglio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Students will be introduced to basic processes involved in intaglio printmaking, including dry point, etching, basic colour methods and manipulating metal plates as a means of creative self-expression of ideas, and will acquire an awareness of the history of Intaglio printmaking as well as an understanding of printing and editioning intaglio images.

PRNT 211 - Introduction to Lithography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course provides a solid foundation in lithographic principles, history, techniques, and print lab procedures, with an introduction to the development of personal imagery in the medium.

PRNT 212 - Introduction to Silkscreen
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course will introduce the student to the fundamentals of silk-screening and will develop them through the use of personal imagery.
PRNT 215 - Image and Text Through Print
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of different relief process which are applied to creating art works based on concept-led inquiry. Students will consider text in relationship to imagery as well as explore how text is used as imagery. Students will learn how to apply a range of relief techniques, develop their own imagery, discuss it in a critical context, and learn to work cleanly and safely in a shared environment. Students will also be given an introduction to contemporary and historical artists who work with relief processes as well as artists who use text in their work. The course will consist of technical demonstrations, lectures, critiques, and critical discussion.

PRNT 304 - Print through Drawing I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: any 200-level print class and any 200-level studio course.

This course provides the opportunity for students to integrate both print media and drawing to produce images. Combining traditional printmaking methods such as intaglio and relief printing with drawing, students will utilize both approaches for image-making, material exploration and expression of ideas.

Students will explore print media combined with drawing in relationship to artist’s books, installation, three-dimensional prints, multiples and other aspects of contemporary print media with the expectation of enhancing increased awareness of image development and personal imagery appropriate to the print and drawing media used in class.

PRNT 310 - Intermediate Intaglio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 210 and any 200-level studio course.

This course continues instruction in intaglio techniques and studio disciplines. Students will work with multiple-plate colour printing, photo etching, and be encouraged to explore multi-media and experimental printmaking.

PRNT 311 - Intermediate Lithography
3 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 211 and any 200-level studio course.

This course provides thorough technical instruction in color lithography and special techniques not included in the introductory lithography course. Emphasis is placed upon the development of personal imagery and conceptual growth.

PRNT 312 - Intermediate Silkscreen
3 Credits
Prerequisite PRNT 212 and any 200-level studio course.

This course provides students who have fulfilled the introductory requirements, the opportunity to specialize in silkscreen processes at a more advanced level. Students will be encouraged to develop an independent course of action for their particular aesthetic and technical concerns.

PRNT 314 - Print Media: Studio/Research
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of PRNT 210 or PRNT 211, and one of PRNT 212 or PRNT 215, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course emphasizes research in a studio-based context and will focus on the aesthetic, social, and political contexts which has informed fine art printmaking. Course material will cover history and a range of topics in printmaking with an emphasis on contemporary issues, conceptual concerns, and technological innovation. Students will explore their self-directed research through discussions, studio work, presentations, and critique. Along with creating artwork and participating in course activities, students will also give a presentation based on their research, write an artist statement, and participate in a panel critique at the end of the term.
PRNT 390/490 - Directed Studio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: By consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will allow students to work on an individual basis with one selected instructor. Each student will be responsible for initiating a program of study and with consultation define the direction, media, time limits and form of the final presentation. Each student’s proposal will be approved in the form of a contract between the student and the instructor, with evaluation taking place at the end of each contract period.

PRNT 404 - Print through Drawing II
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: Any one of PRNT 304, PRNT 310, PRNT 311 or PRNT 312, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students who wish to continue to specialize in advanced levels of creating printed images through drawing processes may choose this advanced level print media course in which the opportunity is provided for conceptual development of personal imagery and increasing independence with self-initiated exploration. Students will be expected to display increased independence and greater exploration of both print and drawing media and materials. In consultation with the instructor, students will propose a body of work to be researched and completed over the term.

PRNT 406 - Senior Print Studio: Research
Prerequisite: PRNT 314

This is a senior-level print media studio course that supports students in developing a research foundation on a topic of their choosing. Students will be expected to conduct a broad exploration that includes studio-based approaches and external research sources. The course will culminate with an end of term panel critique.

PRNT 407 - Senior Print Studio: Presentation
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 406

A studio-based course in which students will create a capstone body of work, ready for professional presentation in a targeted exhibition environment. Students will synthesize senior level independent research, and demonstrate cohesiveness of conceptual development, process, materials and presentation.

PRNT 410 - Advanced Intaglio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 310 or PRNT 320, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students who have completed intermediate intaglio courses and wish to continue to specialize in intaglio may choose this advanced course, in which an opportunity is provided for conceptual growth, the development of personal imagery, self-initiated exploration and improvement of technical skills at increasingly advanced levels.

PRNT 411 - Advanced Lithography
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 311 or PRNT 321, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students who have completed intermediate lithography courses and wish to continue to specialize in lithography may choose this advanced course, in which an opportunity is provided for conceptual growth, the development of personal imagery, self-initiated exploration and improvement of technical skills at increasingly advanced levels.

PRNT 412 - Advanced Silkscreen
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 312 or PRNT 322, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Students who have completed intermediate silk-screen courses and wish to continue to specialize in silkscreen may choose this advanced course, in which an opportunity is provided for conceptual growth, the development of personal imagery, self-initiated exploration and improvement of technical skills at increasingly advanced levels.
PRNT 451 - Senior Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: PRNT 406.
A studio-based course in which students create a body of work that demonstrates the synthesis of their research and studio work. Students will be expected to create a body of work that demonstrates cohesiveness in terms of conceptual development and finish in terms of process, materials and presentation.

Sculpture

SCLP 101 - Sculpture
3 Credits
Prerequisite: None.
The fundamental elements, principles and processes of three-dimensional art will be introduced through a combination of directed studio projects and independent study. Students will experience a variety of sculptural approaches such as additive, reductive, constructive and reproductive processes, as well as the study of space as it applies to the discipline of sculpture. Media used in this course may include clay, plaster, wood, metal, found objects/materials, space and electronic media. The exploration of these processes and media will be the means for students to discover their own individual approach to assignments and the general emphasis of the course will be toward concept development.

SCLP 210 - Modeling & Replication
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies.
This course introduces students to concepts and processes related to replication, reproduction, multiples and simulation. Study includes modeling techniques, an introduction to traditional mold-making techniques including plaster and flexible molds, and explorations into non-traditional media and forming processes. Students will experience a variety of assigned projects including clay modeling, bronze casting, and open-media assignments. Students learn how their choice of material and process affect the physical, conceptual and psychological aspects of their work.

SCLP 211 - Introductory Sculpture (Materials and Processes)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies.
In this course, students will be introduced to a variety of sculptural materials and processes and will explore their applications through a series of assigned projects. Students will study connections between materiality and content, and process as subject. The course expands traditional notions of sculpture and fabrication, and challenges students to explore their own personal vision and discover resolutions while they build an artistic practice in contemporary sculpture. Technical information will be addressed as required and may include metalworking, woodworking, fasteners and fabrication techniques.

SCLP 213 - Strategies
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies.
A studio-based introductory course with emphasis on developing reasons, strategies, methods and approaches for making sculptural artworks. Although artists work in many different ways to develop and refine the ideas they wish to carry out, there are recurring methodologies that assist in this process. This class will explore how experimentation, play, serial production, problem solving, and the utilization of diverse media such as drawing, photography, video, 3D modeling etc. can contribute to building a practice in the visual arts.

SCLP 214 - Concepts and Parameters
3 Credits
Prerequisite: 24 credits of First Year Studies or equivalent.
This research-led studio course examines critical methodologies that use procedural, linguistic, or conceptual parameters. This course promotes the use of systematized processes and self-imposed limitations within a studio practice that are crucial to the production of art, provoking generative and transgressive thought. Seriality, language, games, (post) conceptual art, chance and improvisation will be explored.
SCLP 215 - Body as Meaning
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of 24 credits from First Year Studies or equivalent, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Understanding sculpture both in the conventional and "expanded" sense, in this course students will experience radical reconception of how the artist's body itself can be employed as both a physical agent and source of content in the production of contemporary sculpture. Enacting physically embodied approaches to art production serves to explore and make visible the fundamental reciprocities and embedded relationships between our physical self and surrounding environments. Physical scale, wearable objects, interactivity, body casting, and figurative sculpture will be examined.

SCLP 310 - Intermediate Sculpture
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of SCLP 210 or SCLP 211, and one of SCLP 213 or SCLP 214, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
A studio-based course designed to develop technical, conceptual and critical skills relating to contemporary sculpture and/or related disciplines. In consultation with the instructor, the student will investigate sculptural ideas of personal interest.

SCLP 315 - The Social Body
3 Credits
Prerequisite: 6 credits at 200-level studio.
In this conceptually driven course students will explore site specificity, interventions, "happenings", and the "immaterial" or temporal sculptural forms produced via relational aesthetics. Art here acts as a vehicle to examine and make visible our sociological, political, ecological and economic constructs by facilitating "events" and social relations. In challenging the aesthetic paradigm of modernism and disrupting the private space of the artist these methods position the artist as catalyst and participant rather than lone creator and reconsiders what art might be for both artist and viewer. Identity politics, aesthetic theory, abjection, social space, and the politics of aesthetics will be examined.

SCLP 316 - Performance and Installation
3 Credits
Prerequisite: 6 credits at 200-level studio.
This course is an extensive study of the practices of performance and installation, with emphasis on conceptual and logistical concerns. Students will explore performance and installation in site specific, political and social contexts, as well as the relationship to interdisciplinary practice. The course will involve technical workshops, presentations and group discussions.

SCLP 320 - Intermediate Sculpture
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of SCLP 210 or SCLP 211, and one of SCLP 213 or SCLP 214, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This studio-based course is designed to further develop technical, conceptual, and critical skills relating to contemporary sculpture and/or related disciplines. In consultation with the instructor, the student will continue to examine and refine the ideas, which inform their individual practice. Sculpture majors will be required to participate in a panel critique at the conclusion of this course.

SCLP 321 - Intermediate Sculpture Studio Seminar
3 Credits
Prerequisite: One of SCLP 210 or SCLP 211, and one of SCLP 213 or SCLP 214, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This combined studio-seminar course will examine issues relating to sculpture and/or related disciplines, through discussion, research, assigned readings and presentations. In addition, students will be expected to pursue a self- initiated studio practice for purposes of presentation and critique.
SCLP 410 - Advanced Sculpture
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: SCLP 320.
A studio-based course emphasizing personal exploration of media and concepts. Through self-initiated projects, students are expected to develop an increasing independence and professionalism.

SCLP 411 - Advanced Sculpture Studio Seminar
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: SCLP 410 or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This combined studio/seminar course will address issues of concern to contemporary sculptors through a series of discussions, presentations, and assigned reading/research.

SCLP 451 - Senior Studio
4.5 Credits
Prerequisite: SCLP 410 or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This studio-based course will provide students with a studio focus within their major in their graduating term. Students will be expected to create a body of work that demonstrates the level of their relevant, contemporary knowledge, skill and artistic abilities that they have gained from their studies to date.

Social Science

SOSC 200 - Introduction to Visual Theory
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This lecture-based course introduces students to the frameworks of analysis that can be applied to visual culture. Students will develop their ability to situate, analyze, and contextualize responses to visual media from a variety of theoretical stances relevant to both art and design practice.
Note: Formerly CMST 200. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

SOSC 201 - Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
Students will be introduced to fundamentals of cultural anthropology through lectures, readings, films and other materials. Examples will be drawn from a wide variety of anthropological studies, with examples ranging from traditional warfare in New Guinea to “Big Hair” in North America.
Note: Formerly CLST 201. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

SOSC 202 - Introduction to Indigenous Studies
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100-level SCCS courses (ENGL, HUMN, CCST, AHIS), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This lecture-based course introduces students to the field of Indigenous Studies, including its application to the regional context of Treaty Seven territory. Students will learn Indigenous ways of knowing through multiple lenses, including art, music, activism, ecology, history, identity.
SOSC 203 – Media Analysis and Criticism
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any two 100 level courses from the School of Critical and Creative Studies

This course will provide an introduction to the methods and practice of media analysis. With a particular focus on photography, film, and digital media, students will develop their ability to situate, analyze, and contextualize media works and practices from a variety of technical and theoretical perspectives. Themes, methods and methodologies covered in this course may include: social histories of media; broadcast media; the Frankfurt School; the Information Age; Algorithmic Culture; semiotic analysis; discourse and content analysis; mise-en-scène and narrative analyses; psychoanalysis; feminist analysis; contemporary media theory; and critical making.

SOSC 301 - Material Culture
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL or 200-level SOSC, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This lecture/seminar course introduces students to the analysis of material culture. The social processes and techniques involved in the creation of objects will be studied in a cross-cultural and interdisciplinary framework, together with the interrelationship between objects and their socio-cultural contexts. Students will learn to analyze the socio-cultural place of the object through a variety of critical and disciplinary perspectives as they are applied to a broad range of examples and case studies according to selected themes.

Note: Formerly CLST 301. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

SOSC 302 - Activism in Art and Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL or 200-level SOSC, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This lecture/seminar course invites students to consider the potential for art and design to encourage socio-political engagement and change through discussion and the examination of case studies. The political role of art and design will be considered across a broad range of topics and mediums in relation to selected themes, which may include but are not limited to environmentalism, political protest, Indigeneity, class mobilization, and globalization.

SOSC 303 - Art Science and the Environment
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL or 200-level SOSC, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This lecture/seminar course considers the many points of intersection between art, science, and human environments through the exploration of selected contexts and themes. Students will be introduced to a broad range of issues and case studies that invite analysis of way in which art, science, and built or natural environments impact upon one another from a variety of critical perspectives such as ecocriticism, phenomenology, animal studies, post-colonialism, and class critique.

SOSC 380 - Design Thinking
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Any 200-level ENGL or 200-level SOSC, plus completion of First Year Studies, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This lecture/seminar course introduces students to the application of various theoretical models in the design of innovative solutions to challenging problems. Students will learn to apply a variety of theoretical frameworks in the consideration of a broad range of design case studies, addressing such concepts as the presumed user, the politics of design, sustainability, and information science.
Visual Communication Design – Advertising

VSCA 211 - Concepts I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into VCD, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will focus on concept creation as a form of visual communication. Professional visualization skills will be stressed in the development of concepts, including formative process for problem solving and comprehensive exploration that reveals original and relevant solutions. Focused on daily exercises and homework assignments, this course will leverage the imagination and creative process using drawing as a primary tool for turning complex problems, into simple provocative creative ideas.

Note: Priority will be given to Visual Communications Design Majors. Concepts I and II are highly recommended for students planning to take Advertising VSCA 319. This course is open to Fine Art Majors.

VSCA 221 - Concepts II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all Fall 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, VSCA 211 and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is the second part of the two-term Concept Course. This course will expand on what a good idea is: how to take a product and give it a unique concept, and how to take that concept and creatively execute it as ad layouts, TV concepts and online executions. On successful completion of this course the student will have developed a conceptual process and be able to apply them to advertising assignments.

Note: Priority will be given to Visual Communications Design Majors. Concepts I and II are highly recommended for students planning to take Advertising VSCA 319.

VSCA 319 - Advertising I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, VSCA 221 and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on developing the student’s ability to create on-target creative that effectively addresses a specified audience and creative objectives. The students will create strong, creative advertising concepts in a variety of media ranging from print to on-line. The role and business of advertising in relationship to the marketing system will be investigated.

VSCA 323 - Advertising II-Introduction to Campaigns
3 Credits
Prerequisite: VSCA 319, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This studio course is designed for advertising students with an emphasis on time-based advertising. Instead of single ads, students will be expected to produce multi-media advertising campaigns. The ubiquity of the video camera and the global stage of YouTube and PDAs have made the facility with the moving image a priority for the advertising creative. Students will examine the basic principles of storytelling and idea generation as it relates to television and on-line media. Students will create advertising strategies and concepts, as well as introduced to writing scripts, storyboards in order to produce strong, creative time-based advertising.
VSCA 331 - Time-Based Advertising
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, VSCA 221, VSCM 225 and VSCT 226, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Time-Based Advertising emphasizes storytelling and narrative strategies. Although the critical and technical skills essential to the production of live action short digital films will be included in this course, students will focus on the process and principles of creating original and persuasive stories. At the same time, students must critically reflect upon their own work, the work of their peers and contemporary industry output. Case studies will be used to examine examples of the utilization of time-based media to address advertising and design communication problems. Students will be expected to be proactive in exploring contemporary developments and bringing back their observations and critical analysis to class for discussion. Subjects will include television commercials, on-line media and other media currently used in the context of modern global advertising. In addition to producing their own advertising during the course, students will develop their awareness of issues such as:

- the creative and production process, writing, and directing a short film,
- the utilization of digital film as a communication tool within a strategic context,
- the nature and role of the audience,
- The impact of changing distribution methods upon the role of digital film in advertising.

Emphasis will be placed upon the development of the ability of students to generate creative, critically informed, targeted digital time-based content. Students will be expected to work collaboratively with other students both in the production and critical evaluation of their digital film output.

VSCA 412 - Advanced Advertising I / Memorable Campaigns
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will develop integrated campaigns for advertising media including print, television, on-line and outdoor. The student will develop creative strategies that will be the catalyst and basis for execution of memorable advertising campaigns. The student will develop creative objectives and strategies and explore the process of developing ideas for multiple mediums. Students will develop an understanding of ‘audience insights’ and explore emotion/humour narratives in their conceptualization and development of memorable campaigns.

VSCA 422 - Advanced Advertising II / Moving Pictures (TV and Rich Media)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 300-level VCD Major Studio requirements in a relevant Stream, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an expansion of instruction in advertising campaign development, to encompass concepts for television and online video media. Students further develop their storytelling abilities in time-based media.

VSCA 423 - Advanced Advertising III / Out of the Box (Non-traditional Media)
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is a further expansion of instruction in advertising campaign development and will incorporate non-traditional / ‘guerilla viral’ approaches into self-directed advertising campaigns. Students will create provocative advertising strategies and solutions encompassing non-traditional media.

Visual Communication Design – Graphic Design

VSCD 221 - Typography II: Fundamentals of Text-Based Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all Fall term 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, VSCM 225 and VSCM 211, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to text-based design. The student will be introduced to the formal and functional properties of typography as applied to layout design. An understanding of the factors of format, hierarchy, legibility, clarity and type as carrier of meaning will be developed. This course will also present an historical overview of typography in the 20th and 21st centuries including the exploration and critique of the anatomy, character and usage relating to contemporary advertising and design.

Note: Priority will be given to Visual Communications Design Majors.
VSCD 321 - Time-Based Design I Graphics for Designers and Art Directors
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level Major Studio requirements in a relevant Stream, VSCM 225 and VSCT 226, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Motion Graphics for Designers and Art Directors emphasizes storytelling, narrative strategies and conceptual thinking. Although the critical and digital skills essential to the production of motion graphics will be included in this course, students will focus on the process and principles of creating original and conceptually strong motion design.

Within the framework of outcomes described below, students will be expected to develop their own distinctive creative approach to solving design problems using time-based media. At the same time, students must critically reflect upon their own work, the work of their peers and contemporary industry output. Case studies will be used to examine examples of time-based media used to address a wide range of design communication problems in film, broadcast and on-line such as; film titles, broadcast graphics and on-line advertising. Students will be encouraged to experiment with motion graphics while expanding their vision to include such non-traditional media as the interactive menus of cell phones and digital billboards. The course will build on the design process and further develop a sound understanding of the principles of motion graphics. Students will be expected to be proactive in exploring contemporary developments and bringing back their observations and critical analysis to class for discussion. In addition to producing their own motion project solutions during the course, students will develop their awareness of issues such as:

- Developing a design brief
- The utilization of motion graphics as a communication tool within a strategic context
- The nature and role of the audience and competitive context
- The impact of changing media upon advertising and graphic design

Emphasis will be placed upon the development of the student’s ability to generate creative, critically informed, targeted digital time-based content. Students will be expected to work collaboratively with other students both in the production and critical evaluation of their motion graphics solutions.

VSCD 323 - Typography III Advanced Typography
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements in a relevant Stream and VSCD 221, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

Although this course will emphasis concept, it will further explore the use of typography in sequence-based text-content and information. Students further develop their understanding of the interrelationship of text, image, content, audience in context and function considering factors of format, visual hierarchy, pacing, legibility, typographic systems, colour media and materials. These subjects will explore thought a variety of practical projects ranging from niche magazine design, annual reports, museum and promo brochures, and book series. Students will also creating on-line components for some of these projects.

VSCD 328 - Typography IV Expressive Typography
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of VSCD 323, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will further develop the student’s understanding of the expressive qualities of typography. The student will explore the relationship between language, text and typography. An emphasis will be placed on the experimental and conceptual aspects of typography. Along with conventional print materials, the student will also have explored the possibilities of utilizing materials other than paper in the production of print pieces.

VSCD 329 - Brand Design I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements in a relevant Stream and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is intended for both advertising and graphic design students. Students will examine the basic principles of product and corporate identities, basic corporate structure and the process designers use to create brand identity programs. Students will explore both operational models and brand models, as well as create, develop and execute a range of visual identities. These visual identities will be applied to multiple applications in media and non-media context, with a consistent voice and culture. On completion of this course students will demonstrate an essential understanding of brand design principles and to have applied these to a series of effective brand identity solutions.
VSCD 410 - Advanced Information Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course focuses on creating integrated information campaigns. Students will conduct in-depth self-directed research and apply their findings to an information design project. Students will further develop their ability to translate a complex body of information into an effective form for a specified audience and purpose.

VSCD 411 - Advanced Graphic Design I / Product Identity
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course investigates product identity programs. Students will examine products, how products are developed and how product identities are developed. Students will address consumer needs and relationship of branding to product development. Students will create, develop and execute various elements associated with product identity programs.

VSCD 420 - Advanced Graphic Design II / Editorial Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
In this course, students collaborate to identify a specific community and create a new magazine which targets that audience. Students will develop an editorial point of view and develop appropriate content and form for the magazine.

VSCD 421 - Advanced Graphic Design III / Branding
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course examines the broader application and context of visual identity programs for franchises. Students will create and develop effective branding strategies and execute design solutions articulated to objectives. These projects are self-directed.

Visual Communication Design – Character Design

VSCH 416 - Advanced Character Design I: Animation / Media
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This is an advanced course for the development of character design with the supporting application of time-based solutions. Through self-initiated projects, students will learn to communicate the personalities, emotions and behavior of their characters through visual, written and animated motion studies. Students will develop strategies to control the visual language to create a memorable impact on their audience.

Note: This course is intended for the VCD Character Design stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCH 417 - Figure Illustration IV: Portfolio
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This advanced figure illustration course is intended for portfolio development. Course work is focused on broad-based figure illustration problems. Self-directed assignments can be harmonized with other 4th year courses to form more comprehensive graduating portfolio projects.
VSCH 427 - Advanced Character Design I: Children’s Book
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This is an advanced course for character development and design as it pertains to children’s narrative illustration. Students are encouraged to create original content. Projects may utilize both traditional and new media. All projects are intended to build the student’s graduating portfolio.
Note: This course is intended for the VCD Character Design stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCH 428 - Advanced Character Design II: 3D Worlds
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This is an advanced course for the development of three-dimensional environments that encompass a variety of cultures, genres, and time periods. Students author their own narratives and develop environments that incorporate figure, architecture, atmospheres, and landscapes. Professionals from the industry are active participants in the course, providing projects and feedback for students throughout the process. Assignments can become harmonized with other courses to form more comprehensive graduating portfolio projects.
Note: This course is intended for the VCD Character Design stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCH 429 - Advanced Character Design III: Gaming
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This is an advanced course focused on character design for gaming, multi-media and motion graphics. Students utilize a professional process to develop a character design portfolio. Professionals from the gaming industry are active participants in the course, providing projects and feedback for students throughout the process.

Visual Communication Design – Illustration

VSCI 317 - Storytelling and Environments I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course explores contemporary and historic context and processes that relate to the creation of a broad range of environment illustrations. This course focuses on the principles of illustrating, landscape, architecture, artifacts, lighting and atmospheric effects, with an emphasis on observational drawing/painting, and prepares the students for content development in VSCI 327. This course is a rigorous study of the various aspects of image making processes and is intended for the Illustration / Animation profile students.

VSCI 327 - Storytelling / Environments II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of VSCI 317, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.
This course builds on the illustrative and conceptual skills developed in VSCI 317 – Storytelling and Environments I. VSCI 327 will examine and use narrative genres as the basis for the creation, design and structure of two and three-dimensional environments. This course is conducted in collaboration with Critical and Creative Studies and is intended for the Illustration / Animation profile students.
VSCI 329 - Information Illustration I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course explores information illustration, its development and historical background. Through a series of projects students will develop their understanding of the principles of information illustration and design in relationship to audience and communication. A variety of methods of organizing information will be explored. Students will conduct applied research, create and edit content and produce effective and targeted illustrative solutions. Traditional and contemporary illustration practices will be explored.

VSCI 414 - Advanced Narrative Illustration I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is course is an intensive study of figure illustration based on narrative content as it applies to gaming, advertising, and publishing. All projects are intended to build the students graduating portfolio.

Note: This course is a common course for the VCD Illustration and Character Design stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCI 415 - Advanced Illustration I: Corporate / Cultural
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is an intensive study of advanced illustration, stressing conceptual approaches to visual problem solving in corporate and cultural contexts. Students are encouraged to select content for each assignment that will build their portfolios and help them develop their own illustrative voice. Students are expected to explore and develop their own methods of utilizing appropriate digital and traditional mediums.

Note: This course is intended for the VCD Illustration Stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCI 424 - Advanced Illustration II: Information
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is an intensive study of advanced illustration problems dealing with complex and involved subject matters. Students further develop their ability to research subject matter in order to create more in-depth content into their illustration projects. Students will further develop their ability to produce effective visual solutions for information illustration. All projects are intended to build the student’s graduating portfolio.

Note: This course is intended for the VCD Illustration Stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCI 425 - Advanced Illustration III: Advertising
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This advanced course is an intensive study of illustration as it pertains to advertising, publishing and product. Students will further develop their ability to translate a set of objectives into an effective illustrative form for a specified audience and purpose. All projects are intended to build the student’s graduating portfolio.

Note: This course is intended for the VCD Illustration Stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.

VSCI 426 - Advanced Illustration IV: Classic Books
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This is an advanced illustration course relating to book publishing and retail applications. Students research prominent authors, develop strategies and create appropriate and compelling promotional materials using illustration for their literary subject.

Note: This course is intended for the VCD Illustration Stream students but is open to all fourth year VCD students.
Visual Communication Design

VSCM 101 - Design Fundamentals
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

This course will identify and investigate the formal and expressive qualities of the basic visual elements of design. Students will develop the ability to manipulate basic elements of design using visual techniques and principles of organization. Students will be introduced to the relationship between form and content in visual communications. Note: Coordinated with the School of Communication Design this course is of special interest and relevance to students planning to apply to the Visual Communications Design or Photography majors but is open to all First Year Studies students.

VSCM 102 - Design Colour Fundamentals
3 Credits

Prerequisite: None.

As part of design fundamental studies, this course will identify and investigate the fundamentals of colour theory and basic applications. This course will provide students with a hands-on opportunity to analyze and produce colour charts, as well as the opportunity to apply this knowledge to assigned design problems.

Note: Coordinated with the School of Communication Design this course is of special interest and relevance to students planning to apply to the Visual Communications Design or Photography majors but is open to all First Year Studies students.

VSCM 211 - Typography I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to letter form. Students will be introduced to letter styles and type families and be presented with an historical overview and evolution of letter form design. Students will study and explore the structure and expressive qualities of letter forms. Layout and composition using letter forms as elements of design will be investigated.

VSCM 212 - Communication Design I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course introduces students to the idea of symbols and their meanings. Students build on the ability to manipulate visual content to create derivative form. Issues of hierarchy, audience, context and research are investigated and applied.

VSCM 213 - Anatomy for Illustrators
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an analytical study of human anatomy as it applies to illustration. The student will demonstrate the interaction and relationships of human structure (muscle, bone and external features). The student will explore the figure in motion, comparative anatomy and proportion through a series of illustration projects. Issues of hierarchy, layout and composition will be addressed.

VSCM 220 - Illustration Fundamentals I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This introductory illustration course deals with basic illustration process and development. Students are introduced to various media in the context of basic illustration problems. Projects are designed to direct the student to conceptualize and enhance visual perception.
VSCM 221 - Communication Design II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of VSCM 212 and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor. This course is an introduction to visual literacy and communication design. Students will explore the graphic image and elements of design and their meaning and relationship to the two-dimensional format. Principles of spatial forces, organization and the relationship of text to image are explored. Issues of hierarchy, audience, context and research are investigated and applied.

VSCM 223 - Figure Illustration I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course continues the investigation of the human figure as applied to illustration. Issues such as the figure in the environment and the figure and narrative are investigated. Projects are designed to enable the student to conceptualize and solve figurative scenarios with reference to historical and contemporary contexts.

VSCM 224 - Media Exploration for Illustrators I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into the VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This introductory media exploration course deals with the fundamental aspects of image making in the context of illustration. Students will explore the potential of a wide range of media and application techniques. This course is an extension of the Design Drawing, Design Colour Fundamentals and second year illustration courses.

VSCM 225 - Design Technology I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of First Year Studies or equivalent and acceptance into VCD Major, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

In this class students will learn to operate a Macintosh computer system. Adobe Illustrator, Quark Express and Adobe Photoshop programs will be applied. Students will learn to properly develop and assemble digital files.

VSCM 314 - Figure Illustration II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements and VSCM 223, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This intermediate level course investigates figure illustration in the context of storyboarding and narrative for film, print and video applications. Character design and development, environments and narrative concepts will be explored through a series of assignments.

VSCM 318 - Digital Experience Design
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an introduction to digital product design and development. Students develop a basic understanding of how user-centered research, application of design principles, and an iterative approach can lead to digital products that meet user needs and enhance the digital experience.

VSCM 322 - Illustration II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course focuses on the study of intermediate level illustration problems and emphasizes conceptual approaches to image making. Students further develop their understanding of concept, metaphor, abstraction, symbolism and narrative in the context of illustration. Students will develop innovative visual solutions that are appropriate in tone, style, content and to audience.
VSCM 324 - Figure Illustration III
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of VSCM 314, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This intermediate figure illustration course further develops their abilities in concept art to create characters and environments. Film and publishing genres are explored in relation to illustration. Students will utilize existing and/or original content as the basis for concept art.

VSCM 329 - Information Design I
3 Credits
Prerequisite: Completion of all 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements in a relevant Stream and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course explores information design, its development and historical background. Students will develop their understanding of the principles of information organization and design in relationship to audience and communication goals through a series of projects. A variety of methods of organizing information will be explored. Students will conduct research, create and edit content and produce effective and targeted communications solutions.

VSCM 413 - Public Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course provides an opportunity for students to experience working for real clients. Students are paired with non-profit organizations that provide students with hands-on experience in working on real-world design problems. The student experience includes collaboration, time management, client management, project management and business issues.

(Grade Mode for this course is pass/fail. This grade is not included in the calculation of grade point average.)

VSCM 416 – Words at Work in Communication Design
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This advanced studio course uses design thinking to develop students' abilities in working with texts and images. It draws on a range of professional writing forms selected to align with individual students' interests and utilizes various techniques and approaches to combining texts and images. Professional writing forms considered in the course may include screenwriting, websites, advertising copywriting, brochures, and editorials. Students will practice research, composition, and editing across a variety of genres of writing and visual forms to facilitate communication skills.

VSCM 431 - Digital Production
3 Credits
Prerequisite: All required 300 level VCD Major courses, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor. This specialized course is an intensive study leading the student to a professional understanding of digital print and web production processes.

Note: Formerly VSCM 422. Students may not receive credit for both courses.

VSCM 432 - Rich Media II
3 Credits
Prerequisite: ANIM 300 or VSCT 326 (not offered in the current academic year), or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course is an advanced level animation and animated motion graphics course and is a continuation of Rich Media I. Students will further develop their skills in animation, narrative, audio and editing.

Note: This course is open to non VSCM students. Registration priority will be given to Visual Communications Design Majors.
Visual Communication Design – Digital Film

VSCT 226 - Motion Graphics I
3 Credits

Prerequisite: Completion of all Fall term 200-level VCD Major Studio requirements and VSCM 225, or consent of the Chair in consultation with the instructor.

This course will introduce the student to the principles and practice of animated motion graphics. This course will provide a thorough foundation in time-based graphic design, which underlines the new and expanding realm of digital motion graphics. Students will develop their skills in time-based narrative strategies that will include graphics, text and live action components. Soundtrack design along with basic video and audio editing will also be covered.

Being fully immersed in digital moving image production, the student will draw upon his/her existing knowledge of graphic design and illustration to adapt their ideas and graphics to motion in order to create exciting, imaginative, and compelling short time based narratives. Students will have the option of images being created inside or outside the digital realm with all project post-production taking place using digital software.

VSCT 326 - Motion Graphics II
3 Credits

Prerequisite: VSCT 226 or consent of the head in consultation with the instructor as appropriate.

This course will allow the student to study at an intermediate level the wide range of experimental animation techniques as applied to the concepts of motion graphics, in the pursuit of creating a unique artistic vision. There will be more emphasis on production planning, and more involved applications of sound design and animation production software. A more in-depth study of the medium of motion graphics and experimental animation will be presented and explored through lectures, screenings, hands-on assignments, and individual and group critiques. Students will have the option of images being created inside or outside of the digital realm with all post-production taking place using digital software.
Graduate Course Listing

CRSM 621 - Craft Discourse I
3 Credits
This graduate seminar examines contemporary craft discourse as a cross-disciplinary practice based in materiality. Course will engage the students in the theoretical and practical complexities defined by a craft practice. Students will situate their own practice within a global context. Discussions, presentations, readings and critiques will form the basis for topical content.

CRPR 660 - Craft Discourse II: Professional Direction
3 Credits
This seminar fosters an understanding of the contribution of MFA in Craft Media graduates to the cultural capital of their community. It provides a forum to address the anticipated needs of an academic and/or professional career in craft. This seminar explores pedagogical models and methodologies relevant to craft media as well as entrepreneurial skills related to the establishment of successful professional practice.

CRRM 640 - Research Methods
3 Credits
Research Methods is designed to support the students in developing their MFA research project and assist them in defining their mode of enquiry. It will provide an introduction to graduate research, its methodologies, its challenges and its organization. While practice-led research will underpin this course, a variety of methods will be considered including Qualitative, Quantitative and Mixed Research Methods. Integration of research methods into individual practice and issues surrounding the dissemination of those outcomes into the current critical dialogue are discussed.

CRAH 630 - Historical Craft Discourse
3 Credits
This course identifies the state of the literature and the interdisciplinary nature of craft studies through the critical evaluation of a broad variety of historic and contemporary writings that underpin Global and Canadian craft discourse and practice. Student led discussions and critiques of these writings will lead to archival and oral history research as they begin to create an historic context for Canadian craft, Craft pioneers in Canada, and their own practice.

CRSM 623 - Emerging Craft Discourse
3 Credits
An investigation of the contemporary context and theory of craft in relation to specific student-driven research and inquiry. Bearing in mind that the field is undergoing continual reassessment and repositioning, students will explore the boundaries of craft knowledge from a variety of theoretical perspectives.

CRST 611 - Graduate Studio I
6 Credits
Graduate Studio I initiates a process of studio-led inquiry that forms the basis for the student’s Thesis Project. This course provides the opportunity for experimentation and exploration of the critical application of knowledge in their practice. Working with an Interim Supervisor the student will also produce the first iteration of their Research Plan*

*The Research Plan is a living document that will evolve throughout the student’s program.

CRST 612 - Graduate Studio II
6 Credits
In Graduate Studio II, the student will refine a body of creative work that synthesizes studio activity with ongoing research. This course encourages critical reflection and refinement of the student’s goals for studio-led inquiry.

Students will use Graduate Studio II to develop and define their Thesis Project articulating a research position and its corollary methodologies in a finalized Research Plan* in preparation for the Mid-Program Review. Students will also participate in a work-in-progress exhibition with their cohort.

*The Research Plan is a living document that will evolve throughout the student’s program.
CRST 613 - Graduate Studio III
9 Credits
Graduate Studio III facilitates intensive, self-directed studio activity as defined in the student’s Research Plan. In this course the student will produce a significant body of work that evinces sustained studio-led inquiry and critical reflection on the methodologies undertaken. The work produced will clarify and refine the student’s Research Plan* and inform the overall Thesis Project.

*The Research Plan is a living document that will evolve throughout the student’s program.

CRST 614 - Graduate Studio IV
6 Credits
In Graduate Studio IV, students will initiate an original body of work that critically engages with a defined research position while evincing effective theoretical and methodological approaches. Studio activity in this course focuses on the initiation of a discrete body of work that functions as a key site of critical thought and inquiry, in order to produce and engage with new forms of knowledge explicit in the final Thesis Project.

NOTE: Studio praxis will inform the supporting Thesis Paper written for CRSM 623 Thesis Project Seminar. The Thesis Paper is intended as a supporting document for the final Thesis Project and will be reviewed by both the seminar instructor and the Principal Supervisor. This collaborative approach necessitates shared critical encounters with the studio work for both the Principal Supervisor and instructor of CRSM 623.

CRST 615 - Graduate Studio V
12 Credits
Graduate Studio V is the final studio course and the cumulative learning experience of the program. The student will work intensively to complete and defend a Thesis Project (consisting of a Thesis Exhibition, Thesis Paper and Oral Defense) that critically engages with a defined research position while evincing effective theoretical and methodological approaches in order to produce and engage with new forms of knowledge.

ESDS 600 – Self Directed Study
3 Credits
As required by the graduate program, students propose elective study in consultation with their Principal Supervisor to support the development of the Thesis Project. Electives may be organized in several ways:

- AUArts 300-400 level course elevated to graduate-level credit (aaaa.500)
- Graduate level academic course at another institution (UNST.600/UNSM.600)
- Self-directed study with AUArts faculty member (ESDS.600)
- Professional internship (EPRI.600)
- Artist residency (ERES.600)
